

Darden Charges Talmadge Allowed Tax Evasions

Income Tax Director
Makes Public Letter of Resignation
Withheld by Governor

Allen Darden, who resigned Wednesday as director of the income, inheritance and intangible tax division of the Georgia Department of Revenue, yesterday issued a statement to the press. The statement included the text of the letter of resignation of June 2 that Talmadge has refused to make public despite repeated requests from Darden since last Monday.

The letter, charging that "friends" pay no taxes, and that political interference costs the state millions, is contained in the following statement by Darden:

Statement to the Press.

I regret there has been any publicity regarding my resignation as Director of the Income-Intangible and Inheritance tax units. It was my desire to leave the services of the state and enter private employment without any publicity whatsoever.

On last Monday afternoon I talked with my good friend, Charlie Redwine, campaign manager of Governor Talmadge, and submitted to him a bulletin addressed to the employees of my department in which I announced my resignation. Mr. Redwine read the announcement and stated it was O. K. and assured me that there would be no publicity regarding same on the part of the Governor. I accepted Mr. Redwine's statement in good faith and acted accordingly.

The day following my conversation with Mr. Redwine a number of newspapermen came to my office and showed me a statement by the Governor which betrayed the agreement I entered into with Mr. Redwine. It seems the Governor could not resist the temptation to keep his record perfect of sticking a knife in the back of all his old friends when he decides he has finished with them.

Makes Public His June 2 Letter Addressed To Governor Talmadge

The following is my letter addressed to Governor Eugene Talmadge on the date of June 2, 1942. This is the letter which Governor Talmadge has been so timid about showing. Several prominent citizens of Georgia witnessed the writing of this letter. This letter is self-explanatory and needs no comments:

Dear Governor Talmadge:

I hereby tender my resignation as director of the Income, Intangible and Inheritance Tax Units. I insist that an audit be made of these departments immediately and when audit is completed, my resignation to become effective.

I am resigning for the following reasons mainly: Your program of false economy in this department is an injustice to every honest taxpayer in Georgia as you allow crooks and tax evaders to get by. You get headlines in the newspapers about cutting salaries when your interference in this department causes the loss of millions of dollars in revenue to the state of Georgia. You insist on employing strictly political stooges for positions that require specialized and technical training who cause errors that are embarrassing to the department and costly to the individual taxpayers of Georgia involved.

By prohibiting this department from consulting the attorney general of Georgia on legal questions, we have been denied proper counsel and representation in courts and have lost cases totalling millions of dollars in revenue.

I refuse to be party to schemes which will give to selected political friends the right to pay or not to pay their just taxes as prescribed by the laws of Georgia.

Your betrayal of promises made to thousands of your past political friends is a source of embarrassment and causes friction and delays in department functions.

Charges Governor Refuses To Stay On Job, Ignores Personal Appeals

You positively refuse to stay on the job in your office as Governor of Georgia and make it practically impossible to operate this department efficiently. I know you do not average over two days per week in the office.

I have personally appealed to you, also written you numerous letters calling your attention to the above related matters, but you give me the silent treatment.

Under my direction, the departments that I head have made the most outstanding record in the history of any state functions. My records speak for themselves, but to continue any longer under above related circumstances will be impossible.

Very truly yours,

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE.

ALLEN DARDEN, Director.

Regarding check No. 50354 dated July 15, 1942, made payable to Mrs. Rita B. Edwards for salary from July 1 to July 15, 1942. This check stands on its own merits. Mrs. Edwards was and is at work at the headquarters of Talmadge in the Henry Grady hotel. Mr. Redwine admits she was working there July 13, 14 and 15. This check covers that period. I would like to ask Governor Talmadge where Mrs. Edwards was on July 3. She was not at work, but she received pay for that day.

If you will analyze Mr. Redwine's statement regarding Mrs. Edwards, you will see he does not deny that this check was issued payable to Mrs. Edwards drawn on state funds.

Six Sworn In Here For WAAC Training

Georgia's first officer candidates could be easily notified of their acceptance as officer candidates by telephone. Others from other sections of the state will be notified later and sworn in. Candidates are chosen through a process of elimination.

The WAAC will begin to fill its ranks with enlisted members as recruiting for the corps begins Monday at all Army recruiting stations in Georgia and throughout the south. The first basic training course for enlisted members will begin August 17, at Fort Des Moines with 128 women in training.

Emphasis will be centered on women with special occupational skills. Mrs. William P. Hobby, national director, said, clerks, cooks, bakers, bookkeepers, stenographers, switchboard operators and supervisors, chauffeurs, cafeteria dieticians and cashiers, hostesses, aides, receptionists, library aides, machine record operators, and motion picture projectionists are especially wanted.

Those sworn in yesterday were taken from Atlanta because they

Mystery Chute Landings Reported Near Hyde Park

Roads Blocked; Military Probe Follows Alarm

RHINEBECK, N. Y., July 16.—(AP)—Army men and state police converged tonight in an area near President Roosevelt's Hyde Park estate to investigate an unconfirmed report that six large parachutes had been seen descending in the vicinity.

Roads throughout this region were blocked off and state troops reported by Claude Swenson, superintendent of the estate of the late John Jacob Astor near here.

An alarm went out over the nine-state police telephone network, and police in the vicinity were ordered to pick up all hitchhikers and demand their identification.

At Mitchell Field, Army officers said no Army planes from that base were overdue or missing.

Hot, Sultry Weather Again Facing Atlanta

Hot and sultry weather is again in store for the Atlanta area, Glen Jefferson, regional meteorologist, said yesterday, but added that afternoon thunderstorms should give a brief respite from the heat today.

Yesterday's maximum of 96 degrees equaled the year's highest temperature, recorded Wednesday. The minimum yesterday was 72.

The weather bureau warned motorists that "blow-out" weather is here; check your tires and drive slowly and carefully."

City To Fete Heroes In Celebration Today

Atlanta today will honor America's heroes, living and dead, with a gigantic, day-long program devoted to work for the country's present effort for all-out victory.

First on the program is Atlanta's million-dollar War Bond breakfast at 9 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel. The affair, to which $2,100,750 in bond purchases already have been pledged, will be attended by more than 800 Atlantans and Georgians, John L. Conner, chairman for the affair, said yesterday.

"We will have more than $3,000,000 when we go to the table," he said. He and his staff worked until late last night receiving last-minute pledges and sending invitations to the breakfast.

Parade at 9:30. Principal speaker at the breakfast will be Colonel Arthur I. Ennis, chief of the public relations branch of the Army Air Force, of Washington, D. C. Colonel Ennis, who organized this branch of the Air Force, is rated as a command pilot and combat observer.

At 9:30 o'clock a war heroes parade will begin, forming on upper Peachtree street and proceeding through the business section to lower Whitehall street. The parade will be headed by the Girls' Victory Band which will give concerts in downtown stores following the parade.

To observe the day's festivities, the Georgia Power Company will provide free inbound transportation over trolley and bus lines between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning. This does not include shoppers' special buses, feeder buses and interurban cars, it was said, but applies to all other inbound vehicles.

Local merchants also have made elaborate preparations for a gigantic sales effort in behalf of War Bonds and stamps, under the slogan, "Our Biggest Bargain Today—War Bonds and Stamps."

This is a part of the National Retailers for Victory campaign which extends over the entire month of July.

At J. P. Allen Company, employees will arrive at work in parade formation, forming at 8:30 o'clock as a parade unit behind the Girls' Victory Band. Both in the store and on the street outside, store employees will offer for sale flower baskets containing War Savings Stamps. Boutonnieres, of the stamps, selling for $1, will be offered for sale in the store.

At Rich's, members of the sal force will test their selling ability before the store opens in a sale of bonds and stamps to store personnel. The store will be decorated with flags and bunting throughout, and will have a special booth set up for bond and stamp sales to customers.

At Davison-Paxon Company a ceremony in the form of a salute to 50 former Davison's employees now in the service will be held. At 1 o'clock a bugle call will assemble shoppers for a ceremony at which three mothers of Davison's servicemen, selected at random, will be escorted to the messanine floor by members of the Army, Navy and Marines.

They will be paid tribute there

City's Merchants Join Atlantans In Tribute to American Heroes

Atlanta merchants will pay tribute to American heroes today. They are co-operating with the United States Treasury Department in the sale of war bonds and stamps. They are offering exceptional values on all types of merchandise to attract Atlanta shoppers to their stores.

In addition, the Georgia Power Company is offering free transportation over its trolley and bus lines between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning. The offer is for inbound traffic only and does not apply to shoppers specials, feeder buses and interurban cars.

Read the advertisements in today's Constitution and plan to honor our American heroes with your purchase of war bonds and stamps.

West Virginia, Florida Solons Aided Gas Fight

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

Staff Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—While the major credit for eliminating the 2 1-2 cents a gallon increase in the price of gasoline goes to Senators George and Russell, it was revealed today that representatives of at least two other states rendered valuable aid in the fight.

The two states are West Virginia and Florida, both of which would have been beneficiaries of the Russell amendment, which sought to remove the increase in territory served by pipe lines or barge transportation of gasoline.

Senators from Florida and West Virginia joined actively in the fight led by the two Georgia senators preliminary to the announcement yesterday by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones that the government had decided to absorb the increased transportation costs the increase of 2 1-2 cents a gallon was ordered to meet.

Quiet support was also given the Georgia senators by other officials from the entire gasoline rationed area, comprising some 17 states in all. The group realized that if Senators Russell and George succeeded in knocking off the increase in Georgia, Florida and West Virginia this would be an added reason for eliminating the price boost altogether.

Secretary Jones did not announce his decision to have the government absorb the increase until it developed that Senator Russell had enough votes committed to pass his restricting amendment to the OPA appropriation bill. Elimination of Georgia, West Virginia and Florida from the price increase would have meant that the other 14 states in the rationed area would have been faced with a still higher boost. Rather than do this, Secretary Jones decided to wipe it out altogether.

Claims Discounted. Claims by Talmadge supporters that the Governor had a hand in the successful fight to get rid of the gasoline price increase, were hoisted at on all sides here today. Talmadge had no more to do with it than a goat.

As a matter of fact, the record shows that he did not inject himself into the situation until after Senator Russell had gained approval.

Nazis Push 20 Miles Into North Caucasus, Recoil at Voronezh

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

MOSCOW, Friday, July 17.—Soviet armies have now taken the initiative from the Germans on some sectors of the Voronezh front and dare stoutly resisting in the south in terrific campaigns which have cost the invaders 900,000 men and the Russians 399,000 in two months, the Soviets announced early today.

As this Russian picture of tremendous losses was issued, the German offensive in the south already was 20 miles within the extreme northern Caucasus at Millerovo, driving toward Stalingrad on an elbow of the Volga 175 miles to the east.

The Russians said that the Germans had been thrown back on the defensive at Voronezh, an important railroad city east of the Don river which the Germans have besieged for days with waves of men, tanks and planes.

"In some sectors of the Voronezh front, the initiative has passed into Soviet hands," the midnight Russian communique said. "The Germans are on the defensive."

The communique said there were no essential changes on other fronts, but acknowledged that the Red army had withdrawn to new positions southeast of Millerovo, where the Germans are pounding furiously toward the Caucasus and the Volga.

4,000 More Killed. In bloody continuation of the fighting which a special Soviet communique said had cost the Germans 900,000 men killed, wounded and captured between May 15 and July 15, the midnight communique said 4,000 "Hitlerites" have been killed in three days of fighting in the Millerovo sector.

The Red army also destroyed 35 German tanks in that fighting, it was said.

During the two months, the Russian special communique announced, the Germans lost 350,000 men killed.

The figures covered the campaigns of Kerch, Karkov, Izum, Barvenkova, the siege and fall of Sevastopol and the sweep across the Don basin to the gateway of the Caucasus.

Hitlerite Lies Derided. The Russians said the Germans have lost in two months at least 2,900 tanks compared to 940 Red army tanks; 3,000 planes against 1,354 Russian planes; 100 to 2,000 guns of all calibers against 1,905 guns of the Red army.

Speaking derisively of the "delirious lies of the Hitlerites" regarding Russian losses, the special communique said:

"If, according to the announcements of the German information bureau, all the booty and prisoners alleged to have been taken by German troops since the outbreak of the war were to be calculated, it would seem that the Red army had long since been left not only without a single tank and without a single gun but had also been left without any men."

The Russians pointed to a striking difference in the fighting in 1942 compared to the battles of 1941.

Basic Forces Drained. "This distinguishing feature," the communique said, "is the fact that the increased organization and staunchness of the Red army in battles against the enemy have compelled the Germans to bring

Rommel Attack Sets Off Major Armored Battle

CAIRO, Egypt, July 16.—(AP)—

A major battle between British and Axis armored forces on which it appeared the entire fight for Egypt might turn erupted today in the central sector of the Alamein desert front while Germans and Australians fought a ding-dong engagement for "The Hill of Jesus" on the coast.

The Germans apparently were following up an unsuccessful attempt to break into the positions won by the British Wednesday with an attack backed up by heavier armor. Detailed information was lacking on the new battle but it was indicated it was of decisive proportions.

It was possible that the Germans were now attempting a final break-through toward Alexandria and the Nile. The forces of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel have been stalled in the Alamein sector some 65 to 70 miles west of Alexandria since the British on June 30 halted their long retreat from Libya and made a stand.

Seven-Mile Penetration. (At that time Rommel's forces were exhausted and he was depending on long communications lines hastily extended. It was possible he now felt he had gathered sufficient strength and rest for an all-out attempt to smash the defenders of the strategic Nile valley.)

(Reuters said in a Cairo dispatch to London that the Wednesday drive on the center pushed the British seven miles into the Axis lines.)

On the northern sector along the coast, British and Australian troops counterattacked earlier in the day, retaking the Tel El Eisa (Hill of Jesus) ridge. Later the Axis, using some armor, recovered the position and a see-saw fight roared on into the evening.

British and Axis armies both improved their positions on the Alamein battleground in fighting which increased steadily in volume under the impetus of ever-mounting aerial attack.

Prisoners Taken. General Sir Claude Auchinleck's Imperial seized new objectives in the central sector of the cauldron, 70 to 80 miles west of Alexandria. First advancing early yesterday, they gained positions at the western end of a ridge south of El Alamein, taking an unestimated number of prisoners. An Axis counterattack yesterday afternoon was declared repulsed.

(Axis communiques said a "violent" British attack was repelled and that the British

Anti-Axis Flareup Marks Ortiz Rites

BUENOS AIRES, July 16.—(AP)—Anti-Axis Argentines demonstrated today for democracy today at the funeral of their beloved president, Roberto Ortiz, and called for a break with the Axis over unrestricted U-boat warfare.

Thousands turned out, despite rain, to cheer respectfully for the ideals of democracy at the passing of the Argentine president who had preached the policies of Pan-America, freedom and opposition to Hitlerism.

Several hundred attempted to join the procession outside Buenos Aires Cathedral and there the first clash with police was pitched.

Half-way out to the cemetery, mounted police rode into the crowd with the result that two were unhorsed and two civilians were injured badly enough to be removed in ambulances.

They shouted for Ortiz. "Viva la democracia! We loved him. They killed him!"

Ortiz died early yesterday, three weeks after having given up—because of his health, all hope of retrieving the presidency from Ramon S. Castillo, who, in his entire tenure, has espoused a "policy of prudence" which maintains relations with the Axis.

Southern Roads Seek Higher Fares

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—Southern railroads petitioned the Interstate Commerce Commission today to increase their basic passenger coach fare from 1.65 cents to 2.2 cents a mile, the rate now in effect in the rest of the country. During the last six years, the commission was told, the southern carriers incurred an average yearly operating deficit from passenger operations of approximately $22,000,000. Even with a 2.2 cent fare, they estimated, they would have had a passenger deficit exceeding $2,000,000 in 1941.

Egypt's Cotton Crop Smallest in 50 Years

CAIRO, July 16.—(AP)—Reduction of Egypt's cotton acreage by more than 50 per cent from last year was announced today by the ministry of agriculture. The area under cotton for the present crop is only 700,000 acres compared with 1,600,000 last year, and the crop will be the smallest in 50 years.

The reduction was brought about by legislation and government bonuses offered to farmers for growing cereals instead of cotton. The intention was to cut down imports, saving war shipping. There still will be no lack of cotton in Egypt since there remains in storage a considerable portion of the last two crops.

Friday, July 17th, Americans all over the land will pause to pay tribute to our heroes. We, at Davison's, are proud to salute the 55 American Heroes who have gone out from our Store Family to fight on land and sea and in the air. To salute, too, the hundreds of unsung heroes in our store who are giving unstintingly of their strength, their time, their money . . . beyond the call of duty.

At 1 P. M. Friday the bugle will sound from our mezzanine as we open a brief ceremony honoring our American Heroes. Guests will be a group of the Mothers of our boys, escorted by representatives from the Army, the Navy and the Marines. Crowd around our Street Floor to see, to hear, to pay tribute with your presence, with your hearts. Then go to the nearest salesperson and buy all the War Bonds and Stamps you possibly can to back up our American Heroes. To help them Fight. To help them Win!

Clarke County Group Formed To Back Arnall

W. L. Bradberry Named Permanent Chairman of Organization.

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION. ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—Clarke county Democrats organized tonight to support the candidacy of Ellis Arnall and adopted as their slogan "Down With the Dictator."

W. L. Bradberry, Athens realtor, was elected permanent chairman of the Arnall organization. E. D. Wier, well-known northeast Georgia businessman, was elected executive vice chairman and Frank A. Dudley, Athens manufacturer, was named secretary.

Max Michael, Athens attorney, was named treasurer. The chairman and executive vice chairman were authorized to appoint vice chairmen for the militia districts.

Shackelford Keynote. Frank C. Shackelford, attorney, who led the fight for President Roosevelt in this county in 1936, sounded the tocsin for the Arnall forces, declaring "Time has come when Georgia, in self defense, must get rid of Eugene Talmadge, man whose guiding motto is 'Control or Destroy.'"

Shackelford related a series of "Talmadge acts of despotism" including his "assault upon the University of Georgia."

Shackelford asserted that "Georgians must not allow this man to raise an issue between the races in this state, because there is no issue. He should not be permitted through his 'Hell Bent Edwards' to create disunity at a time when Hitler and his fellow-dictators are attempting to divide and conquer the democratic peoples of the world."

Students Report. Shackelford is a brother of T. J. Shackelford, recently rejected by Talmadge for the western circuit judgeship.

Chairman Bradberry has long been associated with the district leadership of Senator Russell and managed the campaign of Abit Nix in Clarke county, 1940.

A representative of the student political league reported on the activities of that organization supporting the Arnall campaign.

porting the candidacy of Arnall for governor, declaring a poll of the student body this week showed an overwhelming support of Arnall among students, representing homes in every county in the state.

"Arnall Sentiment High." Chairman Bradberry reported that "Arnall sentiment in the entire 10th district is at a remarkably high pitch. Although the campaign is only a few weeks old."

It was pointed out tonight that in 14 counties in this area the anti-Talmadge vote in 1940 was greater than the Talmadge vote, although the latter won the county unit votes because the anti-Talmadge vote was split.

Mrs. Frank Dudley, a native of Newnan, was among the speakers, telling of the "fine background of our candidate, reared in a Christian home and trained by influences which will make him a great chief executive of our state."

Other speakers included D. Weaver Bridges, Athens businessman and prominent American Legionnaire; Max Michael, Eugene A. Epting, former legislator; L. Dennis Penny, former commander of the Allen Fleming post of the American Legion; Aaron Cohen, B. R. Bloodworth, businessman.

The committee nominating the officers included E. B. Braswell, publisher, Athens Banner-Herald; D. Weaver Bridges, J. H. Cox, Eugene A. Epting.

Greater Aerial Support Given Red Land Units

German Advance Seen as of Minor 'Operative' Value.

KUTIBYSHEV, July 16.—(AP)—Major Nikolai Zhuravlev, military expert for the Moscow News, wrote today that only a tenth of the 2,000-mile Russian front was ablaze but that "the German command is trying to defeat the Red army before a second front can be opened in Europe."

The general declared that the Soviet air force at Voronezh had constantly increased its support of the land forces "to convert Voronezh into a mill to grind German troops crossing the Don into a bloody pulp."

"The Germans still have a negligible foothold on the eastern bank of the Don," he said.

Senate Votes $125,000,000 To OPA; Rejects Subsidy Funds

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—A $125,000,000 appropriation to run the Office of Price Administration was approved by the senate today after removal of most of the "crippling amendments" to which Leon Henderson had objected.

The sum, $15,000,000 less than the minimum Price Administrator Henderson estimated he needed, is $50,000,000 more than the house authorized, and the measure was sent back there for action on amendments.

The senate left in one provision opposed by Henderson—a stipulation that none of the money could be used to pay subsidies.

The cigar-chewing Henderson told reporters this might make it difficult to administer some price control programs, such as one by which the government-financed Defense Supplies Corporation plans to absorb the increased cost of transporting gasoline overland rather than by tankers. The absorption of this cost may permit Henderson to cancel at least a part of the gasoline price increase of 2 1/2 cents a gallon recently authorized in the rationed eastern states.

Henderson pointed out that ordinarily OPA would do all the ground work for such a program, and commented that with the agency's funds tied down it probably would be hampered in this work.

In other respects, the bill was believed tailored closely to Henderson's needs. The senate removed a similar provision with respect to employees of the Office of Civilian Defense.

Objectors to these provisions had contended they would "inject politics" into these appointments. The senate also removed an amendment which would have required lengthy technicalities by the secretary of agriculture before adjustments could be made in the price levels of processed farm commodities.

Limits Set. Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, failed in an effort to remove a provision declaring that the $125,000,000 was all the OPA could have for the current fiscal year, and barring transfers to the agency from other appropriations such as the President's emergency fund.

Clark declared the proviso was "half fraud on the American people and half an unwarranted reflection of lack of confidence in the President." He predicted congressional vote OPA supplemental money freely if Mr. Roosevelt declared the need.

Although virtually all the debate revolved around the OPA item, the bill carried a total of $1,857,000,000 for a score of war agencies, including $1,100,000,000 for the War Shipping Administration, $150,000,000 for the Smaller War Plants Corporation, $68,000,000 for the War Production Board, and $7,447,000 for the Office of Civilian Defense.

Plans Prepared For Air Freighter PORTLAND, Ore., July 16.—(AP) Engineering and designing have been completed for an air freighter that will carry a load of 250,000 pounds 10,000 miles at a speed of 350 miles per hour, Colonel Joseph L. Stromme asserted today.

The commander of the Portland Army Air Base made the disclosure but added no details in a farewell address at a retail trade bureau dinner. Stromme will leave soon for duty in Washington, D. C.

"We may continue to expect defeats until we devise a means of speedy delivery of our arms to our soldiers where they need them," he said. "Freight airplanes are the answer."

He added that the era of air freighters was almost here.

HATCHERIES QUALIFIED. ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—According to the Extension Service's 1941 report, 46 hatcheries or 80 per cent of the total hatchery capacity of Georgia were qualified under the National Poultry Improvement Plan.

Land Banks To Continue Reduced Interest Rates
President Roosevelt has signed a bill extending for two years the reduced interest rates on Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner loans. It was announced this week by J. M. Dodd, president of the Master National Farm Loan Association.

Dodd said this would mean a considerable saving to borrowers in Fulton, DeKalb and Gwinnett counties, which the association serves. The master association has offices in Decatur and in the Masonic Temple building in Atlanta.

Revision Asked In Licensing of Film Operators

Council Group Proposes New System of Holding Examinations.

City administration leaders yesterday moved to correct defaults in ordinances regulating the licensing of motion picture operators and recommended with one dissenting vote a revised system of holding examinations.

The high courts recently ruled that the old system of holding examinations was illegal and the new measure is designed to correct faults of the old law.

Principal changes in the old ordinance as proposed by the new amendments recommended to city council at a joint session of the electric lights and ordinance and legislative committees of council are:

1. Appointment of a three-man board by the mayor subject to confirmation by council. One would represent motion picture operators, another theater owners and managers and a third would be from the Southeastern Underwriters' Association. Previously a three-man board was selected from nominations made by the city electrical, city building inspector and chief of the fire department.

2. A provision allowing working operators and two others to be designated by the theater manager in operating booths at one time. The old ordinance barred all persons except the operators and the theater managers.

Frank Morrison, president of the Motion Picture Operators' local; Dewey L. Johnson, city superintendent of electrical affairs, and Albert Gossett, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, opposed the new measure, while Willis J. Davis represented theater owners and advocated passage of the proposed amendments.

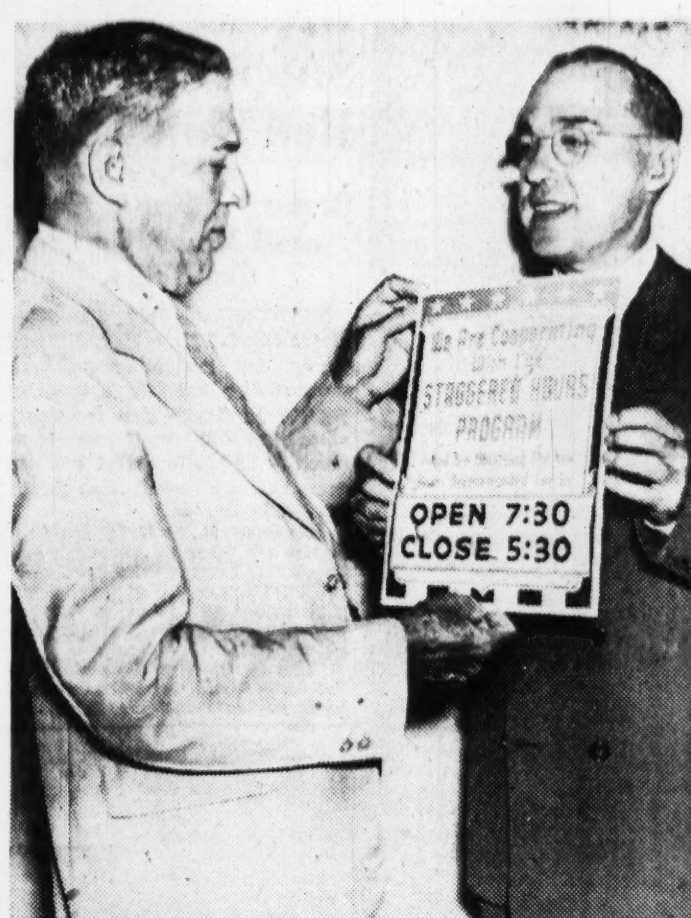

Councilman Joe Allen voted against the new proposal, asserting he favored amending the board personnel so as to include a representative from nonunion operators.

STAGGER CARD—H. Carl Wolf, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, yesterday presented the first staggered hours patriotic display card to S. R. Greenblatt, president of Atlanta Laundries, Inc., which was the first Atlanta firm actually to put staggered hours into effect. Three of its plants, employing about 800 workers, moved their opening hours a half-hour earlier on July 6 in order to conform with the Chamber of Commerce program.

Bethesda Church Holds Service for Soldier

SPECIAL TO THE CONSTITUTION.
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., July 16.—Memorial services were held at the Bethesda Methodist church for Benjamin Alton Arnold, 32, who lost his life off the Hawaiian Islands, Friday, July 3. The Rev. Lee Branham officiated. There were several military comrades from Fort McPherson, who attended the exercises. A mark of military respect was shown by them. The church was decorated with the Stars and Stripes and flowers.

Arnall Is Facing Busy Weekend In Campaigning

South Georgians To Hear Attorney General in Thomasville Talk.

Ellis Arnall, Georgia's youthful attorney general, sole opponent of Gene Talmadge in the September primary, has announced a busy weekend of visiting among the Georgia voters.

Today, Arnall will be guest of honor at the Tyrone reunion in Fayette county.

Tomorrow, Arnall will speak at Thomasville at the same time Governor Talmadge will be speaking at Gainesville, at the opposite end of the state.

South Georgia supporters of the attorney general will gather at Thomasville, according to reports from Thomas county. Crowds will be there from Colquitt county, where the Governor made his fourth of July appearance.

The Thomasville address of Arnall, between 4 and 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, will be broadcast by stations in Thomasville, Moultrie, Waycross, Valdosta, Albany, Brunswick, Macon, Savannah, Augusta and Gainesville. The Gainesville broadcast will be heard by Hall county voters at the same time the Governor will be talking in a grove outside the city.

8,500 Atlanta Workers To Stagger Hours

At Least That Number Will Begin Program Monday.

At least 8,500 Atlanta workers will go on staggered hours Monday, according to the latest returns from a Chamber of Commerce poll of 300 firms which have been asked to participate in the program to relieve the city's transportation emergency.

Through yesterday afternoon the organization had received assurances from 93 firms employing 11,031 workers that they would adopt the recommended changes of working hours. Of these, 585 already are working on new hours and 1,925 are to make the change on August 3.

The remaining 8,521 are all scheduled to begin their staggered hour schedules Monday morning. They include employees of railroad offices, retail stores, the telephone, gas and power companies, insurance offices and certain general offices.

Chamber of Commerce officials expect that a considerable number of other firms will agree today and tomorrow to make the change with the result that the total number of workers going on new hours Monday will probably be in excess of 10,000.

LIKES WATER SPORTS—Bill Booth Jr., former radio executive, likes water sports, so he joined up in naval aviation for the best sport of all today—a crack at Hiro-hito's water bugs and Hitler's water moccasins.

Executive, 26, Enlists in Naval Aviation—Likes Water, Flying

"I like water. I like flying..." These sentiments of William

Herman Booth Jr., Scarsdale, N. Y., flight training student attached to the United States Naval Reserve Air Base, Atlanta, amply express the thinking of thousands of American young men enlisting in naval aviation today.

In his 26th year and older than the average student, stocky, intelligent Bill Booth has a job to do for Uncle Sam. His motives are purely patriotic. Partially responsible for the support of his widowed mother, Booth could have avoided military service for some time to come, but his conscience dictated otherwise.

Radio Producer. Already a name in his chosen vocation, Booth has enjoyed varied professional experience in the radio and advertising fields. As assistant producer of the radio show, Vox Pop, Booth for a period of three years traveled extensively in the United States and Canada, presenting his show at Army encampments and naval bases.

Collaborating with professional advertising executives, Booth was the "idea" man behind many a successful publicity venture. Winning contestants on the Vox Pop show each week receive valuable and lasting gifts. However, the hit of the evening is the presentation of the "booby" prize, which has varied from a swag-back mule to a fur-lined bathtub. A 1919 model T station wagon, fully equipped with luxuries of the time, was one of the unusual prizes presented during Booth's tenure with the show.

Went Into Advertising. Booth is not a college graduate. Illness interrupted his collegiate life after two years, one at Ohio Northern and the second at Columbia University. An early interest in aviation, however, served as inspiration for an application for employment with American Airlines. Receiving a position in the operations department, Booth later transferred to the traffic division of the same company. There he became interested in advertising.

Employment with Ruthrauff & Ryan, one of the nation's largest advertising agencies, followed. For this company Booth handled the well-known radio programs of Big Town, starring Edward G. Robinson in the role of a newspaper editor; Major Bowes' Amateur Show; Meet Mr. Meek, and the Lanny Ross feature.

Booth has a natural interest in water sports, having lived on Long Island Sound most of his life. His proficiency in yawl and motor boat racing has been developed to such an extent that he won second honors at the 1941 Albany-New York speedboat marathon. Driving the 150-mile course with a boat displacing 225 cubic inches, Booth was materially aided by radio communication with his co-partner who flew overhead, directing him around quagmires.

Wants To Fly Bomber. Booth also entered the Bermuda Cup races with his 45-foot yawl, but after 400 miles of competition, he was forced out of the race because of a broken mizzen mast. But his greatest thrill was his first solo. This passed, he is taking the more advanced training in his stride, and on gaining his commission he hopes to fly a Navy patrol bomber.

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent or scanty passages with aching and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging headache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, backache and dizziness.

Don't wait. Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

New Fashions To Be Shown By Exhibitors

More Than 2,000 Buyers, Merchants Expected Here Next Week.

A membership banquet and business meeting tomorrow night at the Biltmore hotel will mark the opening of a week of style showing by the Southeastern Travelers' Fashion Exhibitors.

E. Marvin Cousins, manager of the organization, announced yesterday that 321 manufacturers will be represented, and that an attendance of between 2,000 and 2,500 merchants and buyers is expected. The 10th semi-annual showing will begin Sunday and last through Friday.

Because of the rubber shortage, many more merchants throughout the southeast are coming into Atlanta to view the new fashions, instead of the salesmen calling on them later. General style shows have been abandoned "for the duration," but individual showings will be presented by each manufacturer.

An election of officers and of the board of directors for the coming year will be held tomorrow night.

Liquor License Bids Approved By Committee

Harbin, Bombos Renewals Previously Vetoed by Hartsfield.

City council's police committee last night recommended favorably petitions for renewal of retail liquor licenses for Mercer Harbin at 777 Ponce de Leon avenue, N. E., and for Charles Bombos at 465 Houston street, N. E., and the recommendations will be filed Monday with city council.

Mayor Hartsfield previously had vetoed petitions for the renewals and the vetoes are slated for council action at the same session at which the committee's report will be filed. Hartsfield also had vetoed applications for renewal of five similar licenses for Murray Harmon and these are also slated for council action.

Committee members also rescinded their former action in ordering Captain S. W. Roper, on leave of absence with the state patrol; J. J. Elliott, who is working at the Bell bomber plant, and E. B. Clark, with Sears, Roebuck & Company, to report for duty, and allowed them to continue their present employments for the duration of their leaves.

FIRST WAAC IN GEORGIA—To Mrs. Helen Y. Hedekin, of 2085 East Lake road, yesterday went the honor of being the first woman in Georgia to be sworn in as a member of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps. She is shown here receiving orders from Lieutenant Thomas J. Harvey Jr. at Fort McPherson. (Story on Page 1.)

SCHOOL GARDENS.

ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—Many school gardens are being grown this year in Georgia as a means of providing food for use in lunch-rooms this fall and winter, Extension Service leaders say.

WAAC's Must Be Scholastic 'Quickies,' Faculty Officers Say

PORT DES MOINES, Iowa, July 16.—(P)—These WAACs are going to have to be scholastic "quickies."

Faculty officers of the Women's Auxiliary Corps Training School here said today WAAC auxiliaries (privates) must learn all about the Army and their place in it by completing 18 courses within four weeks.

The first 770 WAACs report Monday.

The auxiliary curriculum calls for 39 class-room hours a week, the same as that of the officer-candidates, but the school authorities reserve the right to step up the program an hour a day if necessary.

Auxiliaries will have a certain amount of "homework," too. The rank-and-file women, however, will not be required to spend two hours an evening in study halls; as will the officer-candidates. The latter, incidentally, will go to school eight weeks before qualifying for commissions.

"They're going to have to work hard," an officer said of the auxiliaries. "They're going to start at 7:30 in the morning."

After four weeks, the auxiliary either will remain in the Army or "flunk out."

Here are the principal auxiliary courses and the class-room hours for the full course:

Processing (immunization, records, supplies, equipment) 21; military customs and courtesies, 6; WAAC regulations and the punitive articles of war, 4; wearing of the uniform, care of clothing and equipment, 6; military sanitation, first aid and personal hygiene, 11; defense against chemical attack, 3; defense against air attack, 2; map reading, 4.

Safeguarding military information, 2; interior guard duty, 2; close order drill without arms, 20; the WAAC and current events, 4; physical training and sports, 20; inspection in barracks and ranks, 16; ceremonies and parades, 8.

United Nations Exerting Initiative, Glassford Says

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 16. (P)—Rear Admiral William Glassford, commandant of the Charleston Navy Yard and of the Sixth District, said today the United Nations were not engaged in a hopeless defensive strategy but on the contrary were exerting their initiative to make Hitler "fight as wastefully of men and materials in as many places as possible."

Admiral Glassford spoke before the Kiwanis Club.

Expressing the confidence of himself and colleagues that the Russian and African fronts would not collapse, he warned, however, that if the United Nations did lose on these fronts "only the pool of American manpower will be left to deal with the Axis." Then, he said, it would be a matter of millions of men mobilized in the United States to fight the Axis.

BIG SAVING.

ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—During 1941, Georgia farm families saved over $300,000 through adoption of home improvement practices, the Extension Service reports.

Bomber Crashes; Crew of 5 Killed

SPokane, July 16.—(P)—A bomber based at Geiger Field crashed early today near Post Falls, Idaho, 20 miles east of Spokane, killing the crew of five men.

The Public Relations Office at Geiger Field reported the casualties were:

First Lieutenant William P.

Marsh Jr., home town unavailable.

Second Lieutenant James H. Briggs; father, H. R. Briggs, Gary, Ind.

Staff Sergeant Fred W. Herring; mother, Mrs. Eva N. Herring, Camillus, N. Y.

Sergeant Robert J. O'Brien; father, Charles A. O'Brien, Buffalo, N. Y.

Private Raymond J. Luetgen; father, August Luetgen, Milwaukee.

FOOD PROJECTS.

ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—In Georgia many rural boys and girls are helping to win the war through Food for Victory projects, the Extension Service points out.

USE OF GRAIN.

ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—Special emphasis is placed by the Extension Service workers on the use of grain, when ground, so as to retain the natural nutritive values.

Atlantan Faces Athens Charge Of 'Disorderly'

Allowed Bail Following Alleged Beating of Boy.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. ATHENS, Ga., July 16.—A man giving his name as Basil Stockbridge, of Atlanta, was arrested here today at a meeting in the office of W. C. Cornett, Republican, and will face trial in recorders court tomorrow on a charge of disorderly conduct growing out of the alleged public strapping of a child, said to be his grandson, in the lobby of a downtown office building.

Police Lieutenant L. C. Cornelson arrested Stockbridge and accompanied him to the police station, where a case was made and which will be called tomorrow at 10 o'clock before Judge Vincent Matthews.

Released Under Bond. It was stated at police headquarters that Attorney Cornett, representing Stockbridge, suggested that he would waive trial for his client, but Judge Matthews insisted that the defendant put up his appearance when recorders court opens tomorrow in order that the charges against him may be given a full hearing. He was released under $25.75 bond.

Lieutenant Cornelson said the case was made against Stockbridge upon the insistence of several well known Athens women, who are reported to have witnessed the alleged whipping of the boy, who appeared to be under 10 years of age. Among the witnesses listed on the court docket are Mrs. Craig Orr, secretary of the Athens Clarke county Red Cross; Mrs. Dewey Thurmond and Miss Annie Tankers, all well known Athenians, and J. B. Waddell and Dorsey Carter.

It was reported a crowd gathered at the scene of the alleged whipping. No one knew Stockbridge's identity, but Lieutenant Cornelson said he looked into an automobile, where the child is said to have been placed by the man who is reported to have whipped him. Stockbridge's name was found in the car by the policeman, along with correspondence between Governor Eugene Talmadge and Attorney Cornett, who has long been active in Republican political circles in Georgia.

Lieutenant Cornelson said he went to Attorney Cornett's office, where he found Stockbridge conferring with Cornett, Jack Robinson, Talmadge appointed purchasing agent of the University of Georgia, and T. J. Shackelford, rejected recently by Talmadge for the western circuit judgeship.

WPB To Allow 100,000 Bikes In July, August

Only Victory Models Permitted; Output 32 Per Cent of '41 Rate.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The War Production Board today further curtailed the manufacture of bicycles, restricting output to 100,000 victory models in July and August.

This is at the rate of 32 per cent of 1941 production, and a cut from the 42 per cent output permitted during April, May and June, no bikes other than adult sized, victory models may be produced.

The new amendment permits production only until September 1, but WPB said the question of continuing limited manufacture after the deadline will get further consideration earlier. The victory model is a lightweight cycle stripped of critical materials.

A rationing plan permitting purchase only by defense workers or by those needing bicycles for occupational purposes, has been in effect for one week.

Dobbs Funeral Is Set for Today

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MARIETTA, Ga., July 16.—Funeral services for Evan P. (Dick) Dobbs, former Marietta mayor, state senator and civic leader, who died here yesterday, will be held Friday morning at 11 o'clock at the residence, 125 McDonald street, with the Rev. A. H. Glasure and Dr. J. H. Patton, of the Marietta Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment will be in the Episcopal cemetery.

Palbearers will be A. Y. Corley, Guy Roberts, J. E. Lovell, Charles M. Brown, Dr. W. H. Perkinson, Dan Anderson, Dr. Ralph Fowler, Howell Trezevant, Ed Massey and Dr. W. M. Guber.

Mr. Dobbs, who was in his eighties, died at his residence after a short illness.

He had long been active in local and state politics, having served several terms as mayor of Marietta, member of the state legislature and of the senate.

He was a native of Marietta and is survived by his wife, one daughter, Mrs. George G. Nichols, of Bronxville, N. Y.; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie D. Smith and Mrs. Lillian E. Finn, both of Miami.

Girl Is Missing From Home Second Time in Less Than Year

By JANE NOLAND.

Novertia Brown promised the police captain she'd be "a good girl from now on" when he returned her to her parents last August, after she'd run away from her home at 1 Toms drive with a girl friend. But two months later, November 30, she disappeared again, and hasn't been heard from since.

Novertia, 18 on October 4, was married three days later to Herman W. Brown, then stationed at Fort Benning, Ga. The last time Mrs. F. H. Brown, her mother, saw Novertia was the middle of November when the girl left to go to Columbus to be near her husband. From Columbus the young bride went to Montgomery, Ala., to visit her brother-in-law and his wife, and it was after she stepped on the train in Billingsly, Ala. (just outside Montgomery), that she disappeared. She'd written her mother she was coming home, and had told her brother-in-law she had to get back to her job in an Atlanta boarding house (of which her parents knew nothing).

But Novertia didn't come home. Police notified. After about a month, during which they had written to her husband and in-laws, to no effect, the Browns had bulletins sent to all police stations, but still no Novertia.

Though she had run away before and Captain Ben W. Seabrook, of the Atlanta Police Identification Bureau, who had found her after her first escapade, said she seemed "just a high-spirited girl, looking for excitement," her mother said she couldn't believe Novertia "would voluntarily stay away like that."

It was the middle of April before another clue turned up. A card came to the Brown home, mailed April 7 from Rocky Mount, N. C., addressed to Miss Novertia Brown and signed "Cooper." Cooper, according to his card, had seen the girl in Fayetteville, N. C., a short time before. Mrs. Brown wrote Cooper, asking for information. No reply came. But doing a little sleuthing on her own, Mrs. Brown decided that perhaps Novertia had obtained a divorce, since the card was addressed to "Miss" Brown, so she wrote to the courts in Montgomery.

Granted Divorce.

Last week her answer came. Novertia (Mrs. H. W.) Brown had been given a divorce on the grounds of cruelty December 13, the claim being filed by "J. L. Luster, friend," since the girl was under age.

Mrs. Brown never had heard of Luster, and Novertia's husband said he knew nothing of the divorce, but Mrs. Brown is now trying to contact Luster, and still has hope of finding her daughter.

Novertia finished the seventh grade at Perkerson school in June, 1941, and had not returned to school because of illness. Her mother described her as five feet, two inches tall, weighing about 100 pounds, and having dark brown hair and hazel eyes.

"She was such a friendly girl," said Mrs. Brown. "She always had a smile for everybody, and I'm afraid she may have gotten in with the wrong sort."

Captain Seabrook has been consulted again about this second disappearance and says that if Novertia had let herself be fingerprinted last August, she could be more easily traced now. "But as it is," he said, "it'll be a hard job to find her unless she comes home of her own accord."

Mrs. A. V. Griffin Dies At Home in Concord

Mrs. A. V. Griffin died at her home at Concord, Ga., yesterday and funeral services will be held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at Mount Olive Baptist church at Molena, Ga., with Dr. B. J. W. Graham, of Atlanta, officiating. Interment will be in the churchyard.

Mrs. Griffin is survived by her husband; three daughters, Miss Elizabeth Griffin and Mrs. C. E. Eberhart, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Guy Dawson, of Winterville; three sons, Dan Griffin, of Concord; James Griffin, of Kelly Field, Texas, and A. V. Griffin Jr., of Fort Benning; also six grandchildren.

High Argentine Circles Are Accused Of Assisting Axis

BUENOS AIRES, July 16.—(AP)—Accusations that the Argentine government fostered anti-democratic activities and failed to carry out the anti-Axis pledges it contracted at the Rio de Janeiro conference were laid before the public today in a book by Adolfo Lanus, former deputy in the Argentine legislature.

Judge Denies Miamian's Plea In Deed Case

Floridan Had Sought To Make Document Unavailable.

A motion by C. E. Davis, of Miami, to suppress evidence of an alleged spurious deed was denied yesterday by Judge E. Marvin Underwood in United States district court.

The deed had been impounded while it was in the office of the superior court of Murray county in December, 1941. Plaintiff had asked the court to make the deed unavailable as evidence in an anticipated criminal investigation.

During the hearing, Astor Meritt, assistant United States attorney, who was presenting the argument for the government, was called to the stand as a witness by Davis' attorneys.

Lanus was a member of Raul Damonte Taborda's committee investigating anti-Argentine activities and visited the United States as a member of a congressional delegation last year.

His book, entitled "Campo Minado"—minefield—says the pro-Axis campaign in Argentina "has very highly placed sponsors."

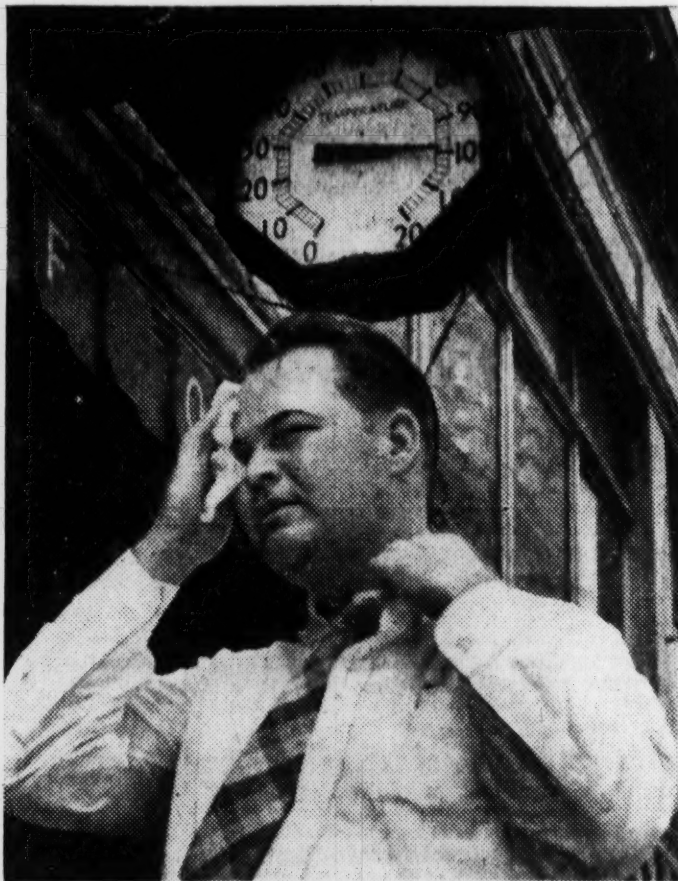

It declares that the Nazi party, although outlawed by executive decree, continues to function under the guise of welfare societies, that funds are collected under the direction of the German embassy, and that Axis propaganda organs receive financial support in the form of advertising from provincial government bureaus.

Known Axis partisans among the leaders of so-called nationalist groups enjoy "the sympathy of official circles," Lanus said.

The book cites police records to show that nationalists taken into custody at a raid appealed to President Ramon Castillo's son, Horatio, to intervene in their behalf.

Lanus also criticizes Foreign Minister Enrique Ruiz Guinazu for addressing an anti-democratic demonstration organized by a nationalist group last May.

Liaison Officer Named To Aid Labor Survey

Major Brockman To Serve 3-State Area for Services of Supply.

To assist the War Manpower Commission in coordinating the labor supply Major Charles J. Brockman has been appointed as an Army liaison officer, Services of Supply, for Georgia, South Carolina and Florida, it was announced yesterday.

Major Brockman, who recently returned from a meeting in Washington, D. C., of the liaison officers for all territories, said the purpose of these officers is to advise the commission of available labor in areas where contracts may be awarded, to encourage orderly labor recruiting through the United States Employment Service, and to co-operate with the Selective Service System and the WPB so that labor resources may be utilized at the maximum of effectiveness in the war effort.

The liaison office for this area, which is under the Services of Supply, is at 50 Whitehall street, Room 1125.

Tribunal Voids Conviction in Murder Case

Holds Indictment Was Not Returned in Open Court.

The state supreme court set aside a murder conviction yesterday on the ground that the indictment was not returned in open court.

In a unanimous decision, the justices said the record showed a murder indictment returned against Max Zugar in Walker county was delivered to the judge in a corridor a floor below the courtroom by the bailiff and the bailiff, at the direction of the judge, gave it to the clerk of court.

The case went to trial and Zugar was convicted of murder in the shotgun slaying last February of Leroy Smith. In setting aside this verdict, the supreme court said:

"It is a fundamental part of our judicial system that the general public be permitted to witness court proceedings sufficiently to guarantee that there may never be practiced in this state secret or star chamber court proceedings, the deliberations of the jury alone excepted."

BRITISH INCOME TAX. In 1939, 1,000,000 weekly wage earners in Britain paid income tax amounting to $10,000,000. By 1941, the number had risen to 5,500,000 workers, paying tax of $500,000,000.

Huge U. S. Cargo Subs Urged

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—Representative Satterfield, Democrat, Virginia, said today that correspondence found on a captured enemy submarine had confirmed that cargo-carrying submarines were supplying U-boats preying on shipping off the American coast.

Satterfield, a lieutenant commander in the Naval Reserve who recently served a tour of duty as naval observer with the American embassy in London, told the house it was imperative that the United States begin constructing such supply-carrying submarines.

"I have conferred with distinguished authorities with reference to the building of this type of craft," he said, "and unquestionably the construction of an under-sea vessel capable of carrying 7,500 tons of cargo is feasible; and furthermore, such a vessel would be comparatively safe from submarine attacks, by gunfire or torpedoes, as it would proceed submerged at a depth of 100 feet."

"In addition, this type of boat, fully loaded and proceeding to a rendezvous, need never surface except under cover of darkness, hence chances of its detection and destruction will be at a decided minimum."

"The day is not far distant," he continued, "when our submarines will be operating in great numbers in close proximity to Japan, south of Nagasaki and all along the Japanese coast northward. We have already been greatly surprised in finding the Japanese fleet and its aerial arm so strong."

"I am convinced that in a little while, particularly when we carry the battle along the beaches of Japan, we shall discover that her long and secret preparations will have produced a vast number of submarines. . . .

"Just as the answer to aerial offense is more airplanes, so the answer to the defensive strength of Japan's undersea boats is more submarines."

"The Japanese submarines will be very close to supply bases. Our undersea boats will be thousands of miles removed from their bases. We can scarcely hope to attain submarine superiority in those waters unless we have built a sufficient number of cargo-carrying submarines to keep our submarines supplied in those waters. Surface tenders in that area will be subjected to too much risk," Satterfield added that "we should not be taken by surprise when the real naval engagement is fought in Japanese waters, for I am convinced that that engagement will reveal enemy giant submersible aircraft carriers."

Treasury Prefers 'Short' Bill To Sales Tax, Says Doughton

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, of the House Ways and Means Committee, urging speedy approval of the $6,143,900,000 tax bill, told the house today the Treasury Department would rather fall short of its $8,700,000,000 goal than have a sales tax.

Opening three days of debate on the record-breaking revenue bill, he said he had asked Randolph Paul, tax adviser to Secretary Morgenthau, whether he would "rather have the bill remain short or have a sales tax."

"He said he would rather have the bill stay short," Doughton added.

He told the members that the committee had approved as high taxes on all as it believed could be carried safely. He revealed that the corporate and individual taxes which were only about $2,200,000,000 in 1939 would be raised to $18,000,000,000 if the pending bill becomes law.

Big Celebration To Honor War Heroes Today and later will be honored at a luncheon. Marion Allen, collector of internal revenue, will speak.

Stamp booths will be set up on all floors of the store and a special booth on the sidewalk outside the store will be operated.

At Sears, Roebuck & Company, a musical program and a series of bond sales talks will go throughout the store over the public address system. Flags and pictures of American heroes will appear throughout the store.

At J. M. High Company, a special booth will be placed on the main floor, and all sales people will ask their customers to take their change in war stamps. The main display window will be devoted to photographs of hundreds of Georgia boys now in service.

Regenstein's Peachtree, Regenstein's Whitehall and the Mirror all have made plans to push the sale of the stamps, it was announced.

A. L. Zachry, chairman for the Atlanta Retail Merchants Association for the observance of American Heroes Day, announced his store has installed a loud speaker system to carry a sales and musical program.

Other elaborate plans are under way for pushing stamp and bond sales at Muse's, Parks-Chambers, H. G. Hastings, Kay Jewelry Company, Claude S. Bennett, Maier & Berkele, Myron E. Freeman and other downtown stores, it was announced yesterday, but complete preparations had not been made early yesterday afternoon.

Three Sisters is conducting a contest between members of the sales personnel and between floors of the establishment, which will add impetus to the sale there, it was said.

Chain grocery stores also are co-operating throughout their organizations to promote the sale of stamps, it was announced by officials of the A. & P. Tea Company.

New Income Tax Would Hit One Out of 4

31,500,000 Would Be Required To File Under Exemptions.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—About one out of every four persons in the United States would have to file income tax returns under the pending $6,143,900,000 revenue bill, the House Ways and Means Committee estimated today.

In a report to the house, the committee said reductions in personal exemptions from $1,500 to $1,200 for married persons and from $750 to $500 for single persons would require 31,500,000 persons to file returns.

"Of this number, 4,600,000 will be returns from persons who would not have filed except for the lowered exemptions," the committee said. "It is estimated that 7,000,000 returns will be made taxable by the lowered exemptions, and it is estimated that additional revenue from such returns will be $109,500,000."

Returns will be required from single persons earning $9.62 a

Close Consulates, Finns Told

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The United States has requested Finland to close all Finnish consulates in this country not later than August 1.

This action was taken, a State Department announcement explained tonight, because the Finnish government has denied to American consular officers in Finland their treaty rights in connection with representation of American interests in Finland.

The announcement was issued shortly after Acting Secretary of State Welles received Finnish Minister Procopce at the State Department.

Procopce declined to discuss his conversation with Welles, but department officials later explained that the request to close all Finnish consulates in the United States had been communicated to the Finnish government through the American legation in Helsinki.

3 Reasons for Closings.—In its announcement of the move, the State Department pointed out that the Finnish foreign office a year ago had notified the American legation in Helsinki that "in view of wartime conditions" consular matters should be handled entirely through the Finnish foreign ministry rather than directly with local authorities.

"This action of the Finnish foreign ministry," the department's announcement continued, "had the direct effect of denying to American consular officers in Finland their specific treaty rights as consular officials."

"Accordingly, the foreign ministry was informed that the consular commissions of the American consular offices at present in Finland had been cancelled and the consular section of the American legation in Helsinki was being closed immediately, and that this action had been taken by the American government to put an end to the present untenable situation involved in maintaining American consular representation in Finland in the face of the attitude adopted by the Finnish government in the matter. The Finnish government was requested by the American legation to close all Finnish consular offices in the United States not later than August 1, 1942."

Bank Names New Assistant Cashiers.—Following a board of directors' meeting in Savannah Wednesday, H. Lane Young, president of the Citizens & Southern National Bank, announced the election of two new assistant cashiers at the Atlanta bank, Orin F. Rogers and

Arch Worsham Fitzpatrick. Both men were born in Atlanta and have been connected with the organization for many years. Mr. Rogers attended Draughton School of Commerce and entered the bank in July, 1924, as a bookkeeper. Mr. Fitzpatrick, a University of Georgia graduate, started his banking career as a messenger boy in his high school days.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 17, 1942.

George and Russell

On June 29 Walter George spoke in the United States senate against the increase in gasoline price, imposed by direct government order to pay the cost of increased transportation and began to work against it.

Three days later Senator Richard Russell spoke against it and joined with the senior senator in the effort to rid the consumer of the increase.

The Atlanta Constitution and other newspapers took up the fight.

Two weeks later the governor of Georgia, seeking some needed political favor, wired the Georgia delegation a protest. The delegation requested a conference with the President. The President has not yet had that conference. Nothing else was done about the telegram. That was the sum and substance of the Governor's effort.

Meanwhile, senators and congressmen of other states joined with Georgia's two senators and got the job done.

The money collected never went to the gas companies, as charged. Instead of a slush fund there was no fund at all, but a deficit of $38,000,000. The Georgia senators went to work on the facts and were able to do the job. They and the newspapers now are working on getting Georgia out of the rationed area.

It was a clear-cut victory for the two senators and the newspapers in a job begun more than two weeks before the Governor woke up.

The Governor now says: "Me too."

"We" killed a bear, didn't we?

So, You're Going to England

The "Guide to Great Britain" just issued by the War Department for distribution to all American soldiers assigned to duty in Great Britain is certainly a handy little book for the men of the armed services. But it contains an admonition that can well be followed by all of us in this country: Namely, that it is militarily stupid to criticize your allies.

This is a truth that is often lost sight of in the welter of conflicting emotions brought about by the shifting fortunes of war. For it is militarily stupid to criticize your allies. To do so is to fall in step with the Nazi pattern of things. It is to do just what Hitler wants us to do, so that his policy of "divide and conquer" may be enforced.

It is easy enough to criticize. Surely, when the fortunes of war do not go your way, is it not better to buckle down to real work and more fighting? When things go wrong, that is the time to fight harder than ever. That is what Washington did at Valley Forge. That is what we all of us must do now.

Housing Success

The Atlanta Housing Authority is to be congratulated upon its refunding of the first $15,378,000 bond issue, used to finance construction of low-cost housing projects.

The refunding saves some $3,200,000 in interest charges, a saving that reverts to the taxpayers and which is in itself a great compliment to the management of the authority and to the city.

Atlanta's Big Day

If Atlanta puffs out its chest with pride today, and pops a couple of buttons, few will object.

It is a big day for Atlanta. The Bond Breakfast will nudge the $3,000,000 mark, and probably pass it when the last check is made this morning. The United War Work Fund is going to top its quota by a comfortable margin, the first time that an appeal of this type has reached its goal in some few years. And in the downtown stores the stamps and bonds will be moving at a brisk pace in honor of American Heroes Day. The stores have given generously of their time and effort in preparing to honor those who have gone forth to battle.

Under the drive of war days, Atlanta is getting down to business and that intangible thing known as the Atlanta spirit is knitting the people together for the tasks ahead.

Today is just a beginning, but it is an auspicious beginning, one that augurs well for the city not only in wartime, but in the days of peace to come.

Wings for Freight

Major de Seversky's book, "Victory Through Air Power," keeps on the best-seller list because it is a good, thought-provoking book.

Also, it keeps getting confirmation from almost all phases of the war. One of them is freight transport.

It is announced that 1,000,000 pounds of freight are being carried by plane daily to the various American expeditionary forces. Major de Seversky stated that 100 large planes, flying on schedule, could feed England. Our own experience indicates he is right.

Already China's chief supplies reach her through the air line from India. Some time ago we recall the statement that 50 cargo planes could carry more than 1,500 trucks operating over the Burma road. This, no doubt, is true. But the planes in operation are not as large as needed and China is not getting the supplies she needs.

Now is a fine time for imagination. De Seversky has it. Some of the critics say he is not sound. But the little pilot and designer keeps going along with almost every day proving some part of his book.

The nation which can produce the men who can imagine what the future could be in terms of air transport and air power, and who can get a nation to adopt those plans, will produce a power which will have an edge on the remainder of the world far greater than that which Germany had at the beginning of this war when her plane-tank teams and her motorized equipment gave her such a devastating start.

1 1/4 Tankers at Once

Americans will be heartened to know that shipbuilding on the assembly line idea has taken another forward step. This was revealed in the Navy announcement that the Seattle-Tacoma Shipbuilding Corporation is constructing one tanker and three-fourths of a second tanker on the same launching ways at the same time. Surely, a tribute to American ingenuity!

Encouraging also is the fact that this ingenious building method also calls for tankers, of a new, secret type, to be launched bow first as compared with the usual method of having the ship slide down the ways stern first. Another example of the old adage about there being more than one way to skin a cat.

What was responsible for this new and unorthodox system? Nothing in the world but the common sense conclusion that to do so takes advantage of all available space, thus meeting the hurry-up call for needed ships. As long as this sort of thing is possible, the enemies of our country may tremble in the knowledge that Americans are an adaptable, determined people, with one-track minds running along the single line: Beat the Axis.

Georgia Editors Say:

ARNALL FAVORED

(From The Calhoun County News.)

Governor Talmadge seeks to grab off a four-year governor's term, but Georgia's youthful attorney general, Ellis Arnall, is expected to shove Mr. Talmadge out of the political picture in this state, with aid of the thousands of Georgia voters who are wholeheartedly tired of political quagmire in which the state has been bogged for untold years.

Mr. Arnall's platform is direct and designed to give the state of Georgia the type of government that citizens will take pride in, one that will not be ridiculed by its sister states. It is a courageous platform and one that deserves the support of the voters. And Mr. Arnall has the energy, the courage and the ability to carry it out.

WASHINGTON PARADE

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.

SOLDIER'S BOOKLET WASHINGTON, July 16.—Borrowing a chapter from the British, who issued similar instructions to their own men before sending them over here, the War Department has done a splendid job in the preparation of a 36-page handbook on good behavior which is intended for distribution among American soldiers assigned to duty in the British Isles.

Our soldiers are being sent to Britain by the tens of thousands as rapidly as they can be trained and as fast as ships can be secured for transporting them there. It is all preliminary to the second front we and the British will open against Hitler in Europe sooner or later.

Recognizing the importance of keeping the two armies on a friendly basis, the War Department has filled the booklet with much interesting information and many pertinent facts on how our forces should comport themselves in England. It stresses the differences as well as the resemblances between the two great English-speaking nations, and seeks to guide the American soldier against some of the pitfalls of disunity.

Some of the passages are amusing no less than informative.

For example, the Americans are warned never to say to an Englishman: "I look like a bum." To an Englishman, the handbook explains, "that means that you look like your own backside."

Similarly, the Americans are advised never to use the word "bloody" in mixed company. It is one of the Englishman's worst curse words and will not go over big in polite society.

OTHER "DON'TS" Other "don'ts" are not to boast about being the highest paid fighting forces in the world; not to bring up the subject of who won the last war; not to make fun of British speech or accents ("you sound just as funny to them, but they will be too polite to show it"); not to eat too heartily if you are invited into a home for dinner ("you may eat up the family's weekly rations"); and not to assume the British aren't tough because of their politeness and tactfulness.

The British, our soldiers are reminded, would not have been able to plant their flag over half the face of the earth if they had not been a tough people.

Also, our men are cautioned against kidding the British about losing the first two rounds of the war, because—

"We've lost a couple ourselves, so do not start off by being critical of them or saying what the Yanks are going to do. . . . Remember how long the British alone held Hitler off without any help from anyone."

The British are reserved because they live on a crowded island (no bigger than North Carolina or Minnesota) and have learned to guard privacy carefully. That doesn't mean they are unfriendly. "Britain has been at war since 1939. Houses haven't been painted because factories are making planes—not paint. Taxicabs look antique because Britain is making tanks, not cars. Clothes are shabby and food is none too plentiful."

HITLER PROPAGANDA The handbook starts out with a note of warning against playing into Hitler's propaganda purposes.

"You are going to Great Britain," it says, "as a part of an Allied offensive to meet Hitler and beat him on his own ground. . . . Hitler knows that America and Britain are both powerful countries. . . . He knows that you, with the other United Nations, mean his crushing defeat in the end."

"So it is only common sense to understand that the first and major duty Hitler has given his propaganda chiefs is to separate Britain and America and spread distrust between them. If he can do that his chance of winning might return. . . . If you come from an Irish-American family, you may think of the English as persecutors of the Irish, or you may think of them as enemy redcoats who fought against us in the American Revolution or the War of 1812. But there is no time today to fight old wars over again or to bring up old grievances. We don't worry about which side our grandfathers fought on in the Civil War, because it doesn't mean anything now."

"We can defeat Hitler's propaganda with a weapon of our own plan, common horse-sense: understanding of evident truths."

60,000 HAVE DIED "Sixty thousand British civilians—men, women and children—have died under bombs, and yet the morale of Britain is unbreakable and high. There are housewives in aprons and youngsters in knee pants who have lived through more high explosives than many soldiers saw in first-class barracks in the last war. A nation doesn't come through that if it doesn't have plain, common guts."

"You won't be able to tell the British much about 'taking it.' They are not particularly interested in taking it any more. They are far more interested in getting together in solid friendship with us, so that we can all start dishing it out to Hitler."

"You will soon find yourself among a kindly, quiet, hard-working people who have been living under a strain such as few people in the world have ever known. In your dealings with them, let this be your slogan: 'It is always impolite to criticize your hosts. 'It is militarily stupid to criticize your allies.'"

ASKS WHETHER GOVERNOR IS VETERAN. Editor Constitution: I have just noticed in your paper the attack that DeLoach Allen made on Ellis Arnall for not being in the service. Well Mr. Arnall is a married man with dependents and for that reason he is deferred. In '17 and '18 Governor Talmadge was about the same age as Ellis Arnall, he was a married man with dependents. Is he a veteran?

Mr. Allen goes further and makes a comparison of the Governor's son, Herman, and of Ellis Arnall, but he doesn't say anything about Frank Arnall, Ellis Arnall's younger brother, who is now in the service.

When I was inducted in the Army there were several Georgians inducted with me, among those were Woodrow Tucker, messenger of the Georgia house of representatives, who is a warm friend of the Governor's son, Herman. Also Frank Arnall, who went in as a private, served six months as an enlisted man and then through examination was sent to officers' training school where he received his commission. I am quite sure that young Tucker, who is Herman's personal friend, would confirm all I have said about Frank Arnall.

Mr. Editor, the thing is let's keep the kettle from calling the pot black.

JAMES L. MAYSON, Sgt. Army Air Base, New Orleans, La.

TELLS HELL-BENT TO GO RIGHT AHEAD. Editor Constitution: Please publish this letter, copy of which I have sent to Mr. Edwards.

Dear Mr. Edwards:

In your radio address from Moultrie, Ga. on July 4, 1942, you made a statement, "I can take Gene Talmadge's supporters, with a Talmadge banner in one hand and a sword in the other and whip every Jap over there."

If that statement has the slightest trace of sincerity instead of empty oratory, and you and Talmadge supporters have the guts to back it up, I believe a brave and noble offer would be accepted.

I think Senator Russell, Com.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Ralph Jones, whose column, "Silhouettes," usually appears in this space, will be absent from the office for the next several weeks. Until his return this space will be filled with letters to the Editor and other features.

Revolt WASHINGTON, July 16.—To what extent the people in the "free zone" of France responded yesterday to General Charles De Gaulle's call and commemorated Bastille Day will not be known for some time. Dispatches from Vichy cannot be expected to tell the truth immediately.

Vichy itself, let no one forget it, has been turned into a kind of Kremlin, inhabited by some 40,000 officials where journalists find it very hard to ascertain what goes on inside the country.

But, on the strength of a wealth of information collected in England from the many emissaries who continuously manage to find their way there, one fact stands forth—since last March, a mood and temper of open revolt have become noticeable all over France. They are ready to break out, on the slightest provocation, into violent deeds.

Sunk into distress and misery but with their hope reawakened by the achievements of the Red army and America's belligerency, all were prone to believe, at the turn of the year, that a miracle would be wrought to save them. And they saw that miracle clearly taking shape as soon as the talk of a "second front to help Russia" was mentioned on British and American short wave broadcasts.

Full Story During his recent visit to the United States, Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the full story of the rising at St. Nazaire, on March 28. Several hundred British soldiers had not been able to re-embark in time and were left on the shore. As they went on fighting, part of the local population joined them.

Obviously, these people did not believe that British reinforcements were coming, but they were sure that, at other points on the coast, more Commandos were killing Germans. They could not repress their militant spirit. It was a hastily fortified. It took the unprepared Nazis four days to do away with the popular surge which had spread to neighboring areas. Then they mercilessly visited the whole district with reprisals. Needless to say all people caught re-handled were shot. But the cruel retort of the Nazi power went on everywhere in the occupied zone, and all through the month of April, executions to the tune of some 40 or 50 daily were carried out.

Now, according to General De Gaulle's headquarters, no less than 400,000 political prisoners can be numbered in the whole of France, including some 180,000 in the jails and camps of Vichy. The other day, General De Gaulle chose to drop the appellation of "Free France," and to rebaptize his movement "Fighting France" because he was convinced that the courageous men who risk their lives, slapping and undermining the German conquest must be reckoned true soldiers engaged in regular warfare. He has set himself to the task of linking them with the strategy of the United Nations.

Neither their impulses and initiatives. Such a potential contribution to the common cause must not be wasted wantonly.

Reports In diplomatic reports from Vichy, that combative disposition of the French masses does not seem, so far, to have been given much heed. Obviously, the officials who draft them do not see French affairs in the same light as the emissaries who flow to the British capital in uninterrupted line. Who is right and who is wrong? So much only can be said.

Then, on arrival, are carefully cross-examined by a competent staff picked specially for the purpose. All the details they bring with them are checked and pieced together. Some of them have been or will be in positions of responsibility. The full story which slowly emerges from their testimony cannot be dismissed as merely fanciful.

Moreover, the "underground" newspapers published in both occupied and unoccupied France are available for perusal and scrutiny. They emphasize the "second front" is impending, that an Anglo-American expeditionary force will soon land on French soil and that, from the outset, it will have to be supported locally. Indeed, such open incitement to share in military operations cannot but cause fear and suspicion.

The "underground" press steadily increases in number and circulation. Neither the Vichy police nor German authorities ignore its existence. Do they tolerate those leaflets so that eventually they can crush the entire underground organization more easily? Besides, the prospects of a "second front" to vanish in the autumn, isn't it to be feared lest despair and utter dejection should set in?

Control, supervision and a sense of timeliness are needed.

CATACLYSM Catclysm is a noun pronounced CAT-a-clysm with the accent on the first syllable which is pronounced the same as your "house cat." (Clysm). Think of the first syllable of the word blizzard (bliz) then make it kliz and add an (m) and pronounce it kliz-m.

Catclysm means overflowing flood waters; it could be a tidal wave or an excessive downpour of rain. Any extensive violent and sudden alteration of the earth caused by an earthquake, upheaval, landslide, etc. Figuratively, a catclysm can be a social or political upheaval, hence, "the present catclysm" as is frequently seen in stories emanating from the capitals of Europe. Our leading lexicographers disagree as to the validity of its use in this respect and suggest that it is frequently confused with the word "catastrophe." That, however, is a moot question for the lexicographers to determine and until such time it seems that we will be justified to use it in connection with social and political upheavals.

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH MCGILL.

THE CLUCKING HENS One of the things which burns me, just one of the things, is all this piety and concern about protecting the soldier.

The soldier is going off to be shot at, and maybe killed or wounded. He doesn't want to sit in a Buddha-like calm and let his mind dwell on that fact. He would end up in a psychopathic ward if he did.

Most of the soldiers are just the boys from your street. You know them. They have been to their Sunday schools and churches and they are good, decent boys. Yet, you have a lot of clucking hens who go around wanting to force the soldier to do nothing except contemplate his fate. They don't want him to dance or have any fun.

The very worst of these clucking hens are those who will magnify one soldier who has had one beer too many into a drunken group of 50.

You hear and see that done all along. I recall being on a train not so long ago when four soldiers sat across the aisle in the club car having a bottle of beer each. I happened to be sitting next to two ladies who were exchanging horrified whispers about the shameful orgy they were witnessing. They were four fine looking boys and they were perfectly normal. Yet, I just know that when those two dear, sweet souls got home they told their neighbors and maybe their pastor. If their pastor was one such as pestered us of us around town until they took him away because the war had filled his mind too far over, they probably got a sermon or so on the brutalizing spectacle of the American soldier.

All this causes me to burn with a bright, blue flame. The American soldier is behaving himself much better than his elders. If he drinks a beer or so, why, that's his business. Maybe he feels like one. The soldier of this war is the best-trained and the best-behaved we've had because he is one of the younger generation. They've got more sense. There is bound to be a few who do take too much, but the Army handles that, too. It handles it much better than the civilians do.

There is just one thing worse than a drunk soldier and that is the crowd of professional cluckers who go around worrying about the soldier's morals. Those morals probably are superior to the professional morals.

None of that crowd ever goes after the politicians around Army camps who let gamblers and thieves take in the soldiers and their money.

I've pointed out two or three times the crooked gambling joints along one of the main highways in the county next Atlanta which robs soldiers and civilians every night with crooked cards and dice. It deals in a little vice, too. Why don't they go after it?

MR. KIPLING SAID IT Mr. Rudyard Kipling said it all, years ago, in a well-known poem which every high school declaimer knows. I think I recall part of it, as an old ex-declamer.

"I went into a public house, as sober as could be. They gave a drunk civilian room, but hadn't none for me. The publican he ups and says, 'We serve no red-coats here.' So, I outs into the street and to myself, says I—"

"Oh, it's Tommy that, and Tommy that, and Tommy, wait outside, But it's 'Special Train for Tommy' when the troopship's on the tide—"

"We aren't no thin red heroes, we aren't no blackguards, too. But single men in barracks, most remarkable like you. And sometimes, if our conduct isn't all you fancy pants, Just remember men in barracks don't grow into plaster saints."

That's about the idea. You put a man in uniform and immediately you get a certain, small group which immediately assumes the soldier is a lecherous sort of person who must be kept away from all temptation. They assume he has no character and no ability to know wrong from right.

All this causes me to burn, as I said before. The soldier does all right. He behaves better than civilians. He needs to be exuberant and gay at times to forget what his job may be.

And if they do run off the track now and then, why, "Sentry, close your eye."

The boys are good enough to die for us and I'm for encouraging them to live for us without assuming their souls must be yanked from hell fire and treating them so.

THE PARATROOP SWAGGER All soldiers, all good soldiers, have a sort of swagger. I think, though, the paratroop soldiers have the best swagger of all. I think, a feeling of superiority. That is a good thing, too. When you have got to come tumbling out of a plane at about 700 feet off the ground, you've got to believe in yourself.

Anyhow, they are a swell looking lot of soldiers and it is a pity they don't have more parades so the public generally can see what a great looking lot they are. The ones seen on liberty don't look the same as when seen in full uniform and carrying equipment.

They are not only swell looking, they are swell persons. I hope that public opinion will frown on those who want to keep them in kindergarten during the hours they aren't being taught how to kill a German, a Jap or Italian.

Frontiersmen Got No Protection Till Every Man Made It His Personal Job

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

We will win this war, because we must. We will win by developing a new mental attitude and a different state of mind. We cannot win as we are.

What is wrong with our mental attitude? From the highest to the lowest we are like the typical church member.

He feels safe and respectable because he is in the church. He has religion, but he doesn't work at it. Let the preacher and the vestrymen run things; that is their job. His business and his home; the church is a sideline. He loves it in a passive kind of way, but he doesn't get enthusiastic about it. He attends services and contributes a little money, but he does no personal work. He knows he is a sinner, but he doesn't feel in danger. Religion is something to believe in—not a job to work at.

That is the attitude of the great majority toward the war—and it is not the attitude of winners.

We can win only if all of us dedicate and consecrate ourselves to the job of winning as the missionary dedicates himself to the service of the Lord.

We must forget everything else. If the Japs were within 50 miles of our town, we would think of nothing except the necessity of stopping them. Nothing else would seem important.

Now we must have imagination enough to see the danger before it is visible. We must realize our peril, and strive as grimly and fiercely as though we were already besieged. All that we have and are must be devoted to the business of winning, for if we lose the war we lose all else.

We have not developed the right state of mind. The President says the job will be long and hard, but even he is not doing his utmost. He has not dismissed incompetents; he has not selected as his lieutenants the best men he could find. He has not become tough enough to win.

Workers in vital war industries are not doing their best. They average less than eight hours a day, including Sundays, though their grandparents worked 12 hours a day in time of peace—and thrived on it.

Production alone cannot win. Wealth and resources cannot win. Nothing can win without the right national spirit—a devoted singleness of purpose,

Dudley Glass

When the woman who vowed before the altar some years ago to love, cherish and help support me through better and worse deserted me four weeks ago and went to gallivanting around New York and points adjacent I foresaw one gleam of sunshine in the horizon. Or thought I did. But alas! Who can count on anything? My idea was that for the duration of her absence I would have ash trays. And I mean ash trays and plenty of them. An ash tray or its equivalent in every spot not occupied by a foot stool or an antique chair.

While she was packing up for departure I wandered stealthily around the shack, counting ash trays. Oh yes, I have plenty of them. I'll bet I have a million of them, many bearing the names of swank hotels which had inadvertently found their way into my luggage in previous years.

I also checked up on saucers,

Ash Trays: Everywhere But Nowhere

small, middle-sized and large. Saucers make excellent ash trays. I counted several dozen of those. The Mistress of the Manor departed on the midnight choo-choo. First thing I did on reaching home was to search the pantry for ash trays.

I placed them on every table, on every desk, on my bed—in the middle of an ornamental brass tray to avoid cremation. I put them on the mantels, beside the radio, on the floor. I indulged in an orgy of ash trays. And then I started in on saucers.

In keeping what is so unhappily called Bachelor's Hall it is my habit to brew coffee upon arising. Brewing coffee involves smoking a cigaret, moving between the refrigerator, the sink, the kitchen cabinet and the gas stove. I do not care for ashes in my cream, my coffee or my caneloupe.

All Fixed Up

What could be simpler, I asked myself, than to place an ash tray or a saucer or a soup plate or a coal scuttle, within elbow reach of every spot I frequent? I shall proceed to do that very thing. I have been informed, more than once, that cigaret ashes do not improve rugs, do not tend to destroy moths, do not lessen household work.

But the best laid plans of mice and men—you know the rest.

The next day our maid arrived to spend the day and kind of clean up things.

I departed for the office and returned at sunset, determined to settle down with a detective story, a fresh carton of cigarets and so many ash trays I could toss a lighted butt into the air and it couldn't miss coming down.

Says you! My living room contained two ash trays, both toy size, in places where no human being would look for them.

Tired but determined, I gathered up a sufficient number of ash trays and distributed them again. For two days I was happy. They piled full of stumps and ashes and burned matches, but others were at hand. Then the maid returned, to clean up again after me and the dog.

What's the Use?

"Woman," I said to her, sternly. "Change the sheets if you desire. Wash whatever dishes may need it. Use the vacuum cleaner—after I'm out of the house. Wash the window curtains. Clean out the attic. Tear down the ceiling and call a man to do it over. But you just empty these ash trays and put them back where you found them. Do you grasp that?"

"Yas suh," she said. "I always take care of your ash trays. I wash 'em nice."

"Yes, you wash 'em nice," I retorted. "But do you ever put them back? Do you think I care to spend my life standing in the pantry and flipping ashes into a tray on the top shelf?"

You know the answer. She agreed to everything—and meant it. But when I came home that evening there was only one ash tray in sight.

Thank goodness it is summer time. I have moved out into the back yard, next to the fish pool. There are no fish in the fish pool so it makes a convenient receptacle for ashes and cigaret butts. I shall remain there until the Light of My Life returns. And after that I know there'll be no ash trays.

Verily, life is full of sorrows.

Savannah Named On Coastal Board

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation announced today appointment of a Jacksonville coastwise and intercoastal carrier's advisory committee, to co-operate with ODT on port and shipping problems in the Jacksonville, Fla., area.

Gordon Duke, of the Southeastern Petroleum Corporation, Jacksonville, was named committee chairman. Other members are Frank W. Spencer, Atlantic Towing Company, Savannah; J. H. Coppedge, of Jacksonville; Cyril E. Hart, of West Palm Beach, and Elmore Daniels, Daniels Towing Company, Miami.

U. S. Air Force Safety Record Best in World

Army Starts an Intensive Campaign To Reduce Accidents Further.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The War Department reported today that the Army Air Forces have the best safety record of all the world's military air organizations, with an accident rate 68 per cent below the Army's rate for 1930-40 Army average.

Records show, the department said, that better than 80 per cent of the air force accidents are caused by personnel failure and special attention is being paid to takeoffs and landings in an intensive campaign to lower the accident rate as the bulk of the accidents involved them.

Secretary of War Stimson also made the following announcements:

A battalion of Norwegian soldiers, including citizens of Norway living in this country and Americans who speak Norwegian, will be organized at an unset date at Camp Ripley, Minn., to serve with the Army's ground forces. The secretary noted that the battalion of Norwegian nationals would "demonstrate to the Norwegian people all over the world the determination of the United States to restore their government to its rightful sovereignty."

Soldier first aid kits now contain five grams of crystalline sulfanilamide each for sprinkling on infection as well as tablets of sulfanilamide to be taken internally. The Army needs nearly 20,000 additional doctors by the end of this year and is setting up nine new medical officers' recruiting boards to enlist them.

One such medical officers' recruiting board already is operating in each state and the War Department now has authorized creation of two more in New York, Pennsylvania and California, and one more in Massachusetts, Ohio and Illinois.

Steel has been substituted for brass in the manufacture of artillery cartridge cases, saving enormous amounts of copper for other war uses, the announcement said.

Experiments on a similar substitution of small arms ammunition have shown encouraging results, said the announcement, and the Army also has developed the use of pressed steel for various articles formerly produced by forging, casting or automatic screw ma-

Gallup Poll Reveals:

U. S. Favors Immediate Invasion

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., July 16.—Nazi military successes in Russia have given rise to renewed demands both here and in England for a second front against Hitler in Europe.

The decision rests, of course, with military leaders, but when and if they make such a move it will be closely in line with the ideas of the nation's armchair strategists, barber shop generals and country store tacticians whose military judgment on such matters as airpower has, incidentally, proved better than that of the military experts.

At any rate, the consensus of amateur opinion in the United States, as well as in Canada and Britain, is that the Allies should undertake a large-scale invasion of Europe with what equipment they now have rather than wait until they are stronger.

Some Favor Waiting. This is by no means a unanimous opinion. About one-third of the country counsels a waiting policy in order to accumulate greater military strength and reserves for the blow.

As measured by an Institute survey, the attitude of the country shapes up as follows on the second front issue:

Attempt attack now 48%
Wait till we are stronger 24%
Undecided 18%

A recent poll by the Canadian Institute of Public Opinion showed that approximately half (46 per cent) of all Canadians interviewed were in favor of the opening of a second front now, while 18 per

Good Morning

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

CACTUS & COCKLEBURR.

There was a typical noon-hour group of farmers gathered under the big tree in front of the general mercantile establishment of Cactus & Cocklebur.

Chollie had read them the morning paper while their mules cooled off. Laying-by time in north Georgia corn fields takes something out of man and mule, what with corn higher than your head, and little air stirring. An hour of rest after dinner is well enough for man and beast.

Chollie had read them the stories from Moscow, Cairo, London, Washington, Berlin and other world centers, and had answered their questions with his usual "I don't know any more about it than you do."

One thing I do know we've got to raise all the food we can, save all of it we can, buy all the war bonds we can, send in all the scrap iron and rubber we can, bolster up our boys in the service all we can, and, above all, pray as we never prayed before.

Cas Cactus, who sat in his old straight-back chair, with its cowhide bottom, leaning against the porch of the store, smoked his corncob pipe, and nodded his head.

Just as Marsh Mullins got up, and suggested that "We'd as well catch up and git back to the bottoms," a sport model car turned off the near-by highway and pulled up in front of the store.

A horn-rimmed bespectacled gentleman stepped from the car, spoke to the group, and asked if the establishment had any coco-colas. Cas invited the gentleman in, serving him a frosted bottle of the "delicious and refreshing" drink. The crowd eyed the attractive car, bearing a government tag, and waited for someone to "break the ice" as to who the stranger was, etc.

Coming back to his car, the gentleman processing, with a resultant saving in machine hours, labor and expense.

The department said that Germany, with much smaller supplies of copper than the United States, also has been experimenting with steel cartridge cases for artillery shells, but "it is believed that this country is in advance in this development."

man turned to Chollie Cocklebur, who reclined in his rolling chair, and inquired: "Have our investigators of farm wages reached your community yet?"

"Nossir," replied Chollie. "We've had several covies of investigators lately, but I don't recall anyone in this immediate community on the subject of farm wages."

Truth of the business is, we don't have enough hired help in this section to amount to anything. What few people we did have who worked for wages have all gone off to the war jobs. These men you see here in this crowd do practically all the work that is done on the small farms of this neighborhood, together with the help of their womenfolks and children."

"Women and children working in the fields?" inquired the stranger. "Is that allowed?" The group cut their eyes around to one another and to Chollie.

"Well, sir, I wouldn't say 'allowed.' We are the old-fashioned sort up here, where folks still cling to the idea of working for a living in and do whatever they can to keep things going. There ain't no compulsion in it, if you understand."

"I see," said the stranger, glancing at his wrist watch, and driving away.

WPB Imposes Sharper Restrictions On Extensions of Electric Service

CONSULT US BEFORE YOU PLAN ANY CHANGES

Because the need to conserve critical materials is growing more and more acute, the War Production Board has imposed new and even sharper restrictions on extensions of electric service.

Without approval in advance by the WPB:

1. We are not permitted to supply electric service to any NEW home or other new building now under construction, unless the foundations had been completed by July 1 and the necessary line extension is not more than 250 feet.

2. We are not permitted to expand our electric facilities on the street to provide additional service to EXISTING buildings, unless the buildings were completely wired for it by July 1 and the necessary line extension is not more than 250 feet.

The WPB's stated policy is not to permit exceptions unless they are for service to military establishments or war production plants; service essential to public health and safety; service to specifically authorized housing projects; service for street lighting extensions in connection with war production plants or military establishments.

To avoid difficulties and possible disappointment, won't you consult us in advance about any change in your electric service?

If you are planning to move, we urge you especially to find out from our office whether you can use your electric range and electric water heater at the new location. Don't take anything for granted, but get the latest information. We will be glad to help you in any way we can within the limitations imposed on us by the government.

County Votes $21,876 for Siren Service

Air-Raid Devices To Be Used Outside Incorporated Areas.

The Fulton county commissioners yesterday voted an appropriation of $21,876 for an air-raid warning service outside incorporated areas, to consider a plan for sale by the county of gas to county employees, and gave permission for the removal of street car rails between Buckhead and the county line.

Money for the air-raid siren system will be turned over to the Civilian Defense committee and will be paid temporarily from the interest account on tax anticipation notes.

The proposal to put the county back into the gasoline business developed after Chief George Mathieson, of the county police, and Marshal J. M. George, of the civil court, asked an increase of one-half a cent a mile for gasoline in the cars used by their departments. It was said that J. M. Mount had asked an increase of a cent a mile.

It was then suggested that the county reopen the gas stations it operated before the present mileage system was adopted and sell gas to employees only. It was said that under this plan, gas could be sold two cents a gallon cheaper than the prevailing price.

The plan was referred to the legal department for study, after doubt was expressed that it would meet the approval of the rationing authorities.

The commissioners then voted to turn over the county's title to the Buckhead-county line street car line, previously given to the county by the Georgia Power Company, to the federal government.

Having lost money on the county-sponsored removal of the rails from Buckhead to the city limits, the commission was reluctant to undertake the lifting of the remaining 375 tons of steel. The federal government then offered to sponsor the removal and use WPA labor, and the county now agrees to relinquish its title to the line.

A proposal by Chairman Troy Chastain to pay $500 to Henry Maxwell, golf architect, for designing a number of holes at the Adams park golf course was held up, after Commissioner Glover Hailey objected that the county could not afford such a payment unless the project produced enough revenue to pay for itself.

Peterson Asks Cobb Name Be Put on Ballot

Congress Committee To Again Review Case of Candidate.

SAVANNAH, Ga., July 16.—(AP) A wire requesting that the name of Albert L. Cobb, Savannah attorney, be placed on the Democratic primary ballot as his opponent, was sent last night by Congressman Hugh Peterson, of the first district of Georgia, to the congressional Democratic committee of that district.

Cobb was disqualified by the committee last Saturday when a friend's check covering $100 of his $500 entrance fee was returned to the Savannah bank on which it was drawn marked "insufficient funds."

John R. Powell Jr., of Swainsboro, chairman of the committee, said he would ask that body to review the case and if the action was favorable he would accept Cobb's cash in the sum of $100 to complete the entrance fee required.

Funeral Near Goggins For Luke H. Brown

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.

GOGGINS, Ga., July 16.—Funeral services for Luke H. Brown, 69, prominent Lamar county farmer who died at home near Liberty Hill Tuesday, were held at Marvin Methodist church Wednesday, conducted by his pastor, the Rev. W. A. Pilgrim. Interment was in the cemetery near the church.

Mr. Brown, the son of the late John P. Brown and Mrs. Sarah Jane Harrison Brown, was born and reared in the home in which he died. His father was one of the 49ers who went from Pike county, now Lamar, in the gold rush to California.

In addition to his wife, the former Miss Minnie Merritt Brown, he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Oscar L. Weaver Jr., of Jackson, and Miss Minnie Merritt Brown, of Camp Wheeler; two brothers, W. T. S. Brown, of East Point, and Phil Brown, of Lamar county; one sister, Mrs. James M. Sims Sr., of Lamar county.

Faucet Leak? Little Woman Can Fix It, Thanks to the War

By AMY PORTER.

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP) Does the faucet leak? Just call the little woman. She knows how to fix it.

Does the radiator sputter? Is the drain pipe clogged? What about that broken chair? Never mind, call the handy-woman-around-the-house. She can fix almost anything.

This happy state of affairs will soon be a reality in New York households, for women are learning how it's done in the new American Women's Voluntary Services course in home repairs.

The classroom, where 30 women studied the manual arts, was a bedroom, with hammering, sawing, painting, going on all at once. One group practiced removing spots—including ink spots—from rugs; another group, supervised by a carpenter, repaired a window screen.

One woman wielded a dangerous-looking tool called a web stretcher (price 25 cents). She was learning how to stretch web across the under side of a chair with sagging springs.

"It's wonderful," said Mrs. James J. Carroll, who commutes from Jersey City to attend. "I'm learning things which I'd known them sooner I wouldn't have lost my temper so often."

Comedy Starring Rosalind Russell, Fred MacMurray Opens Today.

"Take a Letter, Darling," the delightful comedy about a woman executive and a male secretary, starring Rosalind Russell and Fred MacMurray, moves to the Capitol theater today for a hold-and neither would my husband." One woman couldn't wait to get home and adjust a rattling door. She said her husband had fixed it three times but it wouldn't stay fixed.

It took a war to get such a course started. The object, as announced by AWVS officials, is "to promote the conservation of critical materials and of labor through teaching the proper care and repair of household equipment."

Skilled craftsmen—electricians, plumbers, carpenters, cabinet makers, upholsterers—teach the different subjects, without pay, and the women are so interested that every two-hour session runs on to three hours or more.

The AWVS hopes to establish similar courses in its units throughout the country.

Dolores Dee To Appear on Stage Tonight

U. S. Means To Halt 'Pirating' of Labor, McNutt Asserts

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The government means to halt the pirating of skilled workers, War Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt said today, even if it has to take war contracts away from employers who engage in the practice.

Goal Is Near In United War Funds Drive

Sum of $3,823 Expected by Tonight To Meet $354,052 Quota.

Atlanta's contribution for our fighting men, our Allies and their peoples this morning stands at $923,400, according to the War Work Fund drive yesterday, which is going right through the roof.

Today marks the end of the campaign, funds from which will be distributed among 10 war agencies. The quota is $354,052 from Fulton, DeKalb and Rockdale counties, which have combined in the greater Atlanta drive.

In reports yesterday from initial gifts, business, office buildings, general canvass and county districts divisions, additional pledges of $32,238 were announced.

The board said in effect that workers were entitled to a 15 per cent increase, based on increased living costs, between January, 1941, and May, 1942, and could not expect more than that from the board except under certain specified extraordinary circumstances. The policy was based on the assumption that all seven points of the President's anti-inflation program, announced last April, would be made operative and would stabilize the cost of living.

The CIO United Steel Workers had asked for $1 a day increase. The board, however, largely granted the union's demands. It awarded a maintenance of membership clause, check-off of union dues and the minimum daily wage guarantee.

The board expressed the opinion it had created a yardstick for the determination of other disputes before it.

George W. Taylor, vice chairman of the board, wrote the wage opinion and outlined these guiding principles on which the board decided the case:

"1. For the period from January 1, 1941, to May 1, 1942, the cost of living increased by 15 per cent, followed a long period of relative stability, the cost of living increased by about 15 per cent, after which group of workers averaged less than a 15 per cent increase in hourly wage rates during or immediately preceding or following this period, their established peace-time standards have been broken. If any group of workers average a 15 per cent wage increase or more, their established peace-time standards have been preserved."

"2. Any claim for wage adjustments for the groups whose peace-time standards have been preserved can only be considered in terms of the inequalities or of the substantial precedents specifically referred to in the President's message of April 27, 1942."

"3. Those groups whose peace-time standards have been broken are entitled to have these standards re-established as a stabilization factor."

"4. The board, as directed by the President in his April 27 message, will continue to give due consideration to inequalities and the elimination of standards of living."

Approximately 20 wage disputes, still pending before the board, were certified prior to the stabilization date of April 27. The

NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—The stock market's inflation powder was dampened a bit today and the recovery offensive for many leaders ran into profit selling opposition.

Reports the administration planned to urge speedy wage-price legislation as a means of stemming inflation costs inspired a little liquidation at the start, although this was absorbed without much difficulty by those who felt the inflationary theme still was a paramount market prop. Stattered bidding came in after mid-day and final plus and minus marks were pretty evenly divided.

Steeles were able to maintain their stability in the face of the 44c daily wage increase granted "little steel" workers. Actually, most in Wall Street had expected a 50-cent compromise. While Bethlehem finished off 5-3/4, small advances were held by U. S. Steel, Republic and Youngstown Sheet.

The war news, as in the past week or so, provided nothing much in the way of speculative or investment inspiration.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 1 1/2 at a point of 37.3, although of 571 individual issues traded, 193 were down, 189 up and 189 unchanged. Transfers totaled 265,390 shares compared with 385,480 yesterday.

Bonds were a shade uneven. Commodities dipped in related response to the house passage of the below-parity bill. At Chicago, wheat was off 1-1/2 to 1-7/8 cents a bushel, corn 3-8 to 1 lower and hogs steady to down 10 cents.

Arkansas Power & Light preferred was up 3/4 on a single sale in the curb. Lesser improvement was registered for American Gas, Fairchild Engine and Aluminum of America. In arrears were Humble Oil, Gulf Oil, Pennroad and Northern States Power "A".

Sanctions might impede production "momentarily or for a long time," he conceded, but he added that the manpower commission has "reached an agreement with WPB" and that WPB as well as the Army and Navy—which do the actual contracting—were all represented on his commission.

Wage control would implement his efforts, McNutt said, and he predicted some form of wage control might be expected "in the near future."

A priority system to guarantee that the most essential war industries get first choice from the available labor supply is a matter for the future, but is not yet necessary, the former Indiana Governor said.

For the time being efforts to recruit labor from less essential industries to more essential ones will take the form of an "appeal to a man's patriotism to devote his skill to the industries which will help most to win the war."

Incidentally, McNutt said, he had predicted some form of wage control might be expected "in the near future."

Unpleasant Surprise For Rommel Seen In Week or Two

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(INS)—An unpleasant "surprise" for the Axis within the next week or two was predicted today by New Zealand Minister Walter Nash as spokesman for President Roosevelt's Pacific War Council.

Tourist Camp Closing Upheld By High Court

Richmond County House Was Padlocked in April.

A court order padlocking the Big Oak tourist camp in Richmond county as a house of prostitution was sustained by the Georgia supreme court yesterday.

The unanimous ruling, however, was on a technicality rather than on a 1917 statute on which Solicitor General George Hains, of Augusta, said, in arguing the case, that he was pinning his hopes of combatting effectively the war-aggravated problem of venereal disease.

Pointing out the bill of exceptions in which Grady L. Carpenter, operator of the camp, appealed the closing order contained only the general exception the judgment "is contrary to law," the justices said:

"Where the only judgment rendered by the court without a jury, the rule is that a statement in the bill of exceptions that the plaintiff excepts to said judgment as being contrary to law is not a valid assignment of error, will be considered by this court and the writ of error will be dismissed."

Judge A. L. Franklin, of the Richmond superior court, in a decision last April, ordered the camp closed until further action by the court and directed that all property on the premises be seized and sold by the sheriff.

He described the camp, located at Wheeler road and Boy Scout road, as "a filthy cesspool of indecency."

In presenting the case before the supreme court, Hains contended that a 1917 Georgia law empowered the courts to padlock houses of prostitution. Attorney Jeff D. Curry, representing Carpenter, maintained his client might be enjoined from maintaining a house of ill repute, but that the house itself and other property could not be seized or closed indefinitely.

CAPITAL SPEAKER. MONROE, Ga., July 16.—James W. Riley, representative of the OPA, from Washington, addressed the Monroe Rotary Club at its regular meeting this week on "Rationing." Robert Lee Nowell Jr., president, presided.

GAINESVILLE RESIDENT TELLS OF HAPPY RELIEF POW-O-LIN GAVE; STRONGLY ENDORSES IT

"I Felt So Stuffy and Smothered After Eating I Could Hardly Get My Breath," Declares Mrs. Redding. Says Pow-o-lin Best Medicine She Ever Saw.

Practicing Pow-o-lin for the wonderful relief it brought, Mrs. Ethel Redding, well-known resident of 524 High St., Gainesville, Ga., declares:

"I don't believe you could have found anyone in Georgia who suffered as I did from indigestion and gas pressure that sometimes made me feel I couldn't get my breath. Everything I ate hurt me until I didn't care if I ever went to the table again. My nerves were jumpy and I often lay awake at night worrying about myself. Stubborn constipation filled my intestines with waste that made me feel aching, and I had to take so many strong laxatives I felt weakened and let down nearly all the time. No matter what I tried, I couldn't get the relief I so sorely needed and I was just about to give up hope of finding a medicine that would relieve my distress."

"The very first bottle of Pow-o-lin brought me grand relief. I feel more like eating now, am into battle immediately basic forces and reserves of its army to advance far more slowly than previously and to suffer in the course of intensive fighting irreparable losses in manpower and equipment."

At the northern extremity of the exploding front, the Red army fought in bloody fury and with success to smash German and Hungarian attacks to encircle the rail center from the northwest and southwest.

Fighting was intense at Voronezh, some 60 miles in suburban streets, and the Red army was counterattacking at many positions and generally holding the invaders close to the sluggish upper Don, even forcing them to defensive battles in one sector.

Millero Sector Critical. The Millero sector, due east of Lysichansk and on the Moscow-Rostov railway, appeared to be the most critical. A German thrust to the great industrial city of Stalingrad developed to the north around fallen Boguchar. The Nazis appeared to be driving close to the wide bend of the central Don in this area of gently rolling slopes, so favorable for the tank force.

Russian dispatches said the German positions beyond Millero placed them beyond the important industrial town of Voroshilovgrad. This did not mean necessarily that the town or Stalingrad were in German hands since the offensive might have followed the familiar plan of encirclement and by-passing for later reduction.

Except in the two-week-old fighting at Voronezh, the intensity in the rich, black farm lands between the Donets and Don rivers. The German advance not only was impeding the oil treasures of the Caucasus—some 800 miles beyond their immediate reach—but was wresting from the Soviets another vital farming area of 150,000,000 acres.

The Germans are being continued relentlessly in south Russia and that Russian losses in men and material could not yet be estimated. The Russian communiqué said some Russian troops were encircled and that large fires were started in bombing attacks on Rostov. "Strong tank attacks" by the Russians in German bridgeheads on the Don at Voronezh were declared repulsed.

The crushing power of German tanks and supporting infantry were reported moving over the open terrain in the land of the Don Cossacks, but only at the cost of the most gruesome casualties. "That is a dream that has been given some currency," he stated.

Commenting on his own country's position, Chinese Foreign Minister T. V. Soong said that China's problems and need of war supplies remain about the same. He expressed hope for new benefits from the current mission of Lauchlin Currie to Chungking. Currie arrived in the Chinese capital today for conferences with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Netherlands Foreign Minister Van Kleffens, labeled "wishful thinking," Japanese claims that they have restored oil fields in the Dutch East Indies.

He said that from his personal knowledge of the way the oil wells were destroyed it was difficult to imagine that they had been repaired in such short order.

Mrs. Mature Files Suit for Divorce LOS ANGELES, July 16.—(AP)—Victor (Mr. Beautiful) Mature was charged with "gross mental and physical cruelty" in a divorce suit filed today by Martha Stephenson Mature.

Mrs. Mature, 23, widow of Orchestra Leader Hal Kemp, was granted an order tying up all of the actor's assets and salaries pending a hearing on her plea for $510 monthly alimony. His movie pay was listed as $1,000 a week. The Maturs were married only 13 months ago in New York, but have been separated five months.

Community property was listed as $25,000 cash. Mature, 27, recently joined the Coast Guard, but was permitted to continue work on a nearly completed picture.

The appearance of Hungarian troops at the southern approaches of Voronezh in a "V" formed by the confluence of the Don and Voronezh rivers led to speculation that the Germans had switched many of their best shock troops to the Boguchar and Millero sectors.

Axis Stronger in Tanks. On the north side of the Voronezh, the Red army was making progress with fierce counterattacks. But on the south, the situation was more serious because there the Germans and Hungarians had a sizable superiority in tanks.

A hint of the extent of casualties was contained in the Russian communiqué which listed 2,950 Germans killed in only three widely separated operations.

Sharp German attacks in the Kalinin and Rzhev sectors in the west of Moscow were declared repulsed with heavy German losses. Other severe fighting took place in the Bryansk Salient 200 miles south of Rzhev and 220 miles southwest of Moscow. But the German sallies were believed to be diversionary attacks ordered by the German generals to pin down Russian troops and prevent their transfer to the more crucial Don front.

Penetration Admitted. At Rzhev, where the Russians said officially two days ago that 12,000 Germans had been killed or wounded, dispatches told of the Russian defense. The German piled up a superiority in numbers of men and tanks and attacked early in July trying to encircle the defenders in the forests and

Turkish Sub Reported Sunk in Dardanelles

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—The Vichy radio today broadcast a dispatch from Istanbul saying that the Turkish submarine Saldıray, 1,200 tons, had been sunk as the result of an accident near Chanak in the Dardanelles.

Salvage vessels have been sent to the spot in the hope of refloating the boat and saving the crew of 57, the broadcast said.

swamps. This failed and the Germans were forced to fight on the roads.

The dispatch admitted the Nazis penetrated deep into the defenses, 130 miles from Moscow, with huge tank attacks under smoke screens.

"Such a mass of tanks could not be repulsed by our defenders," the account said. The Russians retreated to another district after inflicting great losses then halted the Germans before a full-fledged offensive could be developed.

Lost 1,200 prisoners when the Axis hit back.

In the coastal sector German Marshal Erwin Rommel attacked the "Hill of Jesus" ridge with dive bombers, tanks and at least 500 infantrymen, and succeeded in re-occupying some positions which Australian troops had seized last week.

But the British still clung to high ground on this sector. Rommel's attack was preceded by spectacular artillery action and it was followed by one of the heaviest dive-bombing attacks of the campaign, involving from 36 to 40 aircraft.

"Tobruk Was Beautiful." "Tobruk was beautiful compared to this," said one Aussie veteran after the dive-bombing of most northwestern British positions about ten miles from El Alamein.

Today's communique took note of this sudden increase in German air force activity, but said seven of the Nazi planes were shot down by British fighters and others damaged.

On the Allied side, heavy United States Army bombers attacked Bengasi in daylight yesterday, starting a big fire in the docks of that main enemy supply port. The RAF followed up with a night attack against both Bengasi and Tobruk.

Light bombers, fighter-bombers and fighters were out in force for Auchinleck, attacking an enemy headquarters, grounded aircraft tanks also were reported destroyed by British artillery.

The Australians holding the coastal railroad and the Tel El Eisa ridge gave ground yard by yard during the German attack on the northern sector, fighting with artillery, rifle and bayonet, and supported by South African infantry fire from the south.

teletype said, that five or six parachutes of extra large size descended near the Astor estate and the Cardinal Ruffini Military Academy at about 4:45 p. m.

All queries concerning the investigation were referred to the Rhinebeck police to Army authorities.

Officially announcing late tonight that an investigation had been launched, the public relations officer of the eastern defense command asserted in New York City that there had been no confirmation of Swenson's report.

Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation declined to say whether the FBI had joined with the Army in conducting an inquiry.

It was the second time within 10 days that a report had been received of a parachute dropping into New York state. Deputy sheriff regular Army troops and state police rushed a widespread hunt yesterday in the Glens Falls area, after residents of Athol, an Adirondack mountain village, told of seeing a parachute descend near the village.

The search apparently proved fruitless. At least half a dozen residents of Warrensburg and Athol, however, reported sighting the parachute.

The Army's statement tonight was made through an audio-telephone system for communication with the press, developed for just such emergencies and used for the first time in New York.

The eastern defense command stated:

"1. The police report has been received at this headquarters. "2. A military investigation is now under way at the scene. "3. There has been no confirmation of the report, and there is no further information available at this time."

Jap Lantern Is Found Near Scene of Blaze

FAIRFIELD, Cal., July 16.—(AP) A small lantern attached to a Japanese lantern was found in brush land near Vacaville today a few miles from the scene of an unexplained fire several days ago.

Deputy Sheriff Harry Oliver said the contraption was brought in by a rancher, Vern Christopher, who discovered it in Pleasant Valley.

The balloon, collapsed and torn, was slightly larger and of heavier material than the toy variety. The lantern was made of paper and cardboard. It evidently once contained a candle, which had burned out.

Pleasant Valley is in the foothills of a low range of timber. There is no military objective in the vicinity.

Darden Makes Public Letter To Talmadge

The only thing Mr. Redwine denies is Mrs. Edwards did not receive the check. The only reason Mrs. Edwards did not receive the check and cash it is because Allen Darden and his agents to the people of Georgia and stopped the check.

Cites His Record. I have rendered the best service I am capable of to the state and the citizens of Georgia. My records in the department speak for themselves. Edwin Thrasher Jr., the state auditor, knows of our efforts to improve the service of our department and encouraged us in our efforts, but the Governor has either ignored or refused to approve.

I positively refuse to be drawn into any further controversy. The Governor and his political advisers will continue to dodge and duck and make political capital. The whole trouble is, the ghost of thousands of former friends whom he has betrayed are haunting him. You know, when a Governor becomes so desperate to carry a point that he will stoop to forgery, that man, indeed, is to be pitied. The Governor confessed, but not until he was caught and confronted with actual proof, that he changed the appointment of Robert Miller R. Bell of Milledgeville, Ga. I refer you to his confession in the Atlanta papers under date of July 20, 1941.

I am perfectly willing to rely upon the common sense and integrity of the people of Georgia to separate the chaff from the wheat. I believe you appreciate a servant of the people being honest and attempting to render a real service.

I am too busy working for my wife and children to be drawn into a strictly political wrangle. I am sorry this entire matter has received publicity.

ALLEN DARDEN. Wednesday Governor Talmadge looked through his desk but professed his inability to find the letter of June 2. Yesterday the appointment of W. K. (Billy) Barrett, of Augusta, as successor to Darden was announced by Revenue Commissioner Jack Forrester, while the Governor handed out copies of a letter he had received from Darden on May 7.

Text of May 7 Letter. "There was no letter of June 2," the Governor said. The letter he issued follows:

Dear Governor: I have just presented to you a check for over $484,000 for additional taxes for one company. Over $110,000 of this amount is a gift and a direct commitment to the department, as per the bulletin attached.

When the thing became a live issue, threatening to inject itself into the Georgia campaign, Governor Talmadge tried to cut himself in, as delegation members here see it, and began writing letters. He was weeks late.

Meantime, OPA officials here have explained that the price increase originally ordered by the government was designed to meet the increase in costs of transporting gasoline by rail after so many of our tankers were sunk by submarines. The additional 2 1/2 cents a gallon was to go to the cost of transportation and not to the oil companies, as charged by the Governor. The oil companies were to net the same amount they had been receiving for gasoline.

All talk about the increase being ordered to cut a melon for the producing companies was poppycock. Just costs more to move gasoline by rail than it does by ocean-borne tankers—that's all. Otherwise the oil companies would have been using the railroads all along and the present emergency would not have developed.

Practically all of the oil from the Gulf producing area formerly was transported to New York and the eastern seaboard by tankers, little or none by rail.

Under the plan announced by the senate, residents of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina will save approximately $15,500,000.

Savings to Georgia alone are estimated at $7,000,000; to South Carolina about $4,500,000 and to Florida about $4,000,000.

Argentine Steamer Reported Attacked

LISBON, Friday, July 17.—(AP) Unconfirmed reports were received here early today that the 2,991-ton Argentine freighter Argentine had been torpedoed and sunk off the Portuguese coast, with an Argentine diplomat among its three passengers and 39 crew members.

Two Romanians were said to be the other passengers. Details were lacking. Earlier two seaplanes of the Portuguese navy were made ready to take off early at dawn to search for the survivors of a ship of undisclosed nationality reported sunk in the Atlantic Thursday.

It had previously been reported without confirmation, however, that the vessel was an Argentine freighter and it appeared later she might be the Argentine.

Sommers Resigns Auto Group Post

Harry Sommers resigned yesterday at Cincinnati as president of the National Automobile Dealers' Association to become rationing officer for the southeastern division of the OPA.

Sommers also announced a January convention of the association scheduled for Cincinnati had been cancelled in co-operation with a recent conservation request by the Office of Defense Transportation.

The last meeting of the association met for a three-day discussion of wartime problems. Senator Robert A. Taft declared he would oppose a recently introduced senate bill to requisition private cars. Taft predicted gas rationing soon would extend over the entire country.

proval by the Senate Appropriations Committee of his amendment to eliminate Georgia, Florida and West Virginia from the price increase. Then he wrote Georgia delegation members urging that they do something about it.

The delegation meeting subsequently called by Representative Carl Vinson, of Milledgeville, to consider the problem met here Tuesday and decided to seek an appointment with the President for the purpose of asking his aid. Senator Russell, who already had the situation well in hand, did not even attend the delegation meeting.

Accuse Talmadge. Before the delegation could get a reply to its request for a conference with the President, Senator Russell had received the announcement from Secretary Jones that the 2 1/2 cents a gallon increase would be dropped.

Delegation members were quietly accusing Talmadge of being asleep at the switch while the real fight against the price boost was taking form here. They say he evidently didn't know anything about it until Senator Russell announced he was sponsoring a correcting amendment to the OPA bill.

Long before all of this Senator George had made a blistering speech on the floor of the senate denouncing the price increase and condemning the action of officials in ever placing Georgia in the rationing area. Although the speech of the senior senator was well publicized at the time, no word came from Talmadge until some three weeks later.

Likewise Representative Paul Brown, of Elberton, had been making vigorous protests against the discrimination.

When the thing became a live issue, threatening to inject itself into the Georgia campaign, Governor Talmadge tried to cut himself in, as delegation members here see it, and began writing letters. He was weeks late.

Meantime, OPA officials here have explained that the price increase originally ordered by the government was designed to meet the increase in costs of transporting gasoline by rail after so many of our tankers were sunk by submarines. Atlantic's Ship Toll for Week Increased to 18

Sinking of Two U. S. One Norwegian Ship Announced.

By The Associated Press. The destruction of 18 merchant vessels by enemy submarines preying on Allied shipping in Atlantic waters has been disclosed in official announcements so far this week.

The latest victims of U-boat attacks—two medium-sized United States cargo ships and a small Norwegian merchantman, announced yesterday by the Navy and included in the week's toll—raised to 376 the unofficial Associated Press count of Allied and neutral ship losses in the Atlantic area since America's entry into the war.

A single torpedo struck one of the American vessels in the Caribbean June 20, sinking her in 12 minutes. Forty-eight survivors in four lifeboats soon were separated in the heavy seas and made land at different points.

300-Mile Voyage. One of the boats, said Captain Peter G. Winsens, of Bayside Hills, Long Island, New York, sailed more than 300 miles in five days. One man, the radio operator, was reported missing.

Twenty-seven seamen perished in the submarine-sinking of the second American merchantman in the Gulf of Mexico July 9. Five lookouts were on watch at the moment the first torpedo struck. Ten seconds later, the second crashed into the vessel, causing a burst of flames.

Many of the crew who were asleep below decks were killed in the explosions, but 15 others managed to reach deck and dived overboard. Swimming to a burning lifeboat, they extinguished the flames and beat the boat to row ashore. A fishing vessel sighted their fire on the beach and took them to port.

Vichy Rejects F. D. R.'s Plans For Warships

Squadron at Alexandria Ordered To Defend Self Against British.

VICHY, Unoccupied France, July 16.—(AP)—The flat rejection of President Roosevelt's two proposals for removal of nine interned French warships from Alexandria was announced today by the French government simultaneously with a protest against the assignment of two U. S. military representatives to the Fighting French Committee of General Charles de Gaulle.

The government said the warship proposals were rejected as "contrary to the honor and interests of France" and disclosed that the interned squadron had been ordered to defend itself with all the means at its disposal in the event the British attempted to destroy it.

President Roosevelt warned earlier this month that the British would be entirely justified in destroying the warships to keep them out of Axis hands if they refused to leave Alexandria in the event the British so ordered.

On this point, the French note sent July 13 concluded by saying: "By exposing these dismantled (French) warships to attack by British forces President Roosevelt would assume a responsibility, the extreme gravity of which the French government must once more underscore."

Of the assignment of two U. S. officers, Admiral Harold R. Stark and Brigadier General Charles L. Bolte, to liaison in London with De Gaulle headquarters, the Vichy government said this "constitutes an attack on the sovereignty of France."

(A reliable source in Washington said the Vichy note of protest did not call for any action on the part of this government.)

BEST—Major Rex W. LeFevre, former assistant city chief of construction, poses with the award which his command, the 564th Signal Air Warning Battalion, won in Saturday morning inspections at Drew Field.

Rex LeFevre Writes Success Story in Army

His Crack Battalion Is Setting Pace for Other Units.

Major Rex W. LeFevre, who, as assistant city chief of construction in charge of streets supervised laying of many miles of paving in Atlanta, is writing a success record as commanding officer of the 564th Signal Air Warning Battalion at Base Air Base, Drew Field, Fla., according to advices received in Atlanta yesterday.

He is president of the Officers' Candidate Board at his new assignment, and has a crack unit which is setting the pace for other units. His battalion was recently awarded the "best battalion" flag for weekly Saturday morning inspections.

Since 1924 Major LeFevre has been affiliated with the 179th Field Artillery, and in 1941 he was stationed at Camp Blanding, taking part in both the Louisiana and Carolina maneuvers. He was sent to Drew Field on December 20, 1941.

Noted Singer, Wife Were Jailed; Deny Accusations.

By ED BRIDGES.
CALHOUN, Ga., July 16.—(AP)—Quietly and slowly, famed Negro Tenor Roland Hayes asserted today he was beaten and he and his wife jailed by Rome (Ga.) police, and the charge of the beating was promptly denied by the Rome chief.

The graying, slightly-built Negro related his story at his farm home in a near-by north Georgia valley where he works and relaxes between concert seasons. He also has a home in Brookline, Mass.

The incident started, Hayes said, when his wife was "put out" of a Rome shoe store last Saturday after a clerk had asked her to move from a seat near the front to the store's rear.

"She told the clerk it was cooler where she was and that she wanted to be waited on there for a pair of shoes for our daughter, Africa," he continued.

Saw Arrest.
Africa (pronounced Afreka) witnessed her parents' arrest.

In Rome, Manager Fred Higgins, of the Higgins Shoe Store, said he reminded Hayes' wife that she was born and reared in the south (Chattanooga, Tenn.) and knew the rules of segregation of Negroes in public places, in this section.

"I asked her NOT to make a scene and when she continued talking loudly, I asked her to go elsewhere to buy. I get the leading Negro trade in Rome and will be glad for anyone to consult them about how I treat Negro customers."

"As Hayes' wife left the store, she told the clerk who asked her to move back 'Hitler ought to get you.'"

Chief of Police Charles I. Harris flatly denied Hayes was beaten. He said after an investigation, he made NO case against the singer and added that a $50 check posted by Hayes for release of himself and wife was returned. Hayes said he had received this check.

The 55-year-old native Georgia Negro said he went to the store after his wife told him she had been ejected "to rectify any trouble that might have been caused" and that after he left the store, a policeman "caught me in the belt and dragged me back to the store."

Denies Cursing.
He continued:

"The policeman asked the store manager if I was the man and he said yes. I protested I had done nothing and I denied that my wife had cursed. I told them my wife didn't curse. When I said that, a man not in officers' garb gave me all he had on the jaw. Then I was dragged to the patrol car, handcuffed between two officers. I was struck again by this man not in uniform, who leaned through a window to hit me.

"At the police station I came to my wife's defense, repeating that she had not cursed anyone. That only set off more beating by the officers. My wife and I were put in a cell and our little girl left on the outside. Finally the chief came and asked if I wanted to make bond. I said certainly I did, that I had done nothing. I posted a check for $50 and we were released."

Kicking Charged.
Store Manager Higgins said Hayes kicked the arresting officers on the shins, that he shouted "You can't arrest me, I have done nothing. I am Roland Hayes, the concert singer, you have no right to lay a hand on me."

Sighing, and saying he wanted to forget the incident, Hayes said what worried him most was that his daughter had to experience the ordeal.

Admitting his wife told the store clerk "This is no time to talk about racial prejudice and segregation, Hitler ought to have you," the singer recalled that Hitler had troubled him once before. In the mid-twenties, when the Nazi Fuehrer was rising to power, Hayes went to Germany to give concerts.

"The Hitler party, then called the National party, said it would not think of letting a Negro sing the songs of Germany's great composers and poets. They said all that a Negro brought to their mind was a Georgia cotton patch."

He added: "I am not bitter toward anyone and the humiliation is on the other side. I am only ashamed that this should happen

Dogs That Snore and Stomp Around in Shoes—Some Noise!

By SETH MOSELEY.
NEW YORK, July 16.—(AP)—First it was the snoring Bronx bulldog. Then it was the pretty lady reportedly too noisy with her 4 a. m. hot dog parties. Now comes the story of three dogs that walk around with shoes on and incense the neighbors. The noise in New York is getting terrific.

Into court today marched Isadore Joseph Muller, 66, an artist who has painted President Roosevelt, the late Emperor Franz Josef and others. Muller complained about the noise of his neighbor, Paul Decker, who lives above him in a Central Park apartment house.

"Every night at midnight," said Muller, "I hear terrific noise—a typewriter, and all of a sudden a folding bed comes down with a bang and the radio starts playing."

"I don't make any noise," Decker told the court, "but Muller puts a heavy boot on the end of a broom and pounds away at the ceiling."

"Muller started all this trouble because he has three dogs who walk around with their shoes on. Besides, I complained to him in my native state. I love Georgia and have to come back to it every year. It is a great state and this sort of thing does not belong in it."

about putting on a dirty shirt and leaning out of the window."

"Please," said Magistrate Kross, "don't be so cantankerous."

Muller said that the dogs were a Japanese spaniel and two Mexican Chihuahuas—"so small, their legs are like fingers and you can't even put little boots on them."

The court dismissed the complaint and advised the men to get together.

Meanwhile across town in the fashionable Beekman Hill section, pretty Wynne Price, radio actress, rested from a day in court where she appeared to defend herself against a disorderly conduct charge brought by seven neighbors. They said she was much too noisy with her terrace hot dog and hamburger festivals at 4 o'clock in the case for a month.

The court adjourned the case for a month after Miss Price said she would "do away" with the complaints.

As for that bulldog, a Bronx resident hailed his neighbor to court and complained that said neighbor had a bulldog that snored and wheezed so wickedly through the night that none could sleep.

The court sent the neighbors away together, after advising the dog owner to move his pet from the bedroom to the kitchen so that the noise would at least be side-tracked.

Bombers Sink Mercy Ship on Way to Greece

Vessel Under International Red Cross Charter; 19 Drowned.

STOCKHOLM, July 16.—(INS)—The Swedish steamer Stureborg, chartered by the International Red Cross to transport food to Greece, has been sunk in the Mediterranean by bombers, it was announced tonight.

Nineteen persons were drowned and one saved, it was stated. The nationality of the attacking bombers was not given.

Georgian Promoted To Rank of Colonel

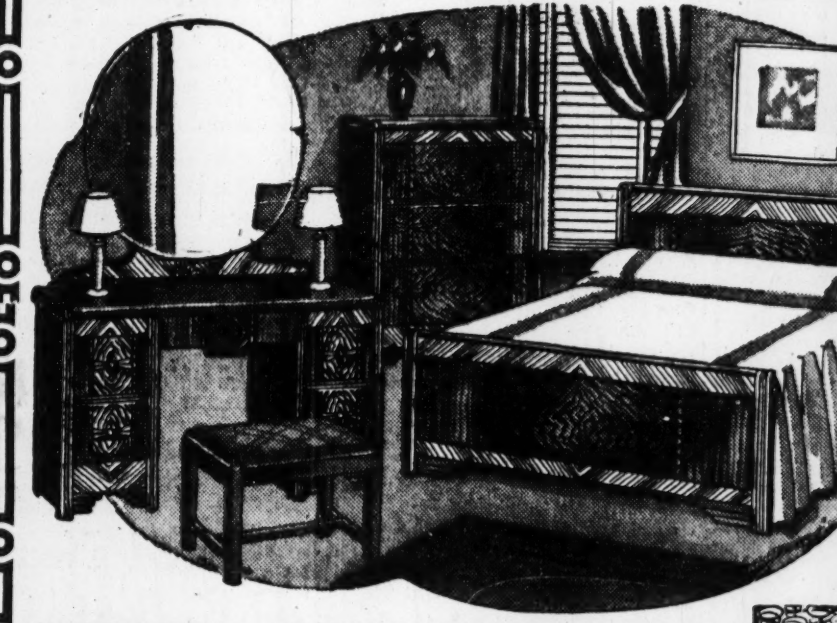

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The senate today confirmed President Roosevelt's nomination of 19 lieutenant colonels to the permanent rank of colonel.

The 19 permanent lieutenant colonels confirmed for promotion. All others, however, already held the temporary rank of colonel or higher.

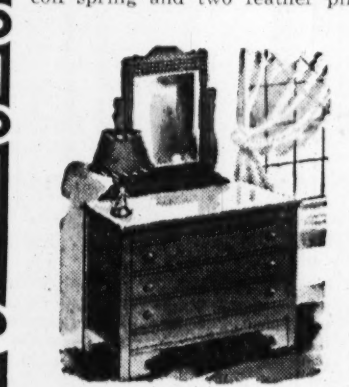

Among the 19 getting their first promotion above the grade of lieutenant colonel were: Carl Lewis Catthorn, infantry, of Savannah, Ga.

Luncheon Guests Will Wear Hats Made of Fresh Gladioli

THE MEMBERS of the Georgia Gladiolus Society will test their skill in hat making when they meet for their annual gladiolus show on Friday, July 17. The entire membership will be the guests of Rich's for luncheon in the Magnolia Room on that day, and each lady will wear for the occasion a hat of fresh gladioli that she will fashion with her own fingers.

Members of the Men's Garden Club, led by their president, Donald Hastings, will be on hand to judge the contest, and to award a prize to the lady sporting the most stylish creation.

The show, which, as you know, will be held in the Magnolia Room, will take a different form this year. It will be noncompetitive, with the flowers arranged on the stage and on the runways in the Magnolia Room. However, the flowers will be tagged with the name of the gladiolus and the name of the exhibitor. Mrs. Chester Martin and Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Brown will be in charge of staging the show, assisted by their committee, which includes Mesdames James A. Alexander, Warren Foster, R. W. Darwin and Thomas C. Harris.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the gentleman who produced the first sweet-scented gladiolus, Dr. Foreman T. McLean, will lecture in the Magnolia Room, with the public invited to hear him discuss the history and cultivation of gladioli. He will illustrate his discussion with beautiful colored slides.

Mrs. Willard Leach is the Gladiolus Society's capable president, and the trio of vice presidents includes Mrs. Clyde King, Mrs. Forest Adair III and Mrs. Edwin Haas.

A BELOVED teacher, who has been prominent in the city's school system for a number of years, dropped into a restaurant for lunch the other day. She was in the midst of enjoying her meal when she noticed that a handsome young man was eyeing her wistfully from a nearby table.

In fact, he had such an eager look and stared so intently that she began to wonder what the cause could be. Since she was so much the elder, she assumed that he was not merely flirtatious, but must be one of her former pupils, although she could not place him offhand.

Since his expectant look could not very well be ignored, she smiled and nodded at the young man as though she recognized him as an acquaintance. She received a radiant smile in return as he rose from his chair, approached her table, and identified himself by a name that she was sure she had not heard before. As, indeed, she hadn't.

"Thank heavens you spoke," said the stranger. "I noticed that you are not using your allotment of sugar. I am dying for another cup of coffee, and since I can't bear it without sugar, I wonder if you would be gracious enough to let me have yours?"

ELLEN NEWELL (MRS. WRIGHT) BRYAN is eagerly anticipating the next two weeks. And no less excited are her brother and sister, Bob and Ann Lane Newell Whaley. The reason is that the threesome will enjoy a reunion—their first in several months. Bob and Ann Lane, you know, reside in far-away Presque Isle, Maine, which is only a few miles from the Canadian border. So it isn't often that these former Atlantans are able to return for visits. And when they do, their stays are never long enough to satisfy either family or friends.

This time it is Ellen who will be the traveler. Accompanied by her two young daughters, Mary Lane and Newell, she will depart on Sunday and will reach Presque Isle on Tuesday. Husband Wright and their young son, Billy, will remain behind to "keep house" while Ellen is away. Billy, of course, will have double care, for his ailing grandmother, Mrs. Alfred Newell, plans to keep an eye on him.

Club Plans To Sew For Red Cross.

The Clara B. Cassidy Service Club of American Grove No. 217, Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle, met recently at the home of Mrs. Ida Bell Hull, 371 Park avenue. Mrs. Annie L. Byars presided. The club members decided not to hold regular meetings but to meet each Tuesday at the Red Cross headquarters from 5:30 to 9:30 o'clock to make bandages and sew.

The Clara B. Cassidy Juniors of the Forest No. 30 of American Grove No. 217, will meet on Tuesday, July 21, at 3:30 o'clock, with Carolyn Blackstone hostess. The Do-Al-Ta Team Girls of American Grove No. 217, will hold a business meeting at 8 o'clock on Tuesday, July 21, with Dorothy Banks, hostess.

Radiance Club To Hold Meeting.

The Radiance Garden Club meets on July 21 at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Ben F. Hatfield, 601 Page avenue. N. E. with Mrs. T. Burns Womac, as co-hostess. Mrs. David L. Dorward, program sponsor, announces that Mrs. H. R. Halsey will speak on "Continuous Blooms in the Garden."

Prior to the meeting Mrs. Hatfield will entertain at luncheon Mrs. Halsey, Mrs. T. F. Hemminger and Mrs. C. T. Greer, president of the Radiance Garden Club.

Howard-Franklin.

MARIETTA, Ga., July 16.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lewis Howard Jr., of Stephens, Ga., announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Lee F. Franklin, of Marietta. The wedding took place on July 9. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin are residing in Marietta.

Numerous Parties Planned in Honor Of Miss Etheridge

Miss Catharine Etheridge, whose marriage to Dr. Robert Jordan Jr. will be an interesting event of July 31, taking place at the Inman Park Baptist church, continues to be feted at a round of pre-nuptial parties. Mrs. Mason Lowrance will entertain 12 guests at luncheon today at her home on West Wesley road in Miss Etheridge's honor.

Tomorrow Mrs. J. C. Hosford will give a luncheon at her home on Boulevard drive. Invited to meet the bride-elect are her sister, Miss Mary Etheridge, Miss Virginia Drake, Miss Evelyn Bell, Miss Marion Lowe, Mrs. M. T. LaHatte Jr. and Mrs. S. F. Lowe Jr.

Miss Evelyn Bell will give a buffet supper at her home in Bolton tomorrow evening, inviting 20 guests to meet the bridal couple.

Mrs. Hal Davison has planned a luncheon for Miss Etheridge on Monday at the Piedmont Driving Club, and on Tuesday evening Mrs. Joe Burton and Mrs. H. L. Black will entertain members of the Inman Park Baptist W. M. U. at Mrs. Burton's home on North avenue.

Next Thursday Mrs. W. V. Crowley will give a tea at her home on Alton road for Miss Etheridge.

On Thursday evening, July 30, Mrs. E. R. Hays and Mrs. W. F. Bird will entertain at their home on Waverly way, following the wedding rehearsal. Their guests will include the entire wedding personnel.

Recreation Center Needed For Girls

At the recent meeting of the directors of the Churches Homes for Girls a discussion was held on the need of a recreation center for the girls in the six homes.

There were 362 girls in the homes during the past month, and these girls need a center in which swimming, games and other athletic exercises may be provided.

Many of the girls in the homes attended the dance at the Conley camp for soldiers during the month, going down in trucks provided for them by the government through Mrs. C. M. Haas and her committee.

The homes were commended by Charles M. Brown, county commissioner, who paid tribute to John Manget, who founded the homes and is the president for life. Mrs. A. B. Banks, the new entertainment mother, arranged four large parties for the girls during the past month, besides the weekly dances in the homes. Two beautiful paintings have been presented to the Bertha Reisman Home by Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, who also gave several paintings to the Martha Candler home a few years ago. Other gifts to the homes during the month were made by Mrs. Charles Winship, Mrs. Sallie K. Small, Miss Amy Mitchell and Cecil Cannon.

Brief talks were made by Edgar Craighead, J. W. Awtry, Mrs. John M. Slaton and by a few of the visitors.

To Honor Officers. Hapeville Chapter No. 179, O. E. S., will entertain in honor of Mrs. Margaret Lane, worthy grand matron; Merrill Armstrong, worthy grand patron of the grand chapter of Georgia, and their corps of grand patrons of the grand chapter at the Hapeville Masonic lodge hall at 8 o'clock this evening. The chapter will observe friends' night and friends of the members of Hapeville chapter are invited.

A program will be presented by the program chairman, Adolph Luppberger.

Writers' Club Picnic.

The Amateur Writers' Club will hold its annual picnic Saturday evening at 7 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Scruggs, 3058 Roxboro road. Members can take Oglethorpe bus, get off at Brookhaven and call CH 5120 from Harkey's drug store for a car to meet them. For particulars, call Mrs. Elizabeth Laxson, DE 2556.

El Circulo Hispano-Americano

meets at the Gas Company on Peachtree street, at 8:15 o'clock. McCord Shaver will speak on "The Life of the Great South American Poet, Ruben Dario."

ENSIGN AND MRS. THOMAS E. FOSTER JR.

Mary Ann Payne Weds Ensign Foster in Cambridge

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 16.—Miss Mary Ann Payne became the bride of Ensign Thomas E. Foster Jr., USNR, on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock in Christ church, Cambridge, Mass. The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. Gardner M. Day, the rector.

A musical program was rendered by the organist and the altar decoration were vases of white lilies.

James Culp, of Temple, Texas, roommate of the groom, was best man, and ushers were Gordon Greening, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Lewis Goldenson, of Campbell, California.

Miss Virginia Miller, of Hadden Field, N. J., was maid of honor, and the bride's only attendant. She wore a white pique dress, matching pique hat, and carried a bouquet of multicolored flowers.

The lovely bride was given in marriage by her father, Samuel Barrett Payne. She wore a flowing dress of white organdy, trimmed with tiny grosgrain ribbon bows, and her only ornament was a gold necklace, a present to her mother from her father before they were married. The prayer book she carried belongs to her godmother, and it was covered with white satin and adorned with gardenias tied with ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Foster is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Payne, and was born and reared in Bluefield, W. Va. She was educated at Beaver High school, and Hollins College, and received a bachelor of music degree, with distinction, from the University of Pennsylvania in 1940. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, social fraternity.

Ensign Foster is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Foster Sr., of 660 Lawton street, S. W., Atlanta, Ga. He received his education in Atlanta elementary schools, Boys' High school, Emory University and University of Pennsylvania. He is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity and is a member of Capitol View Masonic lodge. He received his commission as ensign USNR in May, 1941, and is attending Navy Supply Corps school at Harvard University.

The bride's mother wore a white silk dress, tiny white straw hat and her flowers were American Beauty roses. After the ceremony, the wedding party was entertained at supper at the Commander hotel. The table was beautifully decorated with flowers, and the center piece was a wedding cake, which the bride and groom cut.

Ensign and Mrs. Foster are residing at the Commander hotel, in Cambridge, Mass., until he completes his studies, the latter part of July.

Stephens College Alumnae, of Atlanta, will entertain with a luncheon in the Empire Room of the Biltmore hotel today at 12:30 o'clock. The affair will honor President James M. Wood and students from Atlanta and surrounding towns who will enter Stephens in September.

Presiding at the luncheon will be Miss Barbara Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell Black, who was graduated from Stephens in June. Among the other hostesses will be Misses Nelle E. Doyal, Elizabeth George, Edwina Macon, Virginia Nelson, Amanda Jane Noland, Rosemarie Phelan, Vernie Margaret Prather, Sarah Spencer, Mary B. Whitlock, Austina Will, Rochelle Williams and Miss Martha Ann Woolman, all of whom were students at Stephens this past year.

Miss Ann Sorency, executive secretary of the national alumnae association of the college, will also attend.

LIEUTENANT AND MRS. CHARLES BAXTER JONES JR.

Miss Block and Lieut. Jones Marry at Church Ceremony

Miss Julia Lowry Block became the bride of Lieutenant Charles Baxter Jones Jr., U. S. A., of Macon, at a brilliant ceremony taking place last evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church. The ceremony was impressively performed by Dr. William V. Gardner, pastor, in the presence of a fashionable assemblage of relatives and friends.

Dr. Charles Sheldon presented the musical program. Stately palms formed the background for the alabaster urn filled with Easter lilies which beautified the center of the altar. Pedestal baskets holding Easter lilies flanked the urn, and heirloom crystal candelabra held white tapers. The pews were marked with white satin ribbon bows and streamers.

Charles Baxter Jones Sr., was best man for his son. Ushers were John Ashley Jones, Henry Porter, uncle of the bride; Dr. Perrin Nicolson, Oley Mitchell, Dr. Stephen Barnett, Dr. Crawford Barnett, Thomas K. Glenn, Jack Glenn, F. P. Smith and Robert H. Jones.

Frank Jones, of Macon; John Ellis, Count Gibson Jr., Jack Talbot and Rucker Todd, of Kingsport, Tenn., were groomsmen. Miss Roberta Jones, of Macon, sister of Lieutenant Jones, was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Misses Mary Virginia McConnell, Margaret Clarke, Mary Ellen Orme, Martha Merritt, Helen Randall and Miss Frances McKee, of Raleigh, N. C. Misses Julia Miller and Julia McCullough were flower girls. The flower girls and attendants wore pink net dresses posed over pink tulle, fashioned with sweetheart necklines and bouffant skirts. They wore rock crystal necklaces, the gifts of the bride, and carried bouquets of pale pink camellias and blue delphinium.

Lovely Blond Bride.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, E. Bates Block, with whom she entered the church. Her patrician beauty was enhanced by her ivory satin wedding gown, the yoke being made of priceless real lace belonging to her grandmother, the late Mrs. J. H. Porter, and to Mrs. E. Bates Block, mother of the bride. The bouffant skirt was caught up in the front and on the sides with clusters of orange blossoms, to disclose the real lace petticoat, and the skirt graduated into a graceful train.

The tulle veil, bordered with real lace, was fastened to the bride's golden hair with a real lace coronet. She wore ivory lace mitts belonging to her great-grandmother, the late Mrs. William Lowry, and carried a real lace handkerchief belonging to Mrs. Emma Lowry Burr, her cousin. The bride carried a bouquet of white orchids and swainsons, and wore a jeweled cross and chain, which are heirlooms in her family. The bride and groom knelt upon a white satin prie-dieu to receive their blessing.

Mrs. Block, mother of the bride, wore a pale blue lace gown and her flowers were pink orchids. Mrs. Charles Baxter Jones, of Macon, mother of the groom, was gowned in white lace and wore purple orchids on her shoulder.

Mrs. Block entertained at a reception on the terrace of the Piedmont Driving Club after the ceremony. Mrs. Stiles Burroughs and Mrs. Henry Clay Burr kept the bride's book. Assisting in entertaining were Misses Evelyn Block, Betty du Bose, Peggy Dutton, Lillian Klein, Mary Ann Osborne, Lils Young, Katherine Tift and Eloise Ellis.

The lace-covered bride's table was adorned with the gold loving cup presented to the late Colonel Robert J. Lowry, great-uncle of the bride, by leading Atlanta citizens, in recognition of his service to Atlanta on the day that he celebrated his golden wedding anniversary. The cup is engraved with a poem written by the late Frank L. Stanton, Georgia's poet laureate, who wrote a column for The Atlanta Constitution. The cup, filled with white swainsons and roses, was connected with the two silver loving cups holding similar flowers, by festoons of white swainsons. White tapers gleamed in silver candelabra and the place cards were handpainted in figures of a bride and groom and their bridesmaids. Miss Penelope Barnett presented the guests with white satin boxes bearing the silver initials of the bride and groom and the date of their marriage.

The two-tiered wedding cake was decorated with flowers made of icing and topped with a replica of the bride's bouquet. Crystal candelabra belonging to the late Mrs. Frank E. Block, grandmother of the bride, and holding white tapers, flanked the cake.

To Reside in Maryland.

Miss Cannon and Mr. Wright Reveal Their Nuptial Plans

Interest centers in the plans for the marriage of Miss Frances Cannon, daughter of Harry R. Wright, of Atlanta and Dayton, Ohio, the ceremony to take place Saturday evening, July 25, at 8 o'clock at the Emory Outdoor Theater. Rev. B. Frank Pim, of Griffin, will officiate. Mrs. Felton H. Moore, soloist, of Blue Ridge, and Richard Felder, organist, will present the musical program.

J. Ralph Cannon will give his daughter in marriage. Mrs. Robert L. Green, of Fort Knox, Ky., will be matron of honor, and bridesmaids include Mrs. Marion T. Clark, of Oxford; Misses Lila Boynton, of Lyons, cousin of the bride-elect; Carolyn Calhoun, cousin of the groom-elect; Mary Joanne Everett, Frances Moseley, and Nancy Cheney.

Chester S. Wright, of Atlanta, and Gadsden, Ala., will be the groom's best man. Usher-groomsmen will include Lieutenant Robert Kimbrough, of Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio; Marion T. Clark, of Oxford; Tommy Henderson, Morris Armstrong and William K. Hall and Alton Ansley, cousins of the bride-elect.

The bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ralph Cannon, will entertain at a reception at their home on North Highland avenue. Mrs. Ansley Brown will keep the bride's book. The following will assist at the reception: Mesdames W. A. Willard, Ruth M. Cowan, of Griffin; Otis Barfield, J. H. Ruffin, Carl Milner, Emory Ruffin, H. J. Brandon, B. Frank Pim, of Griffin; Felton H. Moore, of Blue Ridge; Marc L. Corley, of Miami, Fla.; George Wagon, Richard Landis, Misses Meriam Rudels, Martha Daniel, Jessie Ruffin, Dorothy Huie, Georgia Graham, Marjorie Simpson, Gladys Sebring, Gayle Rankin, and Vera Parkman, of Seale, Ala.

Additional parties have been planned for the popular bride-elect, and on Saturday, Mrs. Marion T. Clark, of Oxford, will give a dessert-bridge at the home of her mother, Mrs. W. F. Corley on Harvard road. The guests will include Mesdames George Wagon, Bill Schreder, Ralph Cannon, Robert L. Green, Misses Mary Joanne Everett, Carolyn Calhoun, Frances Moseley and Nancy Cheney.

Tuesday, July 21, Mrs. Robert L. Green, of Fort Knox, Ky., will honor the bride-elect with a luncheon and handkerchief shower at the Henry Grady hotel.

The guest list includes Miss Cannon, Mesdames Ruth M. Cowan, of Griffin; Ralph Cannon, C. S. Wright, Marc L. Corley, of Miami, Fla.; George Wagon, Marion T. Clark, of Oxford; H. J. Brandon, Felton H. Moore, of Blue Ridge; Misses Lila Boynton, of Lyons; May Joanne Everett, Carolyn Calhoun, Frances Moseley, and Martha Bledsoe.

The bride was given in marriage by her mother wearing a chic costume of white sheer with a smart white turban and white accessories. Her flowers were sweetheart roses. Mrs. Webb was gowned in ice blue crepe and her flowers were pink and white snapdragons.

Mrs. Cecil Grant, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She wore a Parisian model of red and black crepe with a black lace turban and sweetheart roses. Cecil Grant, of Daytona Beach, served the bridegroom as best man.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Reeves entertained at a reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Wickersham. The couple left for Atlanta for a visit with the bridegroom's paternal grandfather, C. A. Wickersham, before returning to Florida.

Miss Barbara Dillon Weds Major John C. Courtney III

Sincere social interest is attached to the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. William Emory Dillon of the marriage of their daughter, Miss Barbara Ann Dillon, to Major John Courtney III, United States Army Air Corps, of Washington, D. C., formerly of Atlanta. The ceremony was a quiet event, of Saturday, taking place in Conley, Ga.

The bride, a beautiful blonde, presented an exquisite picture in a pale blue tailored suit, with which she wore matching accessories. The bride's bouquet of orchids completed the ensemble.

Following the ceremony the couple left for Washington and expect to spend several days in New York on a wedding trip before returning to the national capital to make their home.

Mrs. Courtney is one of the most popular members of the younger contingent and is a pretty, petite blonde. She attended North Fulton High school, and has been active in school affairs. William E. Dillon Jr., her only brother, is a junior at Presbyterian College in Clinton, S. C.

Mrs. Dillon is the former Miss Ruby Blanton, daughter of Mrs. W. J. Blanton and the late Mr. Blanton, of North Carolina. Mr. Dillon, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George C. Dillon, of Forsyth, Ga., is traffic manager of the Southern Bell Telephone Company.

Major Courtney is the son of Mrs. Alice Guy Courtney, who is superintendent of a North Carolina College, and the late Colonel J. E. Courtney. The bridegroom graduated from the University of North Carolina, where he was a member of the Sigma Nu fraternity. Later he graduated from George Washington University Law school. He is a past president of the Young Democrats Club of Georgia, and president of the Young Statesmen's Club.

Extra Pounds Add Years To Your Face

By Ida Jean Kain.

So you think reducing is aging? Well, there is nothing more apt than getting fat. Double-deck chins and a settled waist can add 10 years to anyone's looks.

Irene Hervey, a glamor girl on screen and the very attractive Mrs. Allan Jones in private life, says that snapshots taken when a person is slightly overweight and then again after slimming down tell the story of what excess weight does to you. Even a few pounds over the normal weight limit can change a woman into a settled matron—and a candidate for character roles.

So Irene never permits the scales to go beyond 125 pounds for her height of five feet five inches. At that point, she acts! Usually she stays around 120 pounds and thinks that must be right for her "because I feel so well. But once I let my hips expand to 37 inches—and I hated myself!" Her measurements are svelte now—bust, 33 1/2 inches; waist, 25 inches; hips, 35 inches.

Since she works on a narrow margin, she has very little trouble with her weight. But there is one diet she occasionally follows for short intervals that is unique. You can eat as much and as often as you like—provided you don't eat anything except fruits and vegetables. If you try that one, you will have to be quite firm with yourself. You do not get any cream in your coffee, any bread, or any butter. Just fruits and vegetables—and the vegetables plain. Don't follow it for more than three days at a stretch.

Her movie player husband keeps an eye on his weight, too. Film actors and actresses have to keep trimmed down. The camera not only shows up any excess but adds about 10 per cent to that! "Allan had to reduce not long ago for a picture," she said, "and I was amazed at how much younger he looked, for taking off a few pounds."

For fun the Allan Joneses swim and play tennis so they keep in good condition without having to follow too strict a routine. They swim at least once every day.

But if you are serious about getting a good figure, Irene recommends calisthenics. You might like to copy a couple of her own favorites. She has a waistline bender that is a honey. First, you stretch tail—get up on your toes with arms overhead and keep pushing up with your fists and feet. It's a kind of wriggle! Then circle down and around with your trunk and as you circle keep wriggling at the waist. That gives you an extra stretch.

To smooth the hips, she holds out for a pummeling stunt "that nobody believes is as good as it really is!" Double up your fists and rain blows on the fat pads on the outside of the hips. "If you really work on them, you will see an improvement in two days," she promises.

"If you're going to complain, Otis, I won't take you into my confidence! I'll just let you wonder where your salary goes!"

MRS. CHARLES HUDSON HARDIN.

Mrs. Hardin was before her marriage, which was quietly solemnized Monday in Pascagoula, Miss. Miss Mabel Almira Bivins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bivins, of Cleveland, Tenn. Dr. R. E. Green, pastor of the First Baptist church of Pascagoula, officiated. Mrs. Hardin graduated from the Bradley High school of Cleveland and Edmonds College of Chattanooga. Mr. Hardin is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Hardin, of Atlanta. He attended Boys' High school and Georgia School of Technology. He is an engineer with the Gulf Ship Building Corporation at Chickasaw, Ala., where he and Mrs. Hardin are residing at 304 Stadium road.

Girl Unwise To Use Marriage For Business Advancement

By Dixie George.

Dear Dixie:

About three years ago I met a young man, I will call Mr. A, and we began going around together, but at the time I was engaged to someone else. He asked me to break my engagement with Mr. B, and marry him. I had been responsible for Mr. B. joining the Air Corps, since he realized that he would be drafted. It looked pretty mean of me to jilt him then.

Well, Mr. A and I broke up, and later Mr. B jilted me. Time went on, and I invited Mr. A to go to a party with me. Well we began going together again and he asked me to marry him. It seemed to be a rather cold-blooded affair, for we are both interested in education. He does not have the educational background to accomplish his business desires, and has told me that with my education I could help him very much. He is in turn, can help me very much in my desired vocation. He is as much in love with me as he could ever be with anyone, but I have an ideal set up that he does not quite equal.

When I marry I want it to be a lasting affair, and not just for the time being. We have talked things over and agreed to make it a give and take bargain. Do you think that a marriage of this type could stand the gaff? I admit.

You will find an effective set of exercises in "Streamline the Mid-section." Send large stamped return envelope for this leaflet to Ida Jean Kain, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Worried.

Do not marry Mr. A. If he is not your ideal, or anywhere near him, pass him up as far as a prospective husband is concerned. A girl seldom marries her dream man, but she marries one who is as near the original model as possible.

As for Mr. B. jilting you, you did not seem to take it too badly, so I am wondering if you were in love with him? A lot of engagements and marriages are rather confused and mixed up now so perhaps when the war is over, you and Mr. B will get together again. After all the boys in the service need all the encouragement possible and they need all the moral support the girls at home can give them.

As for Mr. A. marriage with him would be merely a business proposition and personally I do not approve of your plan. I think every couple should have an understanding and be willing to operate with each other so that marriage will be a give-and-take affair, but in your case, you have nothing to base your marriage upon except the mutual interest in advancing each other in the business world. That is all very fine, but what if something would happen to the business? What would happen if you two were forced to give up these two careers and had to enter upon some new work that held nothing by which you could hold the interest of each other?

I am all for you two assisting each other as much as possible in this work, but do not depend upon this co-operation as the foundation for your marriage. Things change overnight, and if you have no feeling for him other than lukewarm affection, then just stay friends with him, and help him and let him help you all that is possible. I do not think this marriage would stand the test and although I would not idolize a man too much, certainly you should feel something more than what you do for Mr. A. And, lastly, if he is not your type, what is the hurry to marry?

FIND SUBSTITUTES FOR BEACH PARTIES

Many children who in past summers went daily in the family car to a nearby brook, beach, or swimming pool, are unable to do so this year. Parents may be put to it to find ways of keeping youngsters cool and contented, yet if there is a bathtub or shower the cooling off will not be difficult. A splash in the tub may be a poor substitute for the vigorous exercise of swimming, but it is a thoroughly effective means of soothing hot or perspiring bodies. It has at least one advantage over the old swimming hole, for when soap is used, the bath cleanses as well as cools.

If daily or twice-daily periods in tub or shower are offered to children as a real privilege, and if play is permitted before or after, youngsters will welcome the bath and look forward to it with eagerness.

Myrna Loy Gives Up Career To Be 'Perfect Wife' in Real Life

By Louella O. Parsons.

HOLLYWOOD, July 15.—(INS.) If Emlen, youngest daughter of former Ambassador Joseph Davies, is willing she will play in "Mission to Moscow," in which she figures conspicuously. Blond, 24, writer of verse, graduate of Vassar, and attractive, Emlen is exceedingly photogenic. While in Russia with her father she met Robert Grosjean, Princeton graduate and son of a Belgian banker. Later they were married at the Maryland home of Senator Tydings, husband of the older Davies girl.

Grosjean's history is a story also in itself. He was in Moscow as the representative of an American engineering company. When war broke out he went to Belgium to offer his services. He remained until Belgium capitulated to Hitler and then escaped to the United States, where he entered the Army as a private. He is now a lieutenant in active service.

John Hertz Jr., youthful bridegroom of Myrna Loy, wasn't talking just to listen to his own voice when he said his bride wasn't returning to the screen. At M-G-M I heard unofficially, that the screen "perfect wife" isn't expected back, which means the next "Thin Man," scheduled to start this month with Myrna and Bill Powell, has been postponed. While Miss Loy is honeymooning and indifferent to her career, Kathryn Grayson is named as William Powell's leading lady in "Kismet." She plays Bill's daughter in the picture. I wouldn't be surprised if "The Thin Man" series is discontinued since "The Perfect Wife" angle is no longer a logical sales point.

Jack Conway, who has been in Arizona for his health, is so well he is coming back to direct "Far in the Night," which is excellent news. John Pierre Aumont, M-G-M's new "Sansshun," is lucky to have Jack megaphoning for it was he who did much to popularize Clark Gable. The story is that of a French patriot who escapes to England and then returns to his country on a perilous mission. Sounds a little on the propaganda side, but the most pictures of this type do. J. Walter Ruben is producing and he and Jack will do their best to get Aumont off to a good start.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Greer Garson narrowly escaped a very serious accident swimming in the pool at the house she just bought from Tay Garnett. Greer was "floating" on her face and didn't notice her two 60-pound French poodles had broken out of their runway until the dogs dived in after her, striking her head and causing her to swallow so much water she was almost knocked out. Her mother and secretary, who had been watching from the edge of the pool, managed to drag her out and administer first aid. But "Mrs. Miniver" was so badly shaken-up a doctor had to be called.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Joan Fontaine had a wisdom tooth yanked at Dr. Berlo Olson's office and the nurses all raved over her; Martha Matur, who applied for divorce in the morning, out with Steve Brody at the players in the evening; Whitey Schaeffer, portrait photographer at Columbia for years, has moved to Paramount on a long-term contract; Frankie Thomas, in the Navy, has come down with measles—and German ones at that; Richard Derr has bought tickets for the opening of "Mrs. Miniver" to take his heart, Anne Baxter; that's all today. See you tomorrow. But Minnie Thomas, Ludington, Mich., says: "Buy slacks today, bonds tomorrow. In 10 years no need to borrow."

MY DAY: A Talk With Queen Wilhelmina

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, Wednesday.—Now that it is in the papers, that our guests over the weekend were Her Majesty, the Queen of the Netherlands, her daughter, two grandchildren and various members of their household, I want to tell you one or two things about Queen Wilhelmina which I think may be of interest.

While she sat on the grass near the swimming pool with me, watching her two little granddaughters, the Queen talked about some of the things she is thinking over in relation to the future. She said that she made it a point to see every person who came out of Holland, particularly the young boys. They told her what they had been through and what they were thinking about the future, and that these things helped her to have a vision of what will need to be done in her country and in the post-war world.

She overheard me, for instance, talking to the President about the need for some sort of character loan which could be made to people without any security except their reputation. These loans, of course, are only to be made to people who have had some misfortune such as unusual illness which has brought about a state of indebtedness, or where a little money is needed to invest in future security.

"That," the Queen told us, "is done by state banks in Holland. It was one of my brain children after the last war." Again she told me: "My mother started the tuberculosis prevention work in Holland and I have remained the head of it and, therefore, know the details of that work. I am thinking now of the new measures which will have to be taken to meet new conditions of disease which will undoubtedly arise out of the present war." One senses a deep concern and constant anxiety over what is happening to the people of her country.

Perhaps you would like me to tell you, too, something which impressed me greatly in the education of the two little girls. At breakfast with their mother, Princess Juliana, and their governess, Miss Feith, both children ate with no assistance. When they were through, the older one climbed down from her chair and helped the younger one down from hers. Then she untied her bib and the younger one proceeded to turn around and under the older one's bib. It was a little ceremony indicative of real training, both in thoughtfulness and independence.

In the Navy release this morning on the Midway battle, I think we begin to see that the United States took the offensive and, in doing so, was cleverer than her opponent. We also see that we have to grieve for the loss of many young lives. That our men, though conditioned to peace, are as brave and as well disciplined as any men anywhere in the world. My heart aches for those, however, who must read this account of the glory of a nation, with the weight of heavy personal loss on their hearts.

Some Points on Correct Breathing

By Dr. William Brady.

I don't know why it is necessary to teach school children natural breathing (writes a public school music supervisor), but it is. Apparently children acquire the artificial chest breathing habit before the fourth grade. Therefore I don't think their music teachers or physical education instructors are responsible, particularly as I know many in my profession who do teach correct breathing. Maybe the primary room teachers, with the best of intentions, start know. If not—then I guess "natural" breathing does not come natural to a child but must be taught. (Signed—Music Supervisor.)

Some primary teachers probably share the common notion of the laity that chest expansion is the chief feature of correct breathing. This has been emphasized in nearly all so-called physical training for the children off wrong. I don't think, athletics, military training and even in the physical education of yesteryear. It is encouraging to note that it is pretty well ignored or eliminated from the military training of the present day.

Even this music supervisor who evidently knows what he is talking about boggled when it came to belly breathing. Diaphragm breathing, he calls it. The diaphragm is practically as much concerned in chest breathing as it is in belly breathing. The diaphragm is a muscle stretched across the great body cavity, dividing it into the thorax or chest as it is commonly called and the abdomen. The diaphragm is neither in the thorax or chest nor in the abdomen, but between them.

When the diaphragm, the main breathing muscle, contracts it pushes on the structures in the abdomen—stomach, liver, spleen, intestines, and pushes the belly forward, and draws air into the lungs. When the diaphragm relaxes, its pressure on the structures in the abdomen is removed, the expanded belly which has bulged outward during the inspiration or inhalation deflates, as one might say, and air is expelled from the lungs by the elastic rebound of diaphragm, and this is natural, quiet expiration or exhalation. By voluntary effort still more air may be forced out after the natural quiet expiration, and this brings into play numerous other secondary muscles of breathing as well as the diaphragm.

On request, accompanied with stamped envelope bearing your address, I'll send a copy of the pamphlet, "Belly Breathing," which can do no one any harm, may do many invalids or semi-invalids much good.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Type of Mattress. Which type of mattress would be better for infants 21 months and six months old, cotton filled or inner spring? (B. R. T.)

Answer—No difference from viewpoint of health or hygiene. Generally a mattress reasonably firm and unyielding is better for anyone—if bed sags in the middle it is advisable to insert a cross-board under mattress and springs to prevent the sagging.

Baby Book Silent.

Your Baby Book is a most satisfactory guide—I have raised three fine specimens with it. One thing on which you are silent—can a breast-fed baby contract any disease via the mother's milk?

Answer—Few diseases can be transmitted through the milk to the nursing infant. Mothers having diphtheria, typhoid fever, s. ph. may nurse the child and the child remains immune—perhaps gets the necessary antitoxin in the milk.

Your Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Chirologist.

March 21st and April 19th (ARIES). Energy and enthusiasm in literary efforts, industrial pursuits and in doing things which are of interest to these types of work should be favorably received during the entire day.

April 20th and May 20th (TAURUS). The morning hours and until 3:41 p. m. favor developments that require much activity. Benefits may be derived through correspondence, travel and general business.

May 21st and June 20th (GEMINI). Greater gain will be attained today. Between 1:14 p. m. and 11:07 p. m. discretion should be used around domestic matters.

June 21st and July 22nd (CANCER). Remind away from things that are not too strictly aboveboard and cannot stand the "light of the day."

July 23rd and August 22nd (LEO). Previous to 1:14 p. m. favors contacting influential people. Between 1:15 p. m. and 4:36 p. m. favors attending to old matters.

August 23rd and September 22nd (VIRGO). If the thought is given and you do not rush, the time previous to 3:33 p. m. is auspicious for the entering into conferences, making contracts, travel, deal with money people.

September 23rd and October 22nd (LIBRA). The better part of the day is before 12:48 noon, when it should be well to give your undivided attention to matters that will bring you personal benefits.

October 23rd and November 21st (SCORPIO). The day does not especially favor new beginnings. If you wish for smooth and steady progress, the day favors dealing with friends, journeys and general business.

November 22nd and December 21st (SAGITTARIUS). Previous to 11:20 a. m. you are likely to be distracted to new accomplishments, or undertake something of a larger nature than is usual with you.

December 22nd and January 19th (CAPRICORN). The predominant influences for the day suggest attention to your health and being cautious and moderate in all that you do. After 1:43 p. m. financial efforts should meet with favorable results and you are likely to meet generosity and understanding in conference.

January 20th and February 18th (AQUARIUS). The 11th of the month throughout the day incline towards nervous energy, with a desire to do things quickly, which can go into undue aggression. By being unusually careful and tactful, you can overcome such feelings.

February 19th and March 20th (PISCES). The morning hours and until 7:41 p. m. attending to old matters, benefits may be derived through correspondence, travel and general business.

Lovely Dorothy Lamour, busy with film commitments and a personal appearance tour selling war bonds, has learned the secret of looking cool, even in 90-degree weather. A cologne to help you achieve the same effect is described in the accompanying article.

A Special Perfume To Fool the Thermometer

By Winifred Ware.

In these days when heat is thick enough to cut with a knife, you, like me, are finding it hard to obey the current admonition to "keep cool."

As a matter of fact, it's enough to wear one out just thinking about the heat. And so it is with real pleasure that I can tell you about a cologne that will take you mind off the heat.

To begin with, it has a cooling-looking green color and it is packaged in a frosted white bottle that looks like something straight from the arctic. And when you open that bottle and take a sniff, the first thing you think of is a cool, shady river bank.

The fragrance is an unusual one. It's like moss or wild fern. It has a faintly dampish odor (that's the best I can describe it) that seems to immediately make the thermometer drop 10 degrees.

And when you pat a little of it behind your ears and under your chin, you, too, will feel 10 degrees cooler.

Generous bottles are available in Atlanta stores at $1 and $1.50 plus tax.

For the name of this delightfully cooling cologne and the stores where it may be purchased, call Winifred Ware at Walnut 6365. If you live out of town, write her care The Constitution, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Duck Hunters Gain; Dove Shooters Lose

Season and Hours on Quackers Extended, But Bag Limit and Time on 'Gray Ghosts' Are Reduced.

By JOHN MARTIN.

Duck hunting laws are liberalized and dove shooting regulations are tightened under the federal laws governing the taking of migratory birds this winter.

The 1942-43 regulations announced in Washington yesterday by Interior Secretary Harold Ickes provide a 70-day shooting season for ducks, instead of the 60 days permitted in 1941, thus giving Georgians the first legal January hunting of quackers in many years.

Duck hunting will begin in the northern zone on September 26, intermediate zone October 15 and southern zone, November 2.

Duck hunting hours will run from sunrise to sunset, instead of from sunrise to 4 p. m. as formerly, and legally killed birds may be possessed for 30 days after the close of the season, instead of 20 days.

Regulations governing bag and possession limits of ducks remain unchanged except that a new provision makes the possession limit on the first day of hunting conform to the daily bag limit.

The regulations reduced the bag limits on geese and included other special safeguards, since investigations had shown a decline in goose populations other than the blue geese.

Mourning-dove bag and possession limits also were reduced, from 12 to 10 and the seasons were shortened from 42 to 30 days in 14 states—Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Fifteen-day woodcock seasons with 4-a-day bag and eight-bird possession limits remain as last year.

Thus the federal regulations show that ducks are coming back and doves are declining. Reduction of the bag limit on doves is a result of continued over-shooting in the southern states, particularly Georgia, which has a greater concentration of these birds in midwinter than any other state.

Behind these laws is a story that has become a sour memory for many Georgians—the day of the big baited shoots in which thousands of the graceful gray ghosts were slaughtered.

Not until these shoots are tem-

Cherokee Anglers To Meet Tonight

CANTON, Ga., July 16.—Sportsmen of Cherokee county will hear for the first time the program of the Georgia Wildlife Federation at a meeting here tomorrow night. H. E. Atkins, field representative of the state-wide organization which is campaigning for a revised wildlife division, will explain the plans and success of the federation to members of the Cherokee County Conservation Club. Lee Evans, a federation director and president of the club here, called the meeting as a step toward furthering the aims and ambitions of the organized outdoorsmen. Quail tag emblems of the federation will be sold at the gathering.

pered or halted will the regulations be modified toward bigger bag limits and longer shooting seasons. Hunters should bear this in mind or learn to suffer the consequences that have been threatened—relegation of this fine game bird to the rank of a songster. Two years ago doves could be shot legally 72 days. Last year it was 40. Now it's 30. The answer ahead is none unless the law is adequately enforced or observed.

P. S.—Although the crow is a migratory bird, it is classed as a predator and is not subject to federal regulations. This is mentioned to inform the state wildlife director that he still has a green light in his announced plan two weeks ago to teach wildlife rangers the fine art of caw-cawing and shooting crows over decoy. This should be a new wrinkle in the conservation field.

know until afterwards was that Bloch is chairman of the board.

"Well, sir, we meet in the president's office and the papers are drawn up and I make out a check for $2,500, a mere bag of shells.

"The president looks the check over and then says, 'Mr. Engel, this check is not made out properly. It should read Selma Amusement Corporation.'

"I thought for a minute," Engel continued, "and then I said, 'Tell you what I'll do; I'll make out another and mail it to you as soon as I get back to Chattanooga.'

"I reached over to get the check and I almost lost my right arm. I had to keep my wrist taped up for a month. The chairman of the board and the president got a grip on that arm at the same time."

It was during the famed working agreement that Engel had to recall Hillis Layne when Selma was going good. He called Bloch up to tell him and Bloch was burned up.

About an hour later the Selma Ice Company delivered a ton of ice to his doorstep with a note from Engel.

Swimmers Show At Ft. McPherson

Ft. McPherson swimming fans will see Charlie Parker and his Atlantic Aquatic Troupe perform for the soldiers tonight.

Giving exhibitions from New York to Maine, Parker has some of the leading diving and swimming talent of the country, besides numerous clowning routines.

The dozen performers will appear at the enlisted men's pool at 6:30 p. m. and at the officers' at seven.

East Lake Ladies Honor Hedekin

A flight tournament was held Wednesday at the East Lake Country Club in honor of Mrs. David Hedekin, a club member, who was sworn into the W.A.C. The tournament was won by Mrs. Carl Fields. She had 90 left at the end of the 18 holes.

Mrs. W. D. Tumlin won in the ladies' play with a low gross score of 91.

Cox, Etchinson, Terror Appear On Bill Tonight

Faeturing the new sensation of heavyweight wrestling, the Golden Terror, a masked 310-pound giant who is seconded in all his matches by his masked 280-pound manager, the second big-time mat show of the season will be staged tonight at the City auditorium.

Last week's card packed more thrills than any show witnessed here in years, with police and fans joining in the milling. The hooded Golden Terror went berserk and won his thirty-fourth successive match, with the aid of his powerful manager. Tonight the masked giant will take on Jack Dillon, 250-pound Texan, in an hour-limit, semi-final match. Main event will bring together Dynamite Joe Cox, one of the game's greatest villains, and Ronny Atchinson, a young star who made a sensational hit in a lone appearance at Warren Arena last winter. Cox battered the famed Ernie Dusek into submission last week, but will find Etchinson one of the cleverest wrestlers in the game. This should be a first-rate match.

Hans Schultz, of Milwaukee, meets Marshall Blackstock in the opening event at 8:30 o'clock. Blackstock, once a top drawing card and crowd-baiter, has been making good in an attempted comeback campaign.

All men of the armed forces will be admitted free and are cordially invited by Matchmaker Abe Simon.

Popular prices will prevail.

Drinks for Summer Sorcery

Be a wizard. Wave your sorcerer's wand over a tall glass heaped with ice for a magical tinkle, and the result will be a tangy fruit-flavored drink, pepped up with sparkling carbonated water, as refreshing as it sounds. There's no doubt about it, cool, colorful drinks definitely help to make summer weather more bearable. Fruit drinks are full of flavor, healthful and slightly invigorating. Besides these summer drinks may well be classed as food since their sugar content supplies energy and the fruit juices add valuable minerals and vitamins. While they may not replace milk as a beverage for children, it does no harm to serve them in afternoon with a few cookies or bread and butter, or to serve them occasionally as a beverage for lunch or supper. This applies especially to lemonade or fruitades made with plain water.

A word as to the sweetening used for these fruit drinks. You will find it more economical and definitely sugar-saving to make a quart or two of syrup and keep it in the refrigerator as needed. For this mix 2 cups hot water, 1 cup sugar and 2 cups white corn syrup. Heat to the boiling point, stirring until the sugar is dissolved and then boil for 5 minutes. Strain into a glass jar and cool before using. A tablespoon of this will sweeten a glassful of most fruit drinks. More, of course, may be used if needed, but syrup makes a smoother flavored drink than sugar alone. A sparkling fruit punch accompanied with molasses brownies, crisp ginger wafers or any crisp or crunchy cookies is sure to be popular whether you entertain your first aid class or your bridge club or visiting doughboys. Here is one that is made with chilled pineapple juice, raspberry or loganberry syrup, fresh lime juice and carbonated water and garnished with a few thin slices of orange and a dozen or so halved strawberries or whole red raspberries and some sprigs of mint. For 6 people use these proportions: 3 cups unsweetened pineapple juice, 3 tablespoons raspberry or loganberry syrup, 3 tablespoons fresh lime juice, and 1 quart of carbonated water. Mix, pour over ice cubes and garnish as desired. Use a tall pitcher and add a handful of sprigs of mint at the last minute so that they stand, cool and fragrant, over the lip of the pitcher.

Cranberry-Orange Fizz is another delightful combination. Mix 2 cups bottled or canned cranberry juice with 2 cups orange juice and the juice of 2 fresh limes. Add syrup to sweeten as desired, then add a dozen or so ice cubes and a quart of carbonated water. Mix and pour into tall glasses with a small sprig of mint in each for garnish.

Lemonade-Limeade or plain lemonade is so often poorly made that I am including the recipe here. For 6 portions squeeze the juice of 3 large, juicy lemons or 4 small ones and 2 fresh limes. Mix with 1 1/2 cup syrup made as described above and pour into a tall pitcher holding a dozen ice cubes or 1 1/2 cups finely cracked ice. Add 1 quart plain or carbonated water, stir and serve. A thin slice of lemon may be added for garnish or a sprig of mint added to each glass. This makes a tart, refreshing drink—more syrup may be used if desired, but be careful not to get it too sweet.

Rhubarb-Gingerade is an unusual drink that is very useful on a hot day to serve either for lunch or for a 'tween meal refresher. Cook 3 cups sliced rhubarb in 2 cups water until the rhubarb is very tender—or for about 8 to 10 minutes. Strain through a fine strainer, cool and sweeten to taste with syrup. Add the juice of 1 lemon, water to equal the amount of rhubarb juice, plenty of ice and a quart bottle of pale gingerale. Serve in tall glasses with a thin slice of orange for garnish.

Apricot Milk Punch is a nourishing as well as delicious drink, and the addition of cooked, dried or fresh or canned fruit to the milk punch cuts the use of sugar to a minimum. For each glass blend 3 tablespoons of apricot puree and juice with 2 tablespoons corn syrup. Add a few grains of salt and stir in one cup of cold milk. Turn into a chilled glass, top with a spoonful of whipped cream and garnish with a few tiny pieces of uncooked dried apricots. Dried apricots were used in the above recipe, but canned apricots may be substituted, eliminating some of the corn syrup.

Fruit Coolers may be made by combining all kinds of fresh fruit juices. For example, heat 1 cupful of the syrup made as described above, with 2 inches of stick cinnamon, a slice of lemon and 3 whole cloves. When boiling remove from the fire, let cool and then strain into a tall pitcher. Add the juice of 2 lemons, 1 orange, the juice from 1 cup mashed blackberries, raspberries or strawberries, one finely cut fresh peach and 1 1/2 cups finely crushed ice. Stir to mix, add 1 quart carbonated water and serve.

There are many kinds of canned and bottled fruit juices available that are wonderful for any of these cooling drinks—apricot, prune, cranberry, papaya, etc. Combined with fresh fruit juice or used alone with plain or carbonated water they make possible an unlimited variety of cold drinks. Don't forget also iced tea, coffee and chocolate. With rationing of tea and coffee a definite possibility, save the tea left in the pot after lunch or dinner and add it to fruit juices or combine with lemonade.

IDEAS FROM A COOK'S NOTEBOOK

Raisin Cracker Pudding. Roll plain soda crackers to a fine meal, or use packaged cracker meal for this. Mix 1/2 cup of the fine cracker crumbs with 1 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/2 teaspoon powdered ginger and 1/2 teaspoon baking powder. Scald 2 1/2 cups milk and pour over this mixture. Mix, then stir in 1 cup seedless raisins, 2 well-beaten eggs, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla and 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Mix well, pour into the top part of a double boiler that has been well greased, cover and cook over hot water for 1 1/2 hours. Turn out on a hot plate and serve with lemon sauce or with cream.

Vitamin Cabbage Salad. 1 pound crisp cabbage, chopped very fine. 3 tablespoons raisins. 2 apples, cored, cut in small pieces. Dressing: Two bananas, mashed, and moistened with 10 tablespoons orange juice. The apples need not be peeled if skin is tender. Mayonnaise may substitute for fruit dressing. Mix all ingredients; serve at once.

Beef and Rice Ring. Melt 3 tablespoons beef drippings, bacon fat, butter or margarine in a large, heavy frying pan, add 3 tablespoons minced onion and 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper. Simmer for 3 to 5 minutes without browning, then add 1 pound chopped raw beef (chuck or shank or bottom round) and let the meat brown, stirring frequently. Next stir in 3 cups cooked rice and remove from the fire. Beat 1 egg and mix with 1 cup concentrated tomato soup and 1-2 teaspoon salt. Stir this into the meat mixture, mix well and pack into a well greased, large ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees—for 35 to 40 minutes or until firm to the touch. Turn out on a large, round, hot platter. Fill the center with parsleyed young carrots cut in dice. Pour 1 1/2 cups hot mushroom sauce around the ring, garnish with small piles of French fried eggplant and serve very hot.

Half-frozen fruit juices or tomato juice makes a refreshing first course for a hot weather dinner. Sweeten fruit juices slightly and see that tomato juice is well seasoned. Freeze until mushy, stirring once or twice during the process.

Vegetable Omelet. Melt 1/4 cup shortening in a heavy frying pan, add 1 tablespoon minced onion and cook slowly for 5 minutes without browning the onion. Add 1/2 cup finely chopped cold potatoes, 1/2 cup cut up tomato pulp, 1/2 cup left over spinach, Swiss chard, green peas or beans, etc. Season with salt and pepper and cook slowly until very hot. Beat 6 eggs until frothy and mix with 1/2 cup milk and salt and pepper to season. Make an omelet of these and when firm, spread with the hot vegetable mixture, fold over and turn out on a hot platter. Serve very hot with a green salad.

Dress up cobbler and meat pies with pastry cut in fancy shapes. Pat the pastry until it is about one inch thick, then cut out with fancy cookie cutters. Make several gashes on the top (to let the steam escape) and arrange the cut-outs next each other on top of the cooked food. Bake as usual.

Plum Jam. Wash 2 dozen ripe plums, cut in halves and remove the pits. Put the plums and about 6 pits in a saucepan with 1/2 cup water. Heat slowly to the boiling point and boil gently until the plums are tender. Rub the whole mixture through a coarse strainer and measure the pulp. Measure 1/4 cup sugar or 1/2 cup honey for each cup pulp and mix. Boil until thickened, or for about 20 minutes, then pour into clean hot jars and seal with melted paraffine. Makes about 4 glasses of jam.

A tea-time treat: Spread buttered slices of thinly-cut white bread with spicy apple butter. Make into sandwiches and shape with cookie cutter.

Squash, okra, carrots, corn, beans and other vegetables can be successfully dried, if you have them in larger quantities than your jar supply warrants canning. Wash these vegetables, then cut or break into desired sizes. Place on a rack which has been covered with cheesecloth and dry in hot sun or in slowest oven, approximately 150 degrees, about 24 hours. Store in covered container. To use, soak in cold water for several hours until vegetable freshens. Then cook in same water.

Iced Coffee or Tea: Make 2 quarts strong coffee or 1 quart strong tea. Pour the hot coffee over ice cubes or cubes of frozen coffee (to keep it strong) and serve with plain or whipped cream. Pour the tea over ice cubes and add lemon juice or thick slices of lemon and top each glass with a spray of fresh, fragrant mint.

Prize Recipes

Lime Jello Salad (Sugarless)

Submitted by Mrs. Turner Killingsworth, Fort Gaines, Ga.

1 can apple sauce (1 lb.)
1 cup nuts

Mix 1 pint hot water over jello. Let cool. Add apple sauce and nuts. When congealed cut in squares, and serve on lettuce with a little cream cheese.

Creamed Green Peppers

Submitted by Miss Mamie Bailey, Cuthbert, Ga.

2 tablespoons of butter or oil
1 pint milk
2 tablespoons of flour
1 1/2 teaspoons of salt
1-4 teaspoon of pepper

Wash peppers and wipe dry; place directly over heat and toast, turning frequently to keep from burning. Scrape the blistered skin while holding them beneath running cold water. Remove seeds and cut with scissors in long, thin strips. Melt the butter in a saucepan and add peppers, letting them brown slightly. Stir in the flour and seasonings, adding the milk gradually. Cover and simmer for 30 minutes.

Spice Pudding

Submitted by Miss Marylyn Edmonds, Amity, Ga.

1 1/2 cups milk
1 1/2 cups sugar or corn sirup
1-2 cup of butter

A prize of $1 each is awarded for recipes printed in this column every Friday. Address recipes to The Constitution or to Sally Saver, with your name and address written plainly on each sheet.

Apple Muffins

Submitted by Mrs. Howard B. Greene, Flowery Branch, Ga.

2 cups pancake flour
4 tablespoons shortening
1 cup chopped apple
2 tablespoons sugar
1 1/2 cups of milk
1 egg

Cream sugar and shortening; add beaten egg, flour and blend thoroughly. Add finely chopped apple and bake in greased muffin tins in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 10 minutes.

Fruit Chutney

Submitted by Mrs. Jack Smith, 215 Butler Street, Montezuma, Ga.

8 large peaches
9 tart apples
4 large onions
4 cups of sugar or substitute
1 tablespoon of salt
1-2 package of pickling spices, tied in cloth
1 pint vinegar.

Peel the tomatoes, peaches and apples and chop fine; add peeled and sliced onions. Combine all ingredients and boil until thick. Remove spices, pour into sterilized jars and seal.

A Simple Punch For Young Appetites

Elaborate refreshments do not fit into the teen-age scheme, but it's always nice to have the makings on hand for simple refreshments, especially if your Mary or John have a crowd of young friends who love to fill your house for an evening of club or committee meetings, or just plain fun.

Warm weather places cool, refreshing beverages right out in front as the most likely choice to win friends and influence young appetites. A novel punch that has flavor appeal is pink pineapple punch. It has a fresh breeze flavor and vitamins B1 and C as well. Especially created for the younger set, it is easy to make, and Mary will take pride in telling her friends that she made it herself. Serve it with fig newtons and chocolate filled wafers, both favorites with the teen-agers.

Pink Pineapple Punch.
1-2 cup cinnamon drops.
2 one-pint, two-ounce cans unsweetened pineapple juice.
1 quart pale dry ginger ale.

Place corn syrup, cinnamon drops and water in a saucepan. Heat until cinnamon drops are dissolved, stirring occasionally. Cool, add lemon juice and pineapple juice which has been well chilled in cans before opening. Just before serving, pour in chilled ginger ale. Serve over ice cubes. This amount makes approximately 12 tall glasses.

There are vitamins B1 and C, as well as plenty of tangy flavor, in Pink Pineapple Punch, which was created especially for the younger set, with their particular appetites in mind. It is a simple drink the teen-agers can make themselves, as Anne Graydon, left, and Iris Dominey are doing in the photograph at the left.

Victory Special Features Broilers and Fryers

Beginning yesterday and continuing until July 25, local merchants will feature broilers and fryers as a Victory Food Special in co-operation with the Agricultural Marketing Administration. Homemakers should take advantage of this campaign designed to encourage increased consumption of poultry meat at the time of year when quantities sold by farmers are large and prices to consumers are lower than usual. When we increase the consumption of farm products that are in abundance, we are helping with the war effort. By eating health-building foods, we are not only making America strong, but we also are assisting farmers by buying their products that are in temporary abundance.

Poultry is on the accepted list of nutritional foods. Isn't it comforting to know that poultry provides high quality proteins, important minerals and vitamins, and also furnishes energy? That's enough to give poultry a special place in everyday as well as special occasion meals.

Here are some table tips on broilers and fryers which come from the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. D. A.:

"Because chicken is a perishable food—keep it cold when it is raw. Eat it quickly after it is cooked.

Chill it right away if you don't intend to eat it at once. When you bring chicken home from the store, wash it thoroughly inside and out, pat it dry, store it in your coldest storage space until you cook it. If you have no very cold storage place, do not attempt to keep chicken long—either before or after you cook it."

To Fry Chicken—
"Cut into serving portions as you like. With large fryers, it's a good idea to separate thigh from drumstick and to cut the breast in two or more pieces. Salt and pepper each piece of chicken and roll each piece in flour—or egg and fine bread crumbs or corn meal.

"Put the thicker pieces first into a thick frying pan with half an inch or more of fat that is hot but not smoking. Leave space around each piece so the fat can bubble up around it. Cover the pan to keep the fat from spattering. Turn each piece when it is brown.

"For tender juicy chicken—cooked to the bone but brown on the outside—keep heat under the frying pan moderate. Thickest pieces of a three-pounder will need from 20 to 25 minutes cooking. Take chicken out of frying pan as soon as it's done. To keep it hot after it's cooked, lay the pieces on absorbent paper to drain... put in a heated pan or crock.

To Broil Chicken—
"Break the joints and remove the wing tips—for easy eating. Coat the chicken with melted fat. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Sprinkle with flour or not as you like.

"Start cooking the broiler skin away from the heat. Turn the chicken several times as it browns and baste frequently with pan drippings. Keep heat of the broiling oven moderate. A two-pound chicken will need from 35 to 45 minutes to cook evenly to the bone."

Clippings for your Victory recipe file, under the head of poultry, would be incomplete unless they included a good chicken pie.

Plain Chicken Pie.
3 cups chicken gravy

Line baking dish or casserole with pastry rolled 1/4-inch thick. Lay pieces of hot boiled chicken, seasoned to taste, in dish and pour gravy over top. Cover with pastry rolled 1/8-inch thick; cut gashes in top to permit escape of steam or top with lattice of pastry strips. Bake in a hot oven (450 F.) for 15 minutes, then reduce heat to moderate (350 F.) and bake 30 minutes longer. Serves 6.

Raspberry Whip (Sugar-Saving Recipe)

(Sugar-Saving Recipe)

Pick over and wash 2 cups ripe raspberries, save out 1/2 cupful and mash the rest with a fork. Rub the mashed fruit through a fine strainer to remove the seeds. Dissolve a package of lemon flavored gelatin in 1 cup hot water and, when cold, add the raspberry juice and 1/4 cup powdered sugar. Cool until beginning to thicken, then fold in 1 cup heavy cream mixed with 1-3 cup honey and whipped stiff. Decorate the bottom of small molds with a few of the whole berries, fill with the whipped cream mixture and put in the refrigerator to chill and stiffen. Turn out and serve very cold. Makes 8 small molds or 6 medium-sized ones.

Lamb Chops Make A Quick Meal

The days ahead are the days in which you will want to spend a minimum of time in your kitchen. Here is a recipe for lamb chops that fills this need. The chops may be prepared in the morning, kept in the refrigerator, and slipped in the oven just before the evening meal.

The Army and Navy in Georgia

SERGEANT HENDERSON VISITS PARENTS HERE

On his way from Fort Ord, Cal., to Officers' Candidate School at Camp Lee, Va., Technical Sergeant Irby D. Henderson is spending a few days with his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Irby Henderson, at 822 Sherwood road, N. E. in the Army for 4 months. Sergeant Henderson was inducted at Fort McPherson and stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., in the Motor Maintenance Division. He attended Middle Georgia College at Cochran, and was with the Western Electric Company before joining the Army. His father is pastor of Trinity Methodist church.

LET 'ER RAIN—SOLDIERS READY

Rubber raincoats are issued only to overseas troops and, when the supply is exhausted, there will be no more—but let 'er rain. The American soldier will soon have a raincoat that will keep him dry no matter how hard it rains. The new wet weather apparel is known as a "rain suit" and consists of a hat, resembling a sou'wester, a coat and trousers. The suit has a standing collar tipped with corduroy and a ventilated, double back. The entire outfit is olive drab in color. The suit contains no rubber, thereby saving thousands of tons of this vital material. The suit is made of a heavy, woven fabric, a sturdy plain weave, has a breaking strength of not less than 55 pounds and is resistant to abrasion, shows no serious evidence of wrinkling when folded and will remain serviceable under extreme heat or cold. Rigid tests indicate that the new suit is the most thoroughly waterproof rain protector ever made for Army use. In addition to the suit, the material is used to make the regulation style raincoat. Until the rain suit is issued, troops in continental United States are wearing oil treated raincoats.

SOUTHEAST TO TEST SYNTHETIC TIRES

Rigid tests of synthetic tires will be conducted in the southeast by all types of Army vehicles. It was announced yesterday by Lieutenant Hugh M. Lokey, tire inspection and reclamation officer at headquarters of the Fourth Corps Area Quartermaster. The tires, which were shipped, will be used throughout the corps area. Several thousand tires will be tested in the southeast. "Only one make of tires will be used on each vehicle," Lieutenant Lokey said. "Each tire will bear the manufacturer's name and will be marked with an S stamped on the sidewall to identify it. Tires from each manufacturer will be applied to cars and trucks in comparison tests, preferably in the same organization. This will enable comparison in wear and performance between the various makes." A careful record of mileage and frequent inspections by civilian tire experts will make possible a comparison between performance of the synthetic and regular production tires. When the synthetic tires are damaged, they will be repaired, recapped or retreaded in the customary manner, and as further service continues, additional checks will be made.

BRUSH PILE PLAYS PART IN BALL GAME

A brush pile tripped a brigadier general and provided the turning point of a softball game at Camp Rucker, Ala., when officers of the 81st Division Headquarters trimmed the Division's Artillery officers, 11 to 4, on the artillery field. Brigadier General Rex W. Beasley, manager of the artillery team, had made several putouts from centerfield, and the game was tied, 3 to 3, when a fly soared into his territory. He followed the ball and almost had his hands on it when he stumbled over the brush pile. It is reported the hazard mysteriously disappeared during the following night.

WHEELUS STRICKLAND PROMOTED TO CORPORAL

Work on Clinic Starts Monday

Remodeling of the old building at 11 Hunter street for use as an outpatient venereal disease clinic will begin Monday, Councilman James E. Jackson Jr., vice chairman of city council's health and sanitation committee, said yesterday.

Former occupants have already vacated.

The new hospital will represent an investment of more than $40,000, including equipment. It will be operated jointly by the city, state and federal governments, with a large foundation giving the equipment. For the first time, Atlanta will have adequate outpatient facilities for the treatment of social diseases.

Singer Werrenrath, Dr. Maddy Will Confer on Broadcast Ban

INTERLOCHEN, Mich., July 16. (AP)—Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, director of the famed Interlochen Music Camp in the woods of northern Michigan, said tonight there was little likelihood that differences with the American Federation of Musicians could be adjusted in time to permit a national radio broadcast from the camp next Saturday.

But even as he spoke, Reinold Werrenrath, internationally known baritone and a member of the musicians' union, was reported en route to Interlochen to investigate reports of Dr. Maddy and the camp students over the banning of the broadcasts through action by James Petrillo, president of the musicians' union, with the National Broadcasting Company.

A mass meeting of the students, all exceptional musicians of high school age, was called for tonight by the camp student council to decide the form of an official student protest.

Previously, Dr. Maddy had protested to President William Green, of the American Federation of Labor, with which the musicians' union is affiliated. Green replied in a telegram today that the controversy is "with the American Federation of Musicians and not the American Federation of Labor."

In Washington, it was reported that attorneys for the Federal Communications Commission were studying the law to determine whether or not there could be any official interference which would permit the continuation of the broadcasts, a Saturday feature of the National Broadcasting Company for 12 years.

In New York, radio circles were concerned whether or not the NBC would abandon plans to broadcast a musical program from Iowa City Saturday night in connection with the Iowa music festival. The University of Iowa symphony and chorus were scheduled to appear on the program.

The National Broadcasting Company cancelled the Interlochen broadcasts after Petrillo had protested that the musicians appearing on the program were not members of the union, with which NBC has a contract.

Mrs. Sion Lawson Dies at Residence

Mrs. Sion Lawson died yesterday at her residence, 1100 Tilden avenue, N. W., after a long illness.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. E. V. Cash, Mrs. Ralph Jones, Mrs. S. A. Baxter and Mrs. Alma Gill, of Montgomery, Ala.; two sons, H. F. Lawson, of Montgomery, and T. E. Lawson, of Dawson, Ga.; and two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Scarborough and Mrs. L. L. Strickland.

Funeral services will be held at 11:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at Spring Hill, with the Rev. A. B. Couch officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery.

Jefferson County, Ala., First To Meet Bond Goal

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—Jefferson county, Alabama, which comes the city of Birmingham, today won the honor of being the first of the nation's counties to meet its July war savings bonds sales quota.

The county had a quota of $2,900,000 and sold more than $3,000,000 in the first week of the month.

These other counties also have reported reaching their quotas: Okeechobee, Santa Rosa and Gulf counties, in Florida; Livingston, Cumberland and Owen counties, in Kentucky; Rabun county, Colorado; and Slope county, North Dakota.

Heat Fells First Victim in Atlanta

First victim of Atlanta's heat wave was John McIntyre, 49, of a Plum street address, who suffered a sunstroke while plowing at the city dairy farm yesterday afternoon, police reported.

He was taken to Grady hospital, where his condition was called "serious." He had not regained consciousness late last night.

The feminine counterpart of the fiery orator, Daniel Webster, has at last been found in the tiny, red-headed person of Mrs. Ethel Ernest Murrell, who last night told 80 members of the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers that they must go on an active crusade to secure the passage of the Equal Rights for Women Amendment to the United States Constitution.

The vivacious woman lawyer from Miami, Fla., was honor guest and speaker at the monthly forum sponsored by the legislative committee of the Business and Professional Women's Club. Georgia women lawyers joined the group for this meeting, held at the Henry Grady hotel.

"As Pearl Buck remarked, we are the most privileged and pampered women in the world," Mrs. Murrell said, "but our actual legal status is another thing. What do our courts say? They say that women are not persons in the constitutional meaning of the word."

"Now is the time," she said, "to get all sorts of work—in the Army, defense work, and even in airplane factories," she added. "They need us now. Surely this government cannot look us in the eye and deny us equal rights. Shame on us for sitting back in an apathetic state and not putting the name of woman beside that of man."

"Now is the time for us to get the amendment or we won't get it at all," she emphasized, and paused as the audience nodded assent. "We only ask for human rights. We ask to set straight the crooked thinking that has made women unequal with men in the artificial realms of custom, tradition, and law."

Mrs. Murrell pointed out the amendment, which will provide equality before the law for men and women, is scheduled to come before congress in a few weeks. She urged women to take an organized stand and deluge the legislators with telegrams and letters asking for the amendment to be passed.

Soviet Experience Cited.

"Democracy cannot survive unless it is a complete democracy. Any democracy that doesn't include women is a farce," she concluded. "Dedicate yourself to the cause of obtaining it, for we are a devotional people."

A lively discussion with some disagreement followed on rights of women, how they could be obtained, and the position of women in the United States relative to that of the feminine sex in other countries of the world. Everyone agreed that Russian women had gained the admiration of the world by the progress they have made since being granted rights more nearly equal to those of men than they had formerly possessed.

The honor guest was introduced by Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, legislative chairman for the Business and Professional Women's Club and the Georgia Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. She pointed out that Mrs. Murrell was an eminent lecturer and author, as well as a prominent lawyer, having written two textbooks on laws that affect women, two books of verse, and a newspaper column.

A native of Laramie, Wyo., Mrs. Murrell was educated in Washington, D. C., and at the Sorbonne in Paris. She received her LL.B. degree from the University of Miami and was admitted to the bar in 1934. Since then, she has been a leader in the field of feminism.

To Address Lawyers.

Mrs. Murrell, who is chairman of the Equal Rights Amendment Committee of the National Association of Women Lawyers, will speak in August at the national convention of the Association of Women Lawyers in Detroit, Mich.

Other special guests at the speaker's table included: Robert Troutman, director of Civilian Defense for Georgia; Mrs. Oscar Palmour, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs; Samuel C. Atkinson, judge of the superior court; Miss Constance Mac Holdt, president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. Daphne Robert, president of the Georgia Dental Hygiene Association; Mrs. Gertrude Farris, president of the National Association of Women Lawyers; Miss Elsie Freeman, vice president of the Business and Professional Women's Club; Mrs. E. C. Ernest, of Miami, mother of Mrs. Murrell; and Miss Eunice Johnson, vice president of the Georgia Association of Women Lawyers.

'Equal Rights' Crusade Spurred at Monthly Forum Here.

Joe is still smiling...

This Friday is American Heroes' Day and the nation is making a special War Bonds and Stamps effort in salute to the Mehles, the Bulkeleys, the Kellys of our brave young fighting forces... And we are, too... but we can't help thinking of Joe.

You remember Joe. He used to carry your packages from your Kroger store to your car. Quiet kind of a kid... took it all out in a friendly grin and maybe a chance remark or two: "How are you today, Mrs. Allen?", or "Is the little boy's cold better?" And you liked Joe. So did we.

Joe worked vacations for us at first. And then he started full time. You can't stop willingness like Joe had. And that grin. And he was proud of his advancement; proud one day, too, of that little sign: "Manager, Joe ———"

And then Uncle Sam needed him. Joe didn't ask any favours. He didn't make any speeches about liberty. He just grinned... and said: "OK!" He just offered his life.

We've got a lot of Joes... and Charlies... and Harrys gone from Kroger's. And there's a lot of them missing where you work, and from the street where you live.

But it's good to know they're smiling wherever they may be... smiling because there are so many of us here at home determined to work harder, save harder, to keep them supplied with the guns and tanks and ships that will let them come home to us.

So, on American Heroes' Day, we want to salute the sung heroes... and we want to salute Joe and all the unsung boys like him... And on this day, we'd like to remind you to buy even more War Stamps and Bonds to keep the fightin'est army in the world fighting... and smiling!

Air Schedule To Be Changed By Delta Lines

Revisions Effective Tomorrow; To Restore 2 Flights to Cincinnati.

Delta Air Lines announced yesterday restoration of two flights between Atlanta and Cincinnati, via Knoxville, effective tomorrow, to meet war-time requirements. Several other schedule changes to "permit better utilization of equipment and personnel" were also announced.

The restored flights will depart Atlanta at 2:25 o'clock in the afternoon, arrive Cincinnati at 5:05 o'clock; leave Cincinnati at 6:05 o'clock, arriving Atlanta at 8:45 o'clock at night.

No change was made in morning flights leaving Atlanta for Cincinnati at 7 o'clock and departing Cincinnati for Atlanta at 10:30 o'clock.

Other schedule changes, effective July 18, include:

Westbound Flight 1 will depart Atlanta at 12:25 o'clock in the afternoon, arriving in Fort Worth at 5:23 o'clock, CWT.

Westbound Flight 3 will depart Atlanta at 7 o'clock at night, arriving in Fort Worth at 2 o'clock in the morning, CWT.

Living in Fort Worth at 2 o'clock in the morning, CWT.

Eastbound Flight 4 will depart Fort Worth at 7:30 o'clock at night, arriving in Atlanta at 2:28 o'clock, EWT. There will be no change in Eastbound Flight 2, which departs Fort Worth at 7:10 o'clock in the morning, arriving Atlanta 2:04 o'clock.

No changes are being made in Atlanta-Charleston, S. C., schedules via Augusta and Columbia.

Rites Near Monroe For Victim of Shot

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MONROE, Ga., July 16.—Last rites were held this afternoon from Corinth Christian church for Miss Abbie Lou Green, 30, who, according to a coroner's verdict, died at her home on Loganville, Route 3, Tuesday afternoon of a self-inflicted wound in her heart by a .32 pistol. She was a native of Walton county and a victim of infantile paralysis in early childhood, she never recovered and was an invalid most of her life.

The Rev. Richard Gear conducted the service and interment was in the churchyard cemetery.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Green, with whom she lived; two brothers, Howard and Luther Green; a sister, Miss Stella Green, all of Loganville, Route 3.

FAMILY REUNION.
BOWDON, Ga., July 16.—The Eason-McLear family reunion will be held Sunday, July 19, at Indian Creek church, three miles north of Bowdon, the annual meeting place. Friends and relatives of the family are invited. A basket dinner will be spread at noon.

Atlantan Finds Coffee Rarity In Australia

But People Show Kind Treatment, Writes W. R. Guerin.

Though a cup of good coffee is as scarce as rationed sugar, Private William R. Guerin, of Atlanta, battery clerk with the Coast Artillery in Australia, is enthusiastic about Australian hospitality.

To make the "Yanks" feel at home the land down under, the local paper where Guerin is stationed has been interviewing a boy from each of the 48 states, and Guerin did the honors for Georgia, telling the Aussies all the interesting facts about the Empire State of the South.

Recorded Greeting.
The Australian Broadcasting Company is also doing its bit. With the help of the Red Cross, recordings are made of the soldiers' greetings to their families, and sent to home town stations for re-broadcast. Guerin wrote his family, telling them he had such a record and that they would be notified when it is to be broadcast.

"What do you think of me as an Aussie?" he wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Guerin, enclosing a snapshot. "They are a fine lot, these Aussie soldiers, and the owner of this hat wants to go back to America with me."

Finds Hospitality.
Guerin also told of the kindness of the civilians there. "One lady had me out to dinner in her home, and, though being a British teardrinker, promised to make me a cup of coffee. But it was her first try, and she boiled the cream and coffee together! I was polite, though," he assured his mother, "and drank half a cup, with the aid of a glass of water."

Guerin, whose home is at 414 Whiteford avenue, was with the Atlanta Horse Guards and volunteered for the Army in February, 1941. He was stationed at Camp Stewart, Ga., until he sailed for Australia last February.

ATLANTA AUSSIE—W. R. Guerin, Atlanta boy in Australia with the Coast Artillery, borrowed an Australian soldier's hat for this one. He looks OK, too.

Macon Rents Cause 'Strike' Threat in City

OPA Rent Director Warns Nonpayment Cause for Eviction.

MACON, Ga., July 16.—(AP)—Reports that the Macon Renters' Association favored a rent "strike," were followed today by a statement by Andrew J. Lyndon, OPA rent director, that tenants may be evicted if they fail to pay legal rents.

Thomas W. Johnson, attorney for the Macon Renters' Association, said his organization had requested labor unions to assist the association in declaring a "rent moratorium."

Johnson said such action was urged in a resolution passed by the executive board of the association.

The attorney, who recently resigned as a member of the Macon Fair Rents Committee, said the board's action was the first move in a "fight to the finish" to force property owners to "cease their fight against the regulations and control of rents in this area."

Leon Henson, price administrator, in naming a rent director for the Macon area, set rates of April 1, 1941, as the ceiling.

Lyndon, in his statement, did not mention the "strike" reports. He said no person could be forced to pay rents above the amounts set by the ceiling date but the federal rent regulations do not protect tenants from eviction if they fail to pay proper rents.

Boyd Named Central Agent at Millen Office

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MILLEN, Ga., July 16.—The appointment of James B. Boyd as general passenger agent of the Central of Georgia railway in Millen became effective July 15. He succeeds G. W. Clanton, who was retired from active service July 1.

Mr. Clanton and his wife have moved to their former home in Milledgeville.

Mr. Boyd has been a resident of Millen 12 years, where he has served as second truck operator in the office of the Central of Georgia. He has been affiliated with this railway company for 35 years, having served all of this time in the Savannah division.

T. F. Yarborough, of Scarborough, has been acting as temporary passenger agent in the Central of Georgia since the retirement of Mr. Clanton. He will serve as temporary second truck operator, filling the vacancy caused by the promotion of Mr. Boyd.

Georgia Youths Attend Mercer Campus Conclave

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. MACON, Ga., July 16.—Over 160 Georgia youth from every section of the state are attending the 10th annual Royal Ambassadors' conclave now in session on the Mercer University campus.

Mrs. Peter Kittles, of Sylvania, president of the Georgia Woman's Missionary Union, is directing the conference. Associated with her are 21 faculty members and counselors. Highlighting the program are addresses by Dr. Ladislau Bitto, of Rumania; the Rev. John Allen Moore, returned missionary from Europe; Dr. J. Maurice Trimmer, of Macon; and Dr. Aaron Hancock, of Oklahoma.

The visitors are residing in Sherwood hall and meals are served in one of the university dining halls.

Rites Held at Gardi For Victim of Burns

Special to THE CONSTITUTION. BRUNSWICK, Ga., July 16.—Sara Loraine Knight, eight, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Knight, of Brunswick, died Tuesday in an Atlanta hospital, where she had been a patient for 14 months receiving treatment for severe burns the little girl suffered more than a year and a half ago in Camden county. The child, besides her parents, is survived by three sisters and one brother.

Funeral services were held at Little Creek cemetery at Gardi.

Official Warns Against Use of Old Bottle Caps

New Cork Must Be Put in Sterilized Cans, Says Food Inspector.

The state's chief food inspector, A. D. Harris, cautioned Georgia bottlers yesterday about capping bottled drinks with used bottle crowns.

"It will be permissible," he said in a statement, "for used crowns to be reconditioned and used, provided that new cork is inserted after the crowns have been reconditioned and sterilized."

All bottled drinks found to be capped with crowns containing the old cork will be destroyed, Harris added. He said the consensus of sanitary authorities is that used crowns with the old cork cannot be sufficiently sterilized to be sanitary.

He said he had received reports that a number of bottlers were gathering used crowns for bottling and that a number of bottled drinks were being distributed in the state without proper labels.

Brunswick Citizen Loses Damage Suit

The Georgia court of appeals yesterday ordered the dismissal of a $10,000 damage suit brought against the city of Brunswick by Mrs. Dora Volpian.

In her suit, Mrs. Volpian set forth that her husband, S. B. Volpian, while walking on a sidewalk in May, 1938, was struck and killed by a city garbage truck.

The court of appeals said that removal of garbage is a governmental function and that a city, in carrying out this function, "incurs no liability for the negligent acts of its officers and employees."

The decision reversed the Glynn county superior court, which had overruled a demurrer filed by the city.

Output of Lipsticks, Powder, Other Cosmetics Is Cut Sharply

WASHINGTON, July 16.—(AP)—The government today sharply curtailed production of lipsticks, nail polish, face powder, rouge and a variety of other toiletries and cosmetics.

In the war's heaviest blow to boudoir and bath room, the War Production Board established manufacturing limits on most types of beauty preparations, estimating the restrictions would save some 17,400,000 pounds of chemicals and other critical war materials annually.

Sharpest restrictions were on such items as nail polish, after-shave lotion, bubble bath, cleansing lotion, hair lacquer, skin fresheners, and bleaching creams. Under terms of the order, production of these is limited to 80 per cent of 1941 output.

Production of cosmetic stockings, bath salts, mascara, perfume, rouge, face powder, hair dye, lipstick, toilet water, theatrical makeup and a number of other items must be held to last year's levels.

Toiletry List.

WFB established a list of toiletry items such as certain types of baby powder, shaving cream, tooth cleaners and talcum which contain no critical materials and which may be produced without restriction.

Officials estimated that 1942 production of most of the cosmetics covered by the order was running 15 to 25 per cent above last year. Some 3,200 companies which reported 1941 factory sales of $200,000,000 were affected.

Packaging of toiletries and cosmetics also is regulated, to force producers to use larger containers. For example, although manufacturers may produce 100 per cent of the rouges and lipsticks turned out last year, they are allowed only 90 per cent of the containers in which to market them.

To Save Materials.

The WFB toiletries and cosmetics branch predicted the order would result in a 17 per cent saving of critical material, based on the use of 2,300,000 gross of containers and closures during the first six months of this year.

Another section of the order prohibits manufacture of the sale of new products—that is, products which were not produced commercially or offered for sale during the last 12 months. In addition, no toiletry product except perfume may be sold in more than three sizes of containers. Each scent of perfume is allowed four consumer sizes.

German Bombing, Machinegun Assaults Were Incessant.

(Editor's Note: The German high command on July 10 claimed to have sunk 35 out of a convoy of 38 ships on the way to the Russian port of Archangel, in addition to a United States cruiser. The British admiralty said then that the claims were "grossly exaggerated." The following story describes the ferocity of German submarine and plane attacks on convoys bound for Russia and may be related to the group of ships which the Germans claimed to have broken up.)

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—Two convoys carrying war supplies to a Russian port, one including American ships, fought off German submarines and bombers for days at a time and reached port with the loss of only a few vessels, survivors reported tonight.

Officers and men of the freighters and escort vessels manned their action posts for six consecutive days in one convoy's battle and for three days in the other.

When the fight was over, at least two German submarines had been sunk by gunfire and depth charges and an undetermined number of attacking planes shot down.

"It was a miracle that in spite of the incessant bombing, so few ships in the convoy were lost," Stoker Frank Robinson said in his account of the six-day fight.

Lone Plane Started It.

"The trouble began with a lone Fockewulf plane," Robinson continued. "We saw it overhead, that was the beginning of six days and nights of excitement. While it lasted we were bombed an average of 10 times a day."

"Our own ship was sunk. We were flung into the sea and German pilots came down low and machinegunned us while we struggled to find something to cling to."

"As soon as we saw the Fockewulf reconnaissance plane we got busy preparing the ship for action. The first attack came shortly before midnight."

"They came over in wave after wave of dive-bombers and torpedo planes. The air was filled with the roar of motors and the noise of bursting bombs and antiaircraft fire."

"That was the beginning. It went on through the night and on into the next day. And then it went on again—for six days and nights. There was little sleep for anybody."

Two-Hour Letup.

"We could only snatch our food between watches. The longest let-up they gave us was two hours."

"Once we saw a lone British fighter catapulted off a merchant ship. He went up to fix it with one of them and damaged another and then they got him and we saw him bail out. A corvette picked him up, wounded in the leg."

"The day came when it was our turn. A bomb hit the ship forward. Before we knew what had happened, three more hit us amidships. For a few seconds we were living in the confusion of reeling, crashing smoke and the stink of explosives."

"Then the old ship fell away in two halves and those of us who escaped the bombs found ourselves in the sea."

"After we had finally gotten into a lifeboat, the Germans came back to machinegun us again. We finally were picked up and the convoy went steadily on."

We reached a Russian port but still there was no letup. Ten or 12 times daily they came over trying to set the whole place alight. Thanks to the Russian barrage, which was something terrific, they failed."

One British warship developed engine trouble during the voyage and had to be taken in tow by a merchantman.

British Bombers Raid

Germany by Daylight

LONDON, July 16.—(AP)—British bombers raided Germany in daylight this afternoon. It was announced authoritatively.

Lone bombers protected by clouds dropped bombs on separate missions in the industrial Ruhr, other parts of northwest Germany and in the Netherlands.

Fighter activity was restricted by bad weather but some patrols attacked railway yards and other objectives along the French coast.

HEROES ARE WHERE YOU FIND THEM!

Some dashing bombed Tokyo—some valiantly defended Bataan and Corregidor, while others are serving far-flung battlefronts. We proudly salute them all.

But there are two important fronts in this war—the battlefield and the home front, and we, on the home front, have a vital role to play even though its performance is accompanied by neither martial music nor acclaim.

Our Boy Scouts have helped in many ways, our school teachers have gladly given their time on several occasions, and many, many others are "pitching in their bit" and A BIG BIT TO HELP WIN THIS WAR.

We can all enlist our dimes and dollars for the duration. We can buy War Bonds and Stamps regularly. America wants, America needs ONE HUNDRED AND THIRTY MILLION HEROES to help win this war.
